RUSH THE TROOPS PLEA OF FUNSTON

American General Urges Haste in Getting Line on Border from Brownsville to the Pacific Ocean.

ROGERS AIDS AMERICANS TO FLEE MEXICO CITY

San Antonio, Texas, June 20.—General Funston today requested the war department to send to him, as soon as possible, a large part of the national guardsmen to be stationed along the Mexican border "from Brownsville to the Pacific ocean."

General Funston did not make public the exact number requested bu tsaid he had asked for enough to provide "adequate protection" of the border.

He also withheld the names of the stations to which the guardsmen would be sent although admitting that a considerable force would be mobilized at San Antonio as a reserve.

BRINGS AMERICANS FROM MEXICO CITY

Washington, June 20.—Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City notified the state department today that he was arranging for a special train to take Americans and other foreigners from Mexico City to Vera Cruz. He said he would remain at his post.

Mr. Rodgers' message told of many anti-foreign demonstrations, parades and mass meetings in the Mexican capital and increasingly bitter sentiment. No open acts of violence were reported.

Gen. Funston's request for national guardsmen reached the war department after noon and resulted in telegraphic requests for information as to when the forces of certain states would be able to move. Orders for entrainment of units ready for service were expected before night.

DRIVER HURT WHEN AUTO HITS BICYCLE

Edgar Miller, residing on Michigan avenue, was injured at noon Tuesday when the Ford Automobile belonging to Lehnert and Geller, grocers at Broadway and Taylor, struck a bicycle as an employe of the Wabash shops was coming out of the shops on Fairfield avenue. The truck was going at a lively clip, according to bystanders, and in attempting to turn out to keep from striking the bicycle the machine turned completely over and was badly damaged. Miller was thrown for some little distance, but fortunately his injuries are not serious. The Wabash employe, although thrown from his wheel escaped without a scratch.

BULLETIN.

El Paso, Texas, June 20.—An admission that the Mexicans who fired upon the American expedition retiring from Mexico near Matamoras last Saturday were Carranzistas not bandits was contained in a message received today at the Mexican consulate from H. Peres Abreau, director of the de facto consular service.

BULLETIN.

..Washington, June 20.—At the cabinet meeting today, the opinion prevailed that the chances were overwhelmingly in the direction of war with Mexico. The one hope was that Gen. Carranza would be impressed by the military preparations of the United States and make no further efforts to have American troops withdrawn. There has been no indication, however, that Carranza's intentions peaceful and every move is being planned in the belief that hostilities may begin at any moment.

BULLETIN.

Brownsville, Texas, June 20.—Passengers arriving at Matamoras, opposite here today reported a rumor was current in Monterey that a party of Americans at Cerralvo, an isolated mining town in Nuevo Leon, were massacred by Mexicans.

MAKES A BID FOR MOOSERS

Indiana Prohi Chairman Sends Out Overtures to Progressives.

SAYS HANLY HAS POINTED THE WAY

Invites Them to Unite With Cold Water Party in This Campaign.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—The prohibition party, through its state chairman, J. Raymond Schmidt, today extended an invitation to the progressive party of Indiana in a letter to Edwin M. Lee, progressive state chairman, to unite with the prohibitionists in the coming campaign. The letter follows:

"The prohibition state committee extends a hearty invitation to you and all other Indiana progressives to affiliate with the prohibition party and support its ticket and platform in the election of Nov. 7, 1916.

"'In human welfare' as set forth in your platform principles, both in 1912 and 1914, has been the central thought of the prohibition party declarations since the party's founding in 1872.

"Your enthusiastic partisans will never support New, Watson, Goodrich and such standpatism, as they typify or follow the lead of the democratic reactionaries, such as Taggart, Adair and Cook. Your choice for governor at the March primary, ex-Gov. Frank Hanly, in declaring himself henceforth a prohibitionist, has simply pointed the way to a union of forces, that if consummated, will mean the greatest possible progress of national prohibition, woman suffrage, a non-partisan commission of tariff experts, adequate labor legislation and true Americanism that, through Christian diplomacy, will make the influence of our nation the greatest in the shaping of the world's destiny.

"As prohibition state chairman, I propose that a time be fixed for representatives of your party and ours to get together previous to your state convention for a thorough consideration of such haction as shall hasten the amalgamation of the real defenders of humanity in Indiana politics. With your concurrence in the above the prohibition state committee in session at the hotel English Monday, June 26, will appoint the conferees of the prohibition party."

M'INTYRE NOT LOCKED UP.

Jitney Operator Pays Fine—Says He Offended But Once.

Newton McIntyre, jitney bus driver, who was fined $25 and costs in the city court Monday for unnecessary noise in the zone of silence about Hope hospital, paid his fine in settlement of the case. He was not locked up as erroneously stated, but when taken into custody by the officers he gave bond promptly. McIntyre declares he was unfamiliar with the zone of silence regulations and that he did not offend after having been warned regarding them.

HAVE SMASHED RUSSIAN LINE

German Troops Break Resistance of Russian Line at Some Points.

TEUTONS FORGING THEIR WAY FORWARD

Have Won Some Successes Against Terrific Drive of Russian Hosts

Berlin, June 20.—German troops have broken the resistance of Russians at various points northwest of Lutsk and are fighting their way forward, the war office announced today.

The German successes were won between the Kovel-Lutsk railroad and the Turia river. The resistance of the Russians was especially stubborn in the region of Kiselin, 25 miles northwest of Lutsk.

REPULSED AT VERDUN

French Machine Gun Fire Beats Back the German Attacks.

Paris, June 20.—Three German attacks made last night on the French positions northeast of hill No. 321 were repulsed by the fire of the French machine guns, according to an official statement issued today by the war office. Germans are heavily bombarding the French positions in the neighborhood of Vaux, Chapitre and Chattancourt.

BROTHER OF TEXAS MAYOR IS MURDERED

Brownsville, Texas, June 20.—The body of Wm. Browne, a brother of Mayor Albert Browne, of this city, was found in the Rio Grande river, on the Mexican side, ten miles south of Matamoras today.

Browne is said to have been last seen in Matamoras Saturday afternoon. He is believed to have been murdered.

NOW AT FULL PEACE QUOTA

Indiana Guard Units Are Being Recruited Very Rapidly.

MANY OLD MEMBERS BACK FOR SERVICE

Indianapolis Has Taken on Pronounced Military Atmosphere.

Indianapolis, June 20.—Indianapolis today took on a military atmosphere rapidly with the possibility of the advent here of the entire Indiana national guard within the next few days becoming more sure. The guard headquarters at the state house was opened early and soon was a beehive of martial industry.

Reports from company commanders throughout the state as to recruiting and the reporting of old members for service were more gratifying to the guard officers than those of yesterday.

Approximately the full peace strength of the entire guard was reached today, according to Franklin Bridges, adjutant general of Indiana. The recruiting will proceed in each company until as nearly war strength as possible is reached, the adjutant general announced.

AT CAMP WHITMAN

Beekman, N. Y., June 20—Camp Whitman was ready today when the first national guardsmen began to arrive for the period of training which will fit 17,900 or more men within the next two weeks for service on the Mexican frontier. A field bakery with a capacity of 15,000 loaves of bread daily, and wells designed to supply 400,000 gallons of water daily were ready for use. Col. Henry Sternberger, quartermaster in charge, announced that he had completed the purchase of 150,000 pounds of beef, 40,000 pounds of ham, 200,000 pounds of flour, 40,000 pounds of bacon and 500,000 pounds of ice, much of which was in transit.

The Central New England spur to the camp from Greenhaven was ready for the 9,000 men who it was expected would arrive today.

BURDEN OF RESULTS IS PUT ON CARRANZA

America's Flat Rejection of His Demand to Withdraw Troops from Mexico is Handed to Arredondo.

Washington, June 20. — The American note flatly rejecting Gen Carranza's demand for the withdrawal of U. S. troops from Mexico and rebuking the Carranza government for the discourteous tone and temper of its last communication was handed today to Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate.

Long continued outrages against Americans and their property both in Mexico and on American soil are reviewed in the note and warning given that the troops will be kept in Mexico until such a time as the de facto government performs the duty which the United States has not sought, are pursuing the bands who ought to be arrested and punished by the Mexican government.

It concludes with the statement that if the de facto government continued to ignore this obligation and carries out its threat to defend its territory by an appeal to arms against the American troops the gravest consequences will follow.

U. S. Will Not Recede.

"While the government would deeply regret such a result," says the note, "it cannot recede from its settled determination to maintain its national rights and to perform its full duty in preventing further invasions of the territory of the United States and in removing the peril which Americans along the international boundary have borne so long with patience and forbearance.

"I am reluctant to be forced to the conclusion which might be drawn from the circumstances," Secretary Lansing declares, "that the de facto government in spite of the crimes committed and the sinister designs of Villa and his followers, did not and does not now intend or desire that these outlaws should be captured, destroyed or dispersed by American troops, or at the request of this government by Mexican troops."

Answers Question of Purpose.

The purposes of the United States government towards Mexico questioned in the last Mexican note are answered in the following language:

"If a denial is needed that this government has ulterior and improper motives in its diplomatic representations or has countenanced the activities of

CHILDREN BY SCORES SEEKING EMPLOYMENT

School sessions are over with and vacation time has arrived for the children, but many are seeking employment in which they can engage during the few months of rest from school duty. Evidence of this is plainly seen in the office of the school attendance officer where permits are issued for children, in compliance with the child labor law of Indiana passed in 1913 as an amendment to the law of 1911.

The man in charge of this office was busy the entire day Monday filling out application blanks for children and he also experienced the same rush Tuesday morning. Fort Wayne is very strict in the observance of this law, which does not permit men to employ any child under the age of fourteen years or any person who has not completed the fifth grade in school.

EIGHT CENTS EASES AN ALEXANDER CONSCIENCE.

Washington, June 20.—Two persons eased their mind today by contributions to the conscience fund of the United States treasury, which was enriched recently by $30,000. One of today's offerings was for eight cents from Alexandria, Ind., and the other for five cents from a postoffice in Pennsylvania.

EXPECT TO BE HERE ALL WEEK

Captain Miller Does Not Anticipate Call Before Saturday.

ABOUT FIFTY NEW RECRUITS SECURED

Company E Will Report With More Than War Strength.

Captain John E. Miller now believes that company E, Indiana national guard, will not be called before Saturday, by which time he expects to have a company numbering 175 men, twenty-five more than war strength.

Reports received Tuesday indicated that the various Indiana companies would not be required to report at Fort Benjamin Harrison before Saturday, from which place the militiamen will probably be sent to the Mexican border for patrol duty. However, it is not believed likely that even after going in camp at Fort Harrison that they will be called out for some little time. Once at the fort the men will be drilled every day and whipped into line for real service in the event of war.

Fifty New Recruits.

Since opening the temporary recruiting station in the armory, on West Main street, Monday, about fifty new recruits have been mustered in and this number will be greatly increased before evening. Captain Miller is confident that he will have but little difficulty in securing 175 men by the time the local company is called.

That all the men who are now mem-

TRACY KINGMAN SEEKS FREEDOM

Fort Wayne Musician Asks State Pardon Board for Clemency.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—Among the pleas for clemency presented to the state pardon board here yesterday was that of Tracy J. Kingman, a Fort Wayne musician. Kingman was sentenced to prison for a term of one to fourteen years on his plea of guilty to stealing an automobile in 1915. His sentence will expire in September, but friends are endeavoring to secure his immediate release.

Mrs. E. B. Stotsenburg, wife of E. B. Stotsenburg, attorney general of Indiana, presented the case of Charles Terry, colored, convicted in Floyd county of the murder and sentenced to the state prison for life in 1901. Mr. and Mrs. Stotsenburg have taken an interest in the case of the colored man, because of an aged mother known familiary to citizens of New Albany as Aunt Molly.

Aunt Molly, in person, pleaded the case of her son three months ago, before the board. The mother is growing old and needs the support of her son, who is now forty years old; Mrs. Stotsenburg said. Terry has served fourteen years in prison and has been a trusty for the last seven years.

The mother and stepfather of Beecher Rye, a sixteen-year-old boy, sent to the Indiana Boys' school from Delaware county in February, 1915, for stealing coal, appeared before the board in his petition for release from the school. A letter from the superintendent of the school said that the boy is now learning a trade and should not be released at this time.

Uncle Sam's Reply to Carranza Which Will Mean Peace or War With Mexico

Washington, June 20.—The text of the United States note to Mexico, rejecting Carranza demands that American troops be withdrawn, is as follows:

"The Secretary of State to the Secretary of Foreign Relations of the De Facto Government of Mexico.

"Department of State, Washington, June 20, 1916:

"Sir: I have read your communication which was delivered to me on May 22, 1916, under instructions of the chief executive of the de facto government of Mexico on the subject of the presence of American troops in Mexican territory and I would be wanting in candor if I did not, before making answer to the allegations of fact and the conclusions reached by your government, express the surprise and regret which have been caused this government by the discourteous tone and temper of this last communication of the de facto government of Mexico. The government of the United States has viewed with deep concern and increasing disappointment the progress of the revolution in Mexico.

Bloodshed and Disorder.

"Continuous bloodshed and disorders have marked its progress. For three years the Mexican republic has been torn with civil strife; the lives of Americans and other aliens have been sacrificed; vast properties developed by American capital and enterprise have been destroyed or rendered non-productive; bandits have been permitted to roam at will through the territory contiguous to the United States and to seize without punishment the property of Americans, while the lives of citizens of the United States who ventured to remain in Mexican territory or to return to protect their interests have been taken, in some cases, barbarously taken, and the murderers have been neither apprehended nor brought to justice. It would be difficult to find in the annals of the history of Mexican conditions more deplorable than those which have existed there during these recent years of war.

Eumeration Too Tedious.

It would be tedious to recount instance after instance outrage after outrage, atrocity after atrocity, to illustrate the true nature and extent of the widespread conditions of lawlessness and violence which have prevailed During the past nine months in particular the frontier of the United States along the lower Rio Grande has been thrown into a state of constant apprehension and turmoil because of frequent and sudden incursions into American territory and depredations and murders on American soil by Mexican bandits who have taken the lives and destroyed property of American citizens, some times carrying American citizens across the boundary with the booty seized. American garrisons have been attacked at night, American soldiers killed and their equipment and horses stolen, American ranches have been raided, property stolen and destroyed and American trains wrecked and plundered. The attacks on Brownsville, Red House Ferry, Progreso postoffice and Las Peladas all occurring during September last, are typical. In these attacks on American territory Carranzista adherents and even Carranzista soldiers took part in the looting, burning and killing. Not only were these murders characterized by ruthless brutality but uncivilized acts of mutilation were perpetrated.

HUNGER IS SWELLING NEW CARRANZA ARMY

El Paso, Texas, June 20.—Hunger is swelling the army that Gen. Carranza is recruiting in Northern Mexico, according to stories brought here today by Americans arriving from the interior. Peons, who for some time have been on the verge of starvation, have been flocking to his standard in the last few days, in return for promises of food and clothing, they said. No applicants have been rejected, according to stories which told of boys of ten and twelve years of age and old men being recruited.

One of the arrivals, an American business man of Mexico City, estimated that there are now 25,000 Carranza troops in Chihuahua state, of whom about 2,000 are in Chihuahua City, 4,000 in Juarez and 5,000 in Villa Ahumada, the northern Chihuahua base, which is ninety-three miles south of El Paso. The remainder practically surround the American expeditionary command on the southeast and west.

AMERICANS HASTEN HOMEWARD

Tell of Hurried Rush of Mexican Citizens to Arms.

Douglas, Ariz., June 20.—One hundred Americans, including 20 women and children, arrived here from Nacozari, Mex.

Early Sunday morning the official message of Governor De la Huerta, calling on the citizens to arm themselves was received in Nacozari and Pilares, twin mining camps. In Pilares the miners rounded up all Americans and held them under guard for 24 hours.

In the meantime arms were supplied in the plaza to all persons who applied for them. Similar scenes were enacted in Nacozari though Americans were not molested. Monday on orders from Gen. Calles the prisoners in Pilares were released. At 5 o'clock orders came through the company management from Consul Frederick Simpich that foreigners must leave Mexico at once. A number of Mexican families accompanied the Americans as far north as Agua Prieta, but before crossing the line they were forced to leave the train by orders of Gen. Calles. Three French subjects in Cumpas are also preparing to come to the border.

WARSHIPS BRING DEAD.

English Who Lost Life in Sea Battle Brought to Shields.

New York, June 20.—Officers of the Norwegian steamer Storfond, which arrived today from Shields, England, report that while their vessel was in the British port several British warships with a large number of bodies aboard entered the port. The authorities were reticent, the officers, said, but they assumed that the bodies were those of dead sailors gathered at the scene of the Jutland naval battle.

HOSPITAL LOCATION HURTS PARK, CLAIM

Seventh Ward Residents Object to Placing of Hope Hospital.

Charging that the location of Hope hospital at the corner of Clinton and Suttenfield streets would extend the zone of silence a block in every direction thus preventing concerts at Reservoir park and the play of children there, committees were appointed by fifty members of the Seventh Ward Improvement club, Monday night, at the Hanna school, to protest against the location of the hospital.

M. J. Cleary, Adelbert Thompson, Dr. Christian Martz, Henry Zauner and C. L. Hobrock were chosen a committee to wait on the Hope hospital executive board and ask if a new location could not be secured. The hospital, according to the plans, would be backed up against the Hamilton school, to which a $40,000 addition will be built.

The improvement club also went on record as favoring the speeding up the track elevation work east of Calhoun street.

Members of the newly formed civic body are: Walter G. Burns, attorney, president; Peter A. Ofenloch, councilman, vice-president; Otto E. Fuelber, attorney, secretary, and T. E. Bailey, treasurer.

Seventh ward residents were told by Carl J. Getz, superintendent of parks, that Reservoir park would be put into equally as good or better condition than before the pageant was held. He announced a plan to erect 2,000 seats on the west side of the reservoir where the amphitheater was located. If this improvement is made half the band concerts will be held in the park and other public entertainments will be given there. Mr. Getz has a plan of erecting the seats whereby more can be added at any time. His idea met with commendation.

Fred Fahlsing, T. E. Bailey, Ora Goff, George Sosenheimer and three men to be named later are to form the track elevation committee of the association and they will urge the city to force the opening of Clinton street and to rush all proposed work east of Calhoun street. The next meeting of the association will be held Wednesday evening, July 5.

RAILWAY LINES ALL READY FOR ORDERS

Chicago Roads Can Send 25,000 Daily Toward Mexican Border.

Chicago, June 20.—Railroads centering in Chicago and having direct communication with the Mexican border will be able to move approximately 25,000 soldiers daily, according to statements by railroad officials today.

Officials of the various roads have notified the authorities at Washington that they are ready for orders, but early today they had received no definite information. Plans are complete, however, for meeting the situation which is to develop the moment the various state contingents of troops are started for the Mexican border.

It is said that the comfort of the soldiers who are to go to the border will be one of the chief aims of the transportation companies. Efforts will be made to provide sleeping accommodations for every guardsman.

MILLIKEN WINS IN MAINE.

Chosen as Republican Nominee for Governor in Primaries.

Portland, Me., June 20—The nomination by the republicans of Carl E. Milliken for governor and Frederick Hale for United States senator was assured by returns from yesterday's primary in hand today from all but 104 small towns out of the 522 cities and towns in the state. The vote was: For governor, Milliken, 18,087; Frederick E. Parkhurst, 13,086; Edward W. Wheeler, 7,599; Timothy F. Callahan, 3,420. For senator, Hale, 15,605; Bert M. Fernald, 13,414; Ira G. Hersey, 12,041.

Four Base Hospitals of 500 Beds Each if War Comes.

Chicago, June 20.—Four base hospitals of 500 beds each and costing $160,000 will be the contribution of the Chicago branch of the American Red Cross in the event of war with Mexico, according to an announcement today. This was the result of a conference between national and local officials of the American Red Cross.

COUNTY AGENT HENRY ACCEPTS PROMOTION

Clarence Henry, who for nearly two years has served as agricultural agent of Allen county, will leave about September 1 to accept an excellent offer with the agricultural extension department of Purdue university. He forwarded his acceptance late Monday afternoon.

It will be Mr. Henry's duty to call upon the various county agents throughout the state and assist in breaking in new agents. His first duty will be to break in a new agent for Allen county, who will be appointed within the next few days.

Mr. Henry was selected by the Purdue extension department as the one man who understands thoroughly every branch of the county agent work. As a matter of fact he has made so good in his work here that Monday afternoon when it was learned that he intended to leave, several of the organizations of the city and prominent business men, headed by County Superintendent D. O. McComb, called upon him and offered hi ma handsome increase in salary if he would stay. However, the new position offers him so many more advantages and opportunities that he feels that in justice to himself he would not be justified in turning it down.

Mr. Henry came to Alle ncounty in September, 1914, and made good from the very start.

PROHIBITION ACT IS AGAIN UPHELD

Little Rock, Ark., June 20.—The Arkansas supreme court for the second time has sustained the validity of the state wide prohibition act. The case was that of Charles Miller, of Lafayette county, who was convicted of selling liquor and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary, the only sentence permissible under the law. The appeal alleged the prohibition law is unconstitutional because it denies the right of the court to suspend sentence. The supreme court held that the legislature had the right to enact such a law because there is no provision in the state constitution forbidding such action.

COTTON CROP FALLS OFF.

Washington, June 20.—Final statistics on the 1915 cotton crop of the United States, issued by the census bureau today, place the production at 11,191,820, equivalent to 500 pound bales, the smallest crop since 1909. Production in every state showed a decrease.

UNCLE SAM'S REPLY TO CARRANZA

quested to stop these reprehensible acts in a section which he has long claimed to be under the complete domination of his authority. Notwithstanding these representations and the promise of General Nafarette to prevent attacks along the international boundary in the following month of October a passenger train was wrecked by bandits and several persons were killed. An attack was made upon United States troops at the same place several days later. Since these attacks leaders of the bandits well known both to Mexican civil and military authorities as well as to American officers have been enjoying with impunity the liberty of the towns of northern Mexico. So far has the indifference of the de facto government to these atrocities gone that some of these leaders, I am advised, have received not only the protection of that government but encouragement and aid as well.

Depredations More Numerous.

Depredations upon Americans and property within Mexican jurisdiction have been still more numerous. This government has repeatedly requested in the strongest terms that the de facto government safeguard the lives of Americans and afford the protection which international law guarantees to American interests in the states of Tamaulipas, Chihuahua and Sonora and also in the states to the south. For example, on January 3rd troops were requested to punish the band of outlaws which looted the Cusi mining property, eighty miles west of Chihuahua, but no effective results came from this request.

During the following week the bandit, Villa, with his band of about 200 men, was operating without opposition between Rubio and Santa Ysabel, a fact well known to Carranzista authorities. Meanwhile a party of unfortunate Americans started by train from Chihuahua to visit the Cusi mines after having received assurances from the Carranzita officers in the state of Chihuahua that the country was safe and that a guard on the train was not necessary. The Americans held passports or safe conducts issued by the de facto government. On January 10 the train was stopped by Villa bandits and eighteen of the American party were stripped of their clothing and shot in cold blood in what is now known as the "Santa Ysabel massacre."

Appeal by Carranza.

Gen. Carranza stated to the agent of the department of state that he had issued orders for the immediate pursuit, capture and punishment of those responsible for this atrocious crime and appealed to this government and to the American people to consider the difficulties of according protection along the railroad where the massacre occurred. Assurances were also given by Mr. Arredondo, presumably under instructions from the de facto government, that the murderers would be brought to justice and that steps would be taken to remedy the lawless conditions existing in the state of Durango. It is true that Villa, Castro and Lopez were publicly declared to be outlaws and subject to apprehension and execution, but so far as known only one man connected with this massacre has been brought to justice by Mexican authorities. Within a month after this barbarous slaughter of inoffensive Americans it was notorious that Villa was operating within twenty miles of Cusihuirachic and publicly stated that his purpose was to destroy American lives and property.

Villa Not Intercepted.

Despite repeated and insistent demands that military protection should be furnished to Americans, Villa openly carried on his operations, constantly approaching closer and closer to the border. He was not intercepted nor were his movements impeded by troops of the de facto government and no effectual attempt was made to frustrate his hostile designs against Americans. In fact, as I am informed, while Villa and his band were slowly moving forward toward the American frontier in the direction of Columbus, N. M., not a single Mexican soldier was seen in his vicinity. Yet the Mexican authorities were fully cognizant of his movements, for on March 6th, as General Gavira publicly announced, he advised the American military authorities of the outlaw's approach to the border so that they might be prepared to prevent him from crossing the boundary. Villa's unhindered activities culminated in the unprovoked and cold blooded attack upon American soldiers and citizens in the town of Columbus, on the night of March 9th, the details of which do not need repetition here in order to refresh your memory with the heinousness of the crime. After murdering, burning and plundering, Villa and his bandits, fleeing south, passed within sight of the Carranzista post at Casas Grandes and no effort was made to stop him by the officers and garrison of the de facto government stationed there.

Had No Other Recourse.

In the face of these depredations not only on American lives and property on Mexican soil, but on American soldiers, citizens and homes on American territory the perpetrators of which Gen. Carranza was unable or posibly considered it inadvisable to apprehend and punish, the United States had no recourse other than to employ force to disperse the bands of Mexican outlaws who were, with increasing boldness, systematically raiding across the international boundary. The marauders engaged in the attack on Columbus, were driven back across the border by American cavalry and subsequently, as soon as a sufficient force to cope with the band could be collected, were pursued into Mexico in an effort to capture or destroy them.

Without co-operation or assistance on the part of the de facto government in the field, despite repeated requests by the United States, and without apparent recognition on its part of the desirability of putting an end to these systematic raids, or of punishing the chief perpetrators of the crimes committeed, because they menaced the good relations of the two countries, American forces pursued the lawless bands as far as Parral, where the pursuit was halted by the hostility of Mexicans, presumed to be loyal to the de facto government, who arrayed themselves on the side of outlawry and became in effect the protectors of Villa and his band.

Why U. S. Entered Mexico.

In this manner and for these reasons have the American forces entered Mexican territory. Knowing fully the circumstances set forth the de facto government cannot be blind to the necessity which compelled this government to act and yet it has seen fit to recite groundless sentiments of hostility toward the expedition and to impute to this government ulterior motives for the continued presence of American troops on Mexican soil. It is charged that these troops crossed the frontier without first obtaining the consent or permission of the de facto government. Obviously, as immediate action alone could avail, there was no opportunity to reach an agreement (other than of March 10th-13th, now repudiated by Gen. Carranza) prior to the entrance of such an expedition into Mexico if the expedition was to be effective. Subsequent events and correspondence have demonstrated to the satisfaction of this government that Gen. Carranza would not have entered into any agreement providing for an effective plan for the capture and destruction of the Villa bands.

Haggled Over Agreement.

While the American troops were moving rapidly southward in pursuit of the raiders it was the form and nature of the agreement that occupied the attention of Gen. Carranza rather than the practical object which it was to attain—the number of limitations that could be imposed upon the American forces to impede their progress rather than the obstacles that could be raised to prevent the escape of the outlaws. It was Gen. Carranza who suspended through your note of April 12, all discussions and negotiations for an agreement along the lines of the protocols between the United States and Mexico, concluded during the period of 1883-1896, under which the two countries had so successfully restored peaceful conditions on their common boundary.

It may be mentioned here that, notwithstanding the statement in your note that the "American government gave no answer to the note of the 13th of April" this note was replied to on April 14th, when the department instructed Mr. Rodgers by telegraph to deliver this government's answer to Gen. Carranza. Shortly after this reply the conferences between Generals Scott, Funston and Obregon began at El Paso, during which they signed, on May 2, a project of a memorandum and referendum, regarding the withdrawal of American troops. As an indication of the alleged bad faith of the American government, you stated that though General Scott declared in this memorandum that the destruction and dispersion of the Villa band "had been accomplished," yet American forces are not withdrawn from Mexico.

Clearly a Misstatement.

It is only necessary to read the memorandum, which is in the English language to see that this is clearly a misstatement, for the memorandum states that "the American punitive expeditionary forces have destroyed or dispersed many of the lawless element and bandits, * * * or have driven them far into the interior of the republic of Mexico" and further, that the United States forces were then "carrying on a vigorous pursuit of such small numbers of bandits or lawless elements as may have escaped."

The context of your note gives the impression that the object of the expedition being admittedly accomplished the United States had agreed in the memorandum to begin the withdrawal of its troops. The memorandum shows, however, that it was not alone on account of partial dispersion of the bandits that it was decided to begin the withdrawal of American forces but equally on account of the assurances of the Mexican government that their forces were "at the present time being augmented and strengthened to such an extent that they will be able to prevent any disorders occurring in Mexico that would in any way endanger American territory" and that they would continue to diligently pursue, capture or destroy any lawless bands of bandits that may still exist or hereafter exist in the northern part of Mexico" and that it would "make a proper distribution of such of its forces as may be necessary to prevent the possibility of invasion of American territory from Mexico."

It was because of these assurances and because of Gen. Scott's confidence that they would be carried out that he stated in the memorandum that the American forces would be gradually withdrawn. It is to be noted that while the American government was willing to ratify this agreement Gen. Carranza refused to do so, as Gen. Obregon stated, because among other things it imposed improper conditions upon the Mexican government. Notwithstanding the assurances in the memorandum it is well known that the forces of the de facto government have not carried on a vigorous pursuit of the remaining bandits and that no proper distribution of forces to prevent the invasion of American territory has been made as will be shown by the further facts hereinafter set forth.

A Reluctant Conclusion.

I am reluctant to be forced to the conclusion which might be drawn from these circumstances that the de facto government, in spite of the crimes committed and the sinister designs of Villa and his followers, did not and does not now intend or desire that these outlaws should be captured, destroyed or dispersed by American troops. While the conferences at El Paso were in progress and after the American conferees had been assured on May 2 that the Mexican forces in the northern part of the republic were then being augmented so as to be able to prevent any disorders that would endanger American territory a band of Mexicans, on the night of May 5, made an attack at Glenn Springs, Texas, about thirty miles north of the border, killing American soldiers and civilians, burning and sacking property and carrying off two Americans as prisoners. Subsequent to this event, the Mexican government, as you state, "gave instructions to Gen. Obregon to notify that of the United States that it would not permit the further passage of American troops into Mexico on this account and that orders had been given to all military commanders along the frontier not to consent to same."

Gave No Notification.

This government is of course not in a position to dispute the statement that these instructions had been given to Gen. Obregon, but it can decisively assert that Gen. Obregon never gave any such notification to Gen. Scott or Gen. Funston or, as far as known, to any other American official. Gen. Obregon did, however, inquire as to whether American troops had entered in Mexico in pursuit of the Glenn Springs raiders and Gen. Funston stated that no orders had been issued to American troops to cross the frontier on account of the raid, but this statement was made before any such order had been issued and not afterwards, as the erroneous account of the interview given in your note would appear to indicate.

Moreover, no statement was made by the American generals that "no more American troops would cross into your territory." On the contrary, it was pointed out to Gen. Obregon and to Mr. Juan Amador, who was present at the conference, and pointed out with emphasis, that the bandits de la Rosa and Pedro Vina, who had been instrumental in causing the invasion of Texas above Brownsville, were even then reported to be arranging in the neighborhood of Victoria for another raid across the border, and it was made clear to Gen. Obregon that if the Mexican government did not take immediate steps to prevent another invasion of the United States by these marauders, who were frequently seen in the company of Gen. Nafarette, Mexico would find in Tamaulipas another punitive expedition similar to that then in Chihuahua. American troops crossed into Mexico on May 10, upon notification to the local military authorities under the repudiated agreement of March 10, or in any event, in accordance with the practice adopted over forty years ago when there was no agreement regarding pursuit of marauders across the international boundary.

Found No Mexican Troops.

These troops penetrated 168 miles into Mexican territory in pursuit of the Glenn Springs marauders without encountering a detachment of Mexican troops or a single Mexican soldier. Further discussion of this raid, however, is not necessary, because the American forces sent in pursuit of the bandits recrossed into Texas on the morning of May 22, the date of your note under consideration—a further proof of the singleness of purpose of this government in endeavoring to quell disorder and stamp out lawlessness along the border. During the continuance of the El Paso conference Gen. Scott, you assert, did not take into consideration the plan proposed by the Mexican government for the protection of the frontier by the reciprocal distribution of troops along the boundary. This proposition was made by Gen. Obregon a number of times, but each condition upon the immediate withdrawal of American troops, and the Mexican conferees were invariably informed that immediate withdrawal could not take place, and that therefore it was impossible to discuss the project on that basis.

Sees Effort at Evasion.

I have noted the fact that your communication is not limited to a discussion of the deplorable conditions existing along the border and their important bearing on the peaceful relations of our governments, but that an effort is made to connect it with other circumstances in order to support, if possible, a mistaken interpretation of the attitude of the United States toward Mexico. You state in effect that the American government has placed every obstacle in the way of attaining the pacification of Mexico and that this is shown by the volume of diplomatic representations in behalf of American interests which constantly impede efforts to organize the political, economical and social conditions of the country, by the decided aid lent at one time to Villa by American officers and by the department of state, by the aid extended by the American Catholic clergy to that of Mexico; by the constant activity of the American press in favor of intervention and the interests of American business men; by the shelter and supply of rebels and conspirators on American territory, by the detention of shipments of arms and munitions and the detention of machinery intended for their manufacture.

Reply to Sweeping Charge.

In reply to this sweeping charge, I can truthfully affirm that the American government has given every possible encouragement to the de facto government in the pacification and rehabilitation of Mexico. From the moment of its recognition it has had the undivided support of this government. An embargo was placed upon arms and ammunition going into Chihuahua, Sonora and Lower California, in order to prevent their falling into the hands of armed opponents of the de facto government. Permission has been granted from time to time as requested for Mexican troops and equipment to traverse American territory from one point to another in Mexico.

In view of these friendly acts, I am surprised that the de facto government has construed diplomatic representations in regard to the unjust treatment accorded American interests, private assistance to opponents to the de facto government by sympathizers in a foreign country and the activity of a foreign press as interference by United States government in the domestic politics of Mexico. If a denial is needed that this government has had ulterior and improper motives in its diplomatic representations or has countenanced the activities of American sympathizers and the American press opposed to the de facto government, I am glad most emphatically to deny it. It is however, a matter of common knowledge that the Mexican press has been more active than the press in the United States in endeavoring to inflame the two peoples against each other and to force the two countries into hostilities; with the power of censorship of the Mexican press so rigorously exercised by the de facto government the responsibility for this activity cannott, it would seem, be avoided by that government and the issue of the appeal of Gen. Carranza himself in the press of March 12, calling upon the Mexican people to be prepared for any emergency which might arise, and intimating that war with the United States was imminent, evidences the attitude of the de facto government toward these publications.

Not Matter of Surprise.

It should not be a matter of surprise that after such manifestations of hostile feeling, the United States was doubtful of the purpose for which the large amount of ammunition was to be used which the de facto government appeared eager to import from this country, moreover, the policy of the de facto government in refusing to co-operate and in failing to act independently in destroying the Villa bandits and otherwise suppressing outlawry in the vicinity of the border so as to remove the danger of war materials while passing south through this zone falling into the hands of law and order is in the opinion of this government a sufficient ground, even if there were no other for the refusal to allow such materials to cross the boundary into the bandit-infested region. To have permitted these shipments without careful scrutiny would in the circumstances have been to have manifested a sense of security which would have been unjustified.

Menace to American Safety.

Candor compels me to add that the unconcealed hostility of the subordinate military commanders of the de facto government toward the American troops engaged in pursuing the Villa bands and the efforts of the de facto government to compel their withdrawal from Mexican territory by threats and show of military force instead of by aiding in the capture of the outlaws constitute a menace to the safety of the American troops and to the peace of the border. As long as this menace continues and there is any evidence of an intention on the part of the de facto government or its military commanders to use force against the American troops instead of co-operating with them, the government of the United States will not permit munitions of war or machinery for their manufacture to be exported from this country to Mexico.

As to the shelter and supply of rebels and conspirators on American territory I can state that vigorous efforts have been and are being made by the agents of the United States to apprehend and prosecute all persons found to be conspiring to violate the laws of the United States by organizing to oppose with arms the de facto government of Mexico. Political refugees have undoubtedly sought asylum in the United States but this government has vigilantly kept them under surveillance and has not hesitated to apprehend them upon proof of their criminal intentions as the arrest of Gen. Huerta and others fully attests.

The Real Situation.

Having corrected the erroneous statements of fact to which I have adverted, the real situation stands forth in its true light. It is admitted that American troops have crossed the international boundary in hot pursuit of the Columbus raiders and without notice to or the consent of your government but by the several protestations by this department and other authorities that the object of the expedition was to capture, destroy or completely disperse the Villa bandits and outlaws or to turn this duty over to the Mexican authorities when assured that it would be effectively fulfilled have been carried out in perfect good faith by the United States. Its efforts, however, have been obstructed at every point; first, by insistence on a palpably useless agreement which you admit was either not to apply to the present expedition or was to contain impracticable restrictions on its organization and operation; then by actual opposition encouraged and fostered by the de facto government to the further advance of the expedition into Villa territory which was followed by the sudden suspension of all negotiations for an arrangement for the pursuit of Villa and his followers and the protection of the frontier; and finally by a demand for the immediate withdrawal of the American troops.

Anarchy Growing Worse.

Meantime conditions of anarchy on the border state of Mexico were continually growing worse. Incursions into American territory were plotted and perpetrated; the Glenn Springs raid was successfully executed, while no effective efforts were being made by Gen. Carranza to improve the conditions and to protect territory from constant threat of invasion. In view of this increasing menace, of the inactivity of the Carranza forces, of the lack of co-operation in the apprehension of the Villa bands and of the known encouragement and aid give to bandit leaders, it is unreasonable to expect the United States to withdraw its forces from Mexican territory or to prevent their entry again when their presence is the only check upon further bandit outrages and the only efficient means of protecting American lives and homes—safeguards which Gen. Carranza, though internationally obligated to supply, is manifestly unable or unwilling to give.

In view of the actual state of affairs as I have outlined in above I am now in a position to consider the conclusions which you have drawn in your note under acknowledgment from the erroneous statements of fact which you have set forth.

Charge of Insincerity.

Your government intimates, if it does not openly charge, that the attitude of the United States is one of insincerity, distrust and suspicion toward the de facto government of Mexico and that the intention of the United States in sending its troops into Mexico is to extend its sovereignty over Mexican territory and not merely for the purpose of pursuing marauders and preventing future raids across the border. The de facto government charges by implication, which admits of but one interpretation, that this government has as its object territorial aggrandizement even at the expense of a war of aggression against a neighbor weakened by years of civil strife. The government of the United States, if it had had designs upon the territory of Mexico, would have had no difficulty in finding during this period of revolution and disorder many plausible arguments for intervention in Mexican affairs. Hoping, however, that the people of Mexico would through their own efforts restore peace and establish an orderly government the United States has awaited with patience the consummation of the revolution.

Recognition of Carranza.

When the superiority of the revolutionary faction led by Gen. Carranza became undoubted the United States, after conferring with six others of the American republics, recognized unconditionally the present de facto government. It hoped and expected that that government would speedily restore order and provide the Mexican people and others who had given their energy and substance to the development of the great resources of the republic opportunity to rebuild in peace and security their shattered fortunes.

This government has waited month after month for the consummation of its hope and expectation. In spite of increasing discouragements, in spite of repeated provocations to exercise force in the restoration of order in the northern regions of Mexico, where American interests have suffered most seriously from lawlessness, the government of the United States has restrained from aggressive action and sought by appeals and moderate, though explicit demands, to impress the de facto government with the seriousness of the situation and to arose it to its duty to perform its international obligations toward citizens of the United States, who had entered the territory of Mexico or had vested interests within its boundaries.

Doubts and Suspicion Resented.

In the face of constantly renewed evidences of the patience and restraint of this government in circumstances in which only a government imbued with unselfishness and a sincere desire to respect to the full the sovereign rights and national dignity of the Mexican people would have endured, doubts and suspicions as to the motives of the government of the United States are expressed in your communication of May 22, for which I can imagine no purpose but to impugn the good faith of this government, for I find it hard to believe that such imputations are not universally known to be without the least shadow of justification in fact. Can the de facto government doubt that if the United States had turned coveteous eyes on Mexican territory it could have found many pretexts in the past for the gratification of its desire? Can that government doubt that months ago, when the war between the revolutionary factions was in progress a much better opportunity than the present was afforded for American intervention, if such had been the purpose of the United States, as the de facto government now insinuates? What motive could this government have had in refraining from taking advantage of such opportunities other than unselfish friendship for the Mexican republic? I have, of course, given consideration to your argument that the responsibility for the present situation rests largely upon this government. In the first place you state that even the American forces along the border, whose attention is undivided by other military operations, "find themselves physically unable to protect effectively the frontier of the American side."

Remedy for Border Raids.

Obviously if there is no means of reaching bands roving on Mexican territory and making sudden dashes at night into American territory it is impossible to prevent such invasions unless the frontier is protected by a cordon of troops. No government could be expected to maintain a force of this strength along the boundary of a nation with which it is at peace for the purpose of resisting the onslaught of a few bandits of lawless men especially when the neighboring state makes no effort to prevent these attacks. The most effective method of preventing raids of this nature, as past experience has fully demonstrated is to visit punishment or destruction on the raiders. It is precisely this plan which the United States desires to follow along the border without any intention of infringing upon the sovereign rights of her neighbor, but which, although obviously advantageous to the de facto government it refuses to allow or even countenance. It is in fact protection to American lives and property about which the United States is solicitous and not the methods or ways in which that protection shall be accomplished.

American Government's Duty.

If the Mexican government is unwilling or unable to give this protection by preventing its territory from being the rendezvous and refuge of marauders and plunderers that does not relieve this government from its duty to take all the steps necessary to safeguard American citizens on American soil. The United States government cannot and will not allow bands of lawless men to establish themselves upon its borders with liberty to invade and plunder American territory with impunity and when pursued, to seek safety across the Rio Grande, relying upon the plea of their government that the integrity of the soil of the Mexican republic must not be violated.

The Mexican government further protests that it has "made every effort on its part to protect the frontier" and that it is doing "all possible to avoid a recurrence of such acts," attention is again invited to the well known and unrestricted activity of de la Rosa, Anceto Piscano, Pedro Vinos and others in connection with border raids and to the fact that, as I am advised up to June 4 de la Rosa was still collecting troops at Monterey for the openly avowed purpose of making attacks on Texas border towns and that Pedro Vino was recruiting at other places for the same avowed purpose.

Not Doing "All Possible."

I have already pointed out the uninterrupted progress of Villa to and from Columbus, and the fact that the American forces in pursuit of the Glenn Springs marauders penetrated 168 miles into Mexican territory without encountering a single Carranzaist soldier. This does not indicate that the Mexican government is doing "all possible' 'to avoid such raids; and if doing "all possibue," this is not sufficient to prevent border raids, and there is every reason therefore, why this government must take such preventive measures as it deems sufficient.

It is suggested that injuries suffered on account of bandit raids are a matter of "pecuniary reparation" but "nevertheless cause for American forces to invade Mexican soil," the precedents which have been established and maintained by the government of the Mexican republic for the last half century do not bear out this statement. It has grown to be almost a custom not to settle depredations of bandits by payments of money alone, but to quell such disorders and to prevent such crimes by swift and sure punishment.

Attempts to Evade Duty.

The de facto government finally argues that "if the frontier were duly protected from incursions from Mexico there would be no reason for existing difficulty," thus the de facto government attempts to absolve itself from the first duty of any government, namely, with the protection of life and property. This is the paramount obligations for which governments are instituted, and the governments neglecting or failing to perform it are not worthy of the name. This is the duty for which Gen. Carranza, it must be assumed, initiated his revolution in Mexico and organized the present government which the United States government recognized as the de facto government of Mexico. Protection of American lives and property, then, in the United States is the first obligation of this government, and in Mexico is, first, the obligation of Mexico, and second, the obligation of the United States. In securing this protection along the common boundary the United States has a right to expect the co-operation of its neighboring republic; and yet, instead of taking steps to correct or punish the raiders, the de facto government demurs and objects to measures taken by the United States.

Makes United States' Duty Stronger.

The government of the United States does not wish to believe that the de facto government approves these marauding attacks yet as they continue to be made they show that the Mexican government is unable to repress them. This inability as this government has had occasion in the past to say, may excuse the failure to check the outrages complained of, but it only makes stronger the duty of the United States to prevent them, for if the government of Mexico cannot protect the lives and property of Americans exposed to attack from Mexicans, the government of the United States is in duty bound, so far as it can, to do so.

In conclusion, the Mexican government invites the United States to support its "assurances of friendship with real and effective acts" which "can be no other than the immediate withdrawal of the American troops." For the reasons I have herein fully set forth, this request of the de facto government cannot now be entertained. The United States has not sought the duty which has been forced upon it of pursuing bandits who, under fundamental principles of municipal and international law, ought to be pursued and arrested and punished by Mexican authorities. Whenever Mexico will assume and effectively exercise that responsibility the United States, as it has many times before publicly declared, will be glad to have this obligation fulfilled by the de facto government of Mexico. If, on the contrary, the de facto government is pleased to ignore this obligation and to believe that "in case of a refusal to retire these troops there is no further recourse than to defend its territory by an appeal to arms," the government of United States would surely be lacking in sincerity and friendship if it did not frankly impress upon the de facto government that the execution of this threat this government would deeply regret such action, it cannot recede from its settled determination to maintain its rights and perform its full duty in preventing further invasions of the territory of the United States and removing the peril which Americans along the boundary have borne so long with patience and forbearance.

Accept, etc., Robert Lansing.

bers of Company E will not be able to pass the examination at Fort Harrison is certain and for that reason Captain Miller is anxious to have at least twenty-five more men than the required number.

Captain Miller expects to provide sleeping quarters for his company this evening. The armory is much too small and because of this the men were permitted to go home. It also gave them an opportunity to take back their citizens' clothes and to bid good-by to their relatives, friends and sweethearts.

Anxious to Go.

The majority of the men are anxious to go and were disappointed Monday night when no order came to move at once. The scenes around the armory resemble very much the events of 1898 when the militia was called out for service in the Spanish-American war.

Raymond Brennan, who has served over a year with the English army in Europe, joined Company E Monday evening. He is a Canadian, but has been naturalized.

Dr. C. R. Dancer is devoting almost his entire time examining new recruits. His office is on the second floor of the armory building. Men ranging in age from 18 to 40 years are eligible for enlistment.

Captain Miller made an appeal Tuesday to the citizens of Fort Wayne to look after the families of the married men who are members of Company E to see that they do not want during the absence of the company. He has suggested that an organization be formed for this purpose.

List of New Recruits.

Among the new recruits that have enlisted within the past twenty-four hours are the following: Frank Walker, 714 Barr; Elzie Carter, 648 Wagner; Waverly Thomas, Fairfax Court House, Va.; William F. Nicholson, 2206 Winter; Clifford Kirkpatrick, 2118 Broadway; John Henry Miller, 735 East Washington; Frank Byrd, 126 Miner; Wayne Crapser, 1236 Boone; Eddie Cross, 1315 Brackenridge; Earl Mock, 809 Bell; Oscar Sibler, 518 State; William Schwartz, city; James A. Sunday, city; Marion Bethol, city; George H. Schreiber, 315 East Columbia; E. F. Hedvall, 620 Clinton street; George L. Baker, 549 Baker, Detroit; John T. Gorrell, 122 East Washington; John H. Kohler, 815 Heustis; John C. Green, 2118 Broadway; Gust Hoagburg, 231 West Main; Joy W. Fish, 344 West DeWald; Gerhardt Schulte, 1307 Jackson; John W. Long, Monroeville; W. J. Boughman, 818 Harrison; F. R. Wolg, 1626 East Wayne; James B. McDevitt, 1413 Thompson; George W. Sanderson, 134 West Superior; W. H. Thomas, city.

American sympathizers and the American press opposed to the de facto government, I am glad to most emphatically deny it. It is, however, a matter of common knowledge that the Mexican press has been more active than the press in the United States in endeavoring to inflame the two peoples against each other and to force the two countries into hostilities."

It Is Up to Mexico.

Whether the result will mean war depends on the Mexicans and Gen. Carranza is so informed. Citizens of both nations apparently are preparing for it. Opposing military forces are facing each other on the border.

Gen. Carranza in another speech in Mexico City, however, has expressed the hope that hostilities may be avoided.

The note's terms leaves no doubt the United States government is approaching the end of its patience with Mexican annoyances, but that it still maintains its original policy of entering war only for defense.

Even while these assurances are being conveyed came reports that Mexicans were enlisting for military service under the impression that the United States armies are about to attack Mexico. An ultimatum, said to be virtually a declaration of war, has been served on Commander Kavanaugh, of the United States gunboat Annapolis, by Gen. Flores, Carranza governor of the state of Sinaola. The hostile stand grew out of the clash Sunday at Mazatlan between bluejackets from the Annapolis and Mexicans, resulting in casualties on both sides.

Mexican government troops were reported last night marching on Delrio, 100 miles up the Rio Grande river from Eagle Pass, with the intention of attacking.

PAY WHICH INDIANA GUARDSMEN WILL GET

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—The enlisted men and officers of the Indiana national guard will receive pay from the federal government at the same rates as prevail in the regular army, according to rank. The monthly pay for the Indiana troops which were ordered mobilized yesterday morning will date from that time. The rates of pay follow:

Enlisted men, from $15 to $45 a month and all expenses. First lieutenants, $166.67 a month, and second lieutenants, $141.67 a month without expenses or clothing. Captains, $200 a month. Majors, $250 a month. Lieutenant colonels, $291.67 a month. Colonels, $333.33 a month. Brigadier generals, $500 a month.

Twenty per cent. additional is allowed for foreign service.

MAN WAS DEMENTED; NOT SUICIDE CASE

"Hurry up and come to 2018 North Barr street at once; my husband is trying to commit suicide," was the message received from an excited woman by the police department at 11:10 o'clock Tuesday morning. A hurried run brought the patrol wagon with a squad of policemen to the scene.

There it was found that John Affolder, a well known character, had become demented, but there were no indications that he was attempting his life. He was taken to the county jail for safe-keeping.

For Lower Michigan: Partly overcast tonight and Wednesday; probably showers Wednesday in west and central portions.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is low over the central Rocky mountain region and also over the north Atlantic states. Relatively high pressure overlies the north Pacific coast and another area of moderately high pressure is central in Manitoba. During the last 24 hours precipitation occurred in the Atlantic coast states from Virginia northward, in the Ohio valley, lower lake region, St. Lawrence valley, in the central Mississippi and Missouri valleys and from the northern Rocky mountain region westward to the Pacific coast. Except in the gulf and south Atlantic states the weather is generally cooler than the seasonal average.

WANT STREET PAVED.

Six property owners, who would be assessed for the work, have filed a petition with the board of works asking that Martin street be paved from Hendricks street to Broadway. The request was placed on file, and another asking walks on the east side of Jackson street from Lavina street to the Pennsylvania railroad was also filed.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Acts 9:1-11.

1 And Saul, breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven:

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest; it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

6 And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink.

10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Juas, for one called Saul, of Tarsus, for behold, he prayeth.

Saul of Tarsus was aiming at the house of Judas, for one called Saul, of the faith and forms of his fathers, he overlooked the fulfilled prophesies in the life and death of Christ.

Under the Care of the State.

The report just filed with the board of state charities from each of the nineteen charitable and correctional institutions in Indiana discloses the fact that on March 31 last, these institutions had a total of 14,232 inmates. It is a vast army of unfortunates of one variety and another who are under the care of the state and must be supported by it. It is noted, too, that the daily average of inmates in all the institutions had jumped from 12,044 to 13,180 in the past year, though it is explained that the increase is due largely to the new state penal farm near Putnamville. The figures are startling enough, however, to give emphasis to the cry for an improvement in conditions that will reduce to the lowest possible degree the influences that contribute to the population of the state institutions.

Some definite figures shed further light on the situation. The men and boys in the institutions on March 31 numbered 8,611; the women and girls 5,621. More than one-half of these persons were in the institutions for mental defectives; 5,788 in the five hospitals for the insane; 1,320 in the School for Feeble-Minded Youth at Fort Wayne, and 311 in the Village for Epileptic, Newcastle. The other most numerous class of state wards is to be found in its six penal and correctional institutions, 3,935.

Of the whole number enrolled in these nineteen institutions, 52 per cent. are insane, feeble-minded or epileptics; 28 per cent. are criminals or misdemeanants. The remaining 20 per cent. are members of the Soldiers' home and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home, pupils of the schools for the deaf and blind and patients of the two state hospitals for the sick.

The state prison at Michigan City reports an increase of 128, and the reformatory at Jeffersonville 177. There are slight increases in the Girls' school and the Women's prison, but the Boys' school reports a decrease of eight. There is a net increase of 1,012 in the penal and correctional institutions, and 124 in the benevolent and educational institutions.

The regular operating expenses of the nineteen institutions for the half year amounted to nearly $1,500,000. The average cost for each inmate was $109.96, or 60 cents a day. For the same six months last year the per capita cost was $110.65.

The institutions for the insane, feeble-minded and epileptic cost the state $686,397.70; the homes for the soldiers and their orphans, $163,458.03; the two hospitals for the sick, $76,413.52, and the schools for the deaf and blind, $86,724.25, a total of $1,012,993.50 for the thirteen benevolent and educational institutions. The state prisons and reform schools spent $436,320.04. For new buildings and permanent improvements the institutions spent $145,440.59 during the six months. This brought the grand total expenditures to $1,593,927.34. Receipts and earnings amounting to $187,112.75 reduced this gross amount to $1,406,814.59. The institutions consumed farm and garden products of their own raising valued at $96,754.92.

The parade of the school children scheduled in Fort Wayne Thursday afternoon, will doubtless give many of our people a new and much more adequate conception of the extent and the importance of the civic beauty and health campaign that has been waged here quietly but effectivly during the past few months. The active interest and the enthusiastic efforts of thousands of the children have been enlisted, and the work is valuable far beyond immediate fruits now visible. There has been implanted in these young minds the value of cleanliness, sanitation and attractiveness of home, of grounds and surroundings that will exert its influence for many years to come. The civic health and beauty work is in no sense a passing fad. It is a building for the future healthfulness and happiness of Fort Wayne, not merely for the present, but for the years when these children of today shall be carrying the fuller burdens of citizenship.

The action of the Wayne Knitting Mills in setting aside a fund of $50,000 as the nucleus for an old age pension fund for the benefit of its veteran employes is to be commended, and it may prove to be but the beginning of similar action by other local corporations. More and more the large institutions in America are coming to recognize an obligation beyond the regular pay envelope to those who have given long years of faithful service in the building of a vast business. The railroads led the way in this matter, but the idea is taking firm hold among industrial institutions as well.

Senator Lodge, after an interview with Mr. Roosevelt, is inclined to the opinion that the colonel will give his support to Mr. Hughes. The colonel himself has been singularly reticent in declaring his intentions, but he will be compelled to come down sometime, and doubtless is even now casting his eagle eye about in search of the most suitable spot in which to alight. Mr. Roosevelt will never remain in the air indefinitely.

When the Profits Come to You

"Anything that's worth having is worth working for" and so it is with the profits that return from the dollars you work for and save.

When you get a substantial amount on interest, then is when the profits mean something worth while.

In the First National Bank many accounts that started with $1.00 are today yielding good interest return —then too, there's the accumulated principal. The dollars that are slipping through your fingers into someone else's might be yielding profits for you.

DEMOCRATIC PLANK IS MOST FORCEFUL

Party's Utterance on Americanism is Definite and Clear Out.

By WILLIS S. THOMPSON.

Indianapolis, June 20.—The dominant political parties have now spoken through their national conventions. On essential subjects, on subjects vitally affecting the whole country, there is no division of sentiment and opinion that only one of these three conventions spoke in plain and unmistakable language.

Americanism was the one subject attracting most attention preceding convention dates. There was much oratory on the subject, especially from those influences which controlled at Chicago. There was voluminous comment on "pussy-footers." While this preliminary sputtering was going on Senator Thomas Taggart said in an interview that these vociferous persons who were managing the Chicago convention and seeking to betray the progressive voters into an impossible coalition with the standpat republican organization, did not know an intelligent definition of the thing they were talking about—Americanism.

It is worth while to contrast the planks promulgated by the three conventions, especially keeping in mind the preliminary outcries of Chicago spellbinders about "pussy-footers." For instance, the republican platform:

"We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and, above all things, to keep faith."

Was Senator Taggart right when he said they could not give an intelligent definition of Americanism?

The progressive platform calls for "unwavering patriotism and unfaltering fidelity to America," and says that "if in this melting pot of a hundred nations the children of any fail to find our common destiny worthy of common devotion and defense, we shall sustain irreparable loss of national character.

Which utterance, no doubt, came far short of satisfying the progressive voters of the country and is hardly worth being called a faint echo of the call of the bull moose. As the vaudeville stage has caught the public thought quickly, "it is one-third moose and two-thirds bull."

Man Held in Ax-Murders is Loving Husband and Father in Eyes of Woman and Child.

Kansas City, June 20.—"Blackie" Mansfield, charged by the police as the man who hacked to death sixteen persons in ax murders that have terrified this section of the country in the past four years, has been landed in a cell here after a two-year chase.

To the police Mansfield is a man suspected of the most horrifying series of slayings on record in this part of the country.

But to the little Lithuanian woman who calls him "my man" and to their little child, he is a loving husband and father.

Detectives got on the train of Mansfield following the story of a woman that while she and her husband were camping along the Nodaway river, four years ago, she heard three men, hidden in a clump of bushes, plot the murder of John Moore, of Villisca, Iowa.

She told, according to the police, the name of the man picked to commit the murder and on this clue a nation-wide search was started for Mansfield.

The woman said she held her story secret several years and revealed it only on the warning of a fortune teller.

Among the victims in the ax murders were Mansfield's first wife, their little child and Mrs. Mansfield's parents.

Mansfield's second wife was shocked by the arrest of her husband.

"My man has been taken from me," she cried. "How will my baby and I eat? He did not murder anybody. He would not hurt a woman or a child."

The police charge that Mansfield had deserted his first wife. They say they do not think his second wife knows anything of the life he is alleged to have lived before they were married.

You Never Saw Hair Grow Like This Before

"Vola-Vita" is One of the Greatest Discoveries Ever Known—the Scientific Way of Forcing Hair to Grow, Restoring Color Naturally, and Stopping Dandruff Quickly and Completely.

Making hair grow has always been one of the greatest problems of the scientist. This problem has been definitely solved by one of the greatest hair discoveries ever made. This discovery is Vola-Vita. It proves that hair can be made to grow as surely and positively as plants can be made to grow by fertilization of the soil.

"Sure enough! 'Vola-Vita' is actually growing your hair—the only thing you ever used that really showed results!"

Hair has now been analyzed and found to contain five principal elements. When any one or more of these elements are missing, or are scarce, the hair-roots lose their vitality, hair falls out, dandruff may form, thin spots appear, the hair turns gray, and baldness is always the result.

When these elements are restored the hair is compelled to grow.

Vola-Vita supplies these elements to hair and scalp tissue. Its use in a short time gives positive results. It isn't imagination, because you actually see these results. Use it on your bald or thin-haired spot and you will soon see real, new "fuzz" growing. Dandruff will disappear absolutely. Itching will stop. If your hair is gray, and was originally brown, your hair will become brown. If your hair is gray and was originally red, it will become red.

Vola-Vita brings back the exact original color of your hair by supplying the necessary vigor to the color-glands. For this reason it is not a dye. And Vola-Vita contains no alcohol to dry up the necessary and natural secretions of your hair. It is different from all other hair treatments ever known.

You can now grow hair and stop your hair and scalp troubles as you never could do before. And you'll look years younger, too, with your hair brought back to its original youthful color. Begin today.

Vola-Vita is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle, or sent direct by the Vola-Vita Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill. Satisfaction guaranteed.

"Vola-Vita" is sold in Fort Wayne by Peoples Drug Store, Miss Emanuel, T. C. Bohn, Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. Co., B. R. Noll, D. & N. Pharmacy, Woodworth's Drug Store, C. O. FAIRBANKS DESERTS LEGITIMATE STAGE FOR FILM WORK.

Douglas Fairbanks, who is enjoying his fourteenth year on the stage. So enjoyable has his work in motion pictures become that he has decided to do no work for the legitimate drama for three years, at least.

In 1901 Fairbanks made his theatrical debut. Since then, with the single exception of a brief flurry in Wall street, he has supported the most prominent stars and has been a star in his own right. For several years, under the direction of William A. Brady, he played in such successful pieces as "The Pit," "The Man of the Hour," and "The Gentleman from Mississippi." More recently he has appeared in "Officer 666," "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," "The New Henrietta," and "The Show Shop."

He is now appearing in Triangle films under the supervision of David W. Griffith.

Powerful Skin Remedy Discovered

Dries up Eczema, Barbers' Itch and all Skin Eruptions in a few days; absorbs Wens, Goiter and Piles.

Many thousands of people know how speedily and painlessly Moone's Emerald Oil reduces swollen veins and bunches, and how powerful penetrating and safe it is.

This wonderful surgeon's prescription now known all over America as Moone's Emerald Oil, is so efficient in the treatment of skin diseases that the itching of eczema stops with one application; the eruptions dry up and scale off.

A few applications and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed never to return.

Moone's Emerald Oil is safe and pleasant to use. It is so powerfully antiseptic that odors arising from ulcers, gangrene, and cancer is instantly killed.

It absorbs goiter; dissolves wens, and in the treatment of ulcers, abscesses, carbuncles, varicocele and boils, it is supremely efficient.

Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle is dispensed by pharmacists for 50 cents. It is not a patent medicine, but a wonderful prescription of a practicing surgeon. With each bottle complete directions for use are enclosed. Meyer drug stores always have Moone's Emerald Oil on hand.—Advertisement.

WHO?

She is Betty Shade, movie star. She was born in Chicago but has spent most of her young life around the movie studios near Los Angeles. She has starred with several companies and is now with the Lasky studios. She has "bronzy" or reddish brown hair, "green eyes," a fair complexion and a beautiful figure. She photographs well in the films and is a camera art subject of wide renown. She is not married.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELP

You can keep your hair at its very best by washing it with this simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff and dirt and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling: Just use a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterwards rinsing thoroughly with clean water. One finds that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and fluffy, so fluffy in fact that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. All scalp irritation will disappear and the hair will be brighter than ever before.—Advertisement.

Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN SHOWN IN MOVIES

One of the very best Fort Wayne films yet shown is that of the recent campaign for the Young Men's Christian Association building, which is now being shown at the Jefferson, and it presents hundreds of well-known faces in the various activities which characterized Fort Wayne's big and successful undertaking.

The scenes show the various leaders in the movement, the gathering at campaign headquarters, the noon luncheon, the reading of the daily reports of the canvass, the solicitors at work securing pledges, the enthusiastic glee of the rival teams, the cheer leaders in action, the parades to the campaign clock, the posting of the clock and the cheering throngs which witnessed it daily, and the splendid work of the women's division. The film is excellent.

AT KEITH PALACE.

MATINEE FOR THE WOMEN.

Souvenier Afternoon at New Palace Wednesday.

Special Guy Voyer souveniers will be presented each woman attending the matinee performance at the New Palace theater tomorrow, Wednesday, the only afternoon appearance of the Lasalle musical comedy company in the rip-snorting laughing success, "Lovers and Lunatics," the stage spectacle supreme. Voyer is a prime favorite with the women folks and in deference to this fact the New Palace has arranged this special matinee.

Wedding Friday.

Everybody's invited to the wedding on the stage at the New Palace Friday evening, when Miss Elsie Walker, one of the merriest of the Lasalle company's happy chorus, and "Billy" Schumm, a former Fort Wayne boy, and now a member of the same company, will plight their troth. The ceremony will be performed on the stage immediately upon the conclusion of the third act.

The company last night opened a three day engagement in the hilarious romp, "Lovers and Lunatics," the funniest fool thing ever written for a musical comedy company. The chorus in this bit is especially active in an array of drill spectacles and dance numbers that are reminiscent of the days of the lavish extravaganzas.

Ueber—Bender.

A beautiful wedding took place at St. Mary's Catholic church on Tuesday morning at half past 9 o'clock when Miss Rose Marie Bender, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Geistdoerfer, and Mr. John D. Ueber were united in marriage in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Mgr. J. H. Oechtering officiated at the ceremony and the nuptial mass. Miss Anna Ueber, a sister to the groom was bridesmaid, and Miss Lillith Gaskill was maid of honor. Mr. Herman Ueber was best man and Mr. Carl Burlage and Mr. John Wessel were ushers. The church was decorated with palms and ferns and the altar was beautiful with white carnations and white roses. The bride presented a beautiful appearance in a handsome gown of white crepe de chine combined with georgette crepe, a veil of tulle that came to the hem of the dress skirt and was fashioned in cap effect for the hair. The bride carried a bouquet of bride roses and swansonia. Miss Gaskill was gowned in yellow, her gown of net being a very stylish one. Miss Gaskill wore a yellow maline hat with bird-of-paradise ornament while her bouquet of yellow daisies made a charming effect. Miss Ueber wore a green gown of pussy willow satin and a green picture hat of which the trimming is an aigrette. Miss Ueber's flowers were pink roses. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, at the corner of Clay and Washington boulevard. The table was trimmed in yellow roses and smilax with a wedding cake for the centerpiece. The decorations were confined to the table and guests at the breakfast to the nearest relatives and the bridal party. A reception was held from 11 o'clock to 4 this afternoon for friends. Assisting in dispensing refreshments were Misses Solina Dietrich, Loretta Ankenbruck, Bernadine Violand and Katherine Huber, intimate friends of the bride. In the evening the bride and groom start east on a trip of two or three weeks' time. After the first of August Mr. and Mrs. Ueber will be at home at 501 Washington boulevard east. For traveling the bride wears a tailored suit of green and gold changeable silk with tailored hat to correspond and a blouse of white georgette crepe. Mrs. Ueber is a member of the firm of the Fort Wayne Printing company and is auditor of the company. Mrs. Ueber will continue her work with the printing company indefinitely. Mr. Ueber is a mechanic with C. E. Freiburger and enjoys with his bride, the esteem of all who know them.

Ohneck—Forsythe.

Mr. Arthur E. Ohneck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ohneck, of Lake township, and Miss Hazel M. Forsythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Forsythe, of Fort Wayne, were united in marriage at the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church at noon on Sunday, June 18, by Rev. J. P. Meyers. Miss Sarah Schneider and Mr. Charles Forsythe were the attendants. The groomsman is a brother to the bride and the bridesmaid is a cousin of the groom. The bride wore a pretty gown of white embroidered voille and net. A white hat trimmed with an ostrich band and a bouquet of pink and white roses were finishing touches to the bridal costume. Miss Schneider wore a white embroidered organdy and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride. Mr. Ohneck, the groom, is a prosperous young farmer of Lake township. The bride and groom went to Detroit and similar points of interest in that vicinity and on their return they will go to their own home, which is awaiting them on Mr. Ohneck's farm.

Benefit Party at Elks' Hall.

The Lady Elks Charity club will have a benefit auction bridge and pedro party in Elks' auditorium, on Wednesday afternoon. The card games are to begin at 2:30 o'clock. Those who desire can remain for dinner at 6 o'clock. Wives, mothers and sisters of Elks will be welcome. A program of music and other entertainment will consist of dancing solos by Esther Centlivre, Margaret Fry and Grace Romary, who will dance with Paul Bachelor, songs by Mrs. E. H. Kirkland, accompanied by Helene Clifford, violin solos by Prof. Jackson and Miss Georgette Monelli.

Noll—Bieker.

Mr. Benedict R. Noll and Mrs. Helene Bieker were married at an early hour Tuesday morning at the Church of the Precious Blood by Rev. C. Hummer. Mr. and Mrs. J. Gusching were the witnesses. Mr. Noll is the well known druggist whose residence is in West Wayne street.

MISS IDA GRABNER WEDS ALBERT J. PRANGER.

MRS. ALBERT J. PRANGER.

Miss Ida A. Grabner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Grabner, and Mr. Albert J. Pranger, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Pranger, were married at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning in the Cathedral. Rev. John R. Quinlan officiated at the ceremony and mass. Special music was sung by Miss Irene Noll, who assisted during the mass, with Mr. Noll at the organ, and sang "O, Promise Me," during the marriage ceremony. Miss Marie McGuire was bridesmaid and Mr. Herbert Kocks was groomsman. The bridal party made an unusually good-looking appearance and the bridal procession was also unusual as the ushers, Messrs. Gerald Halstein and Edward Stahl, met the others of the bridal party at the curbing in front of the church and escorted them to the chancel. After the solemn service the ushers led the way to the waiting carriages. The bride, who is a sweet and modest appearing young woman of very attractive personality, looked lovely in her simple bridal costume of white satin and georgette crepe. The drapery was finished with wide bands of satin and the effect was graceful yet plain. A veil extended the length of the dress and the bride wore a wreath of orange blossoms on her hair and carried a large bouquet of bride roses with shower of swansonia and narrow baby ribbon. The bridesmaid was gowned in pink taffeta combined with crepe and she wore a very handsome hat of pink horsehair braid with a simple trimming of pink roses. Miss McGuire carried pink roses. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 2105 Washington boulevard east, and both relatives and friends were invited. The bride's table was prettily decorated with a handsome bride's cake, pink sweetpeas and ferns. There were many garden flowers in other rooms. Early in the afternoon the bride and groom left on an automobile trip to northern points of the state and they will probably go to Chicago before they return, which will be in about ten days. For traveling the bride wears a dark blue tailored cloth suit with trimmings of a lighter color, a blouse of yellowish tone and a dark blue hat. When Mr. and Mrs. Pranger return they will go directly to housekeeping in a beautiful and furnished bungalow at 445 East DeWald street, which is a wedding present from the groom's father. The bride is a very capable young woman who has been private secretary for several years to Mr. S. F. Bowser. Mr. Pranger is a splendid young business man as is indicated by his success which has led him to being assistant cashier at the Bowser plant. Mr. Pranger is well known in business circles and his prepossessing manner and ability make him a favorite everywhere he goes. Out of town guests were Miss Teresa May, of Chicago; Mrs. Edward Gardner, of Cincinnati, and Miss Elsie Hall, of St. Louis, Mo.

SHARK BONE CANES LATEST FAD.

VIRGINIA BANES, a Los Angeles girl, who has inaugurated a new fad. It is carrying a cane made from the backbone of a shark. The feature of this fad is that you must catch the shark yourself. Steelheads, oil and man-eating sharks are best for canes. Their backbones are lightest and toughest and make the most durable walking sticks. There are many sharks in the southern California waters; however, few of them are of the man-eating variety. The craze for shark canes is expected to stimulate big game fishing as a sport.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

HAND-PAINTED JERSEY

THE vogue for hand-painted ornamentation is reflected in this sports suit of white silk jersey. The coat is given a different line from the sports coats, which have been offered since early spring by means of the deep collar and revers. It reminds one of a shawl collar. The skirt of the coat is made separate and joined to the upper part. This is a good idea for one to follow if the loose lines of a one-piece coat is unbecoming. A pretty finish is given the soft sash by the addition of tassels formed of beads.

Perfectly plain is the skirt. The hem is turned up on the right side, and above it the silk is folded over a cord.

COIN PURSE UMBRELLAS

HUNTING for one's pocketbook and an elusive nickel and at the same time manipulating an umbrella in the wind and carrying a bundle or so is now a thing of the past, for the umbrella itself bears the owner's carfare in a tiny purse.

The purse, which will hold about a quarter in small change, fastens on the leather loop which is the newest and, therefore, the most popular handle for the smart silk umbrellas. Other types of the coin purse umbrella show the little purse slung on a silken cord that runs thru the handle, while a third type straps about the handle like a wee wrist watch.

A NOVEL VANITY CASE

THE newest vanity cases to hold the wee powder puff are made of rose quartz, with a slender gold chain as a handle. The pink semiprecious stone is more or less transparent, but gives the effect of the carrying of a single great jewel.

NEW FAVORS

THE distracted hostess who is planning a card party in the near future will be delighted to hear of new favors, useful, appropriate and artistic. They are nothing more or less than bud vases, with a silver stand and a glass stem. They do not measure over three inches in height, but the stand is in the shape of a heart, spade, club or diamond. Stand these with tiny rosebuds about the table of your June card party, and feel sure that your guests will appreciate what you have chosen for remembrances of the event.

A QUIET HOUR BOWL

IN LONDON, where nerves are taut and strain and suffering continual, a fad has sprung up for "quiet-hour bowls." These are glass bowls of a deep shade of green, and are filled with water, in which a few lily leaves float. Just what influence these are supposed to exert is not known, but women claim that tired eyes and nerves are rested by gazing into the cool green depths of the water during the rest hour.

Three New Handkerchiefs

THERE has been such a furore over the new handkerchiefs, they are being made in such unsual shapes and color combinations, that it is only fair to give interested women readers an idea of what these new handkerchiefs really look like. Instead of being merely a generous square of linen for use, they are now any geometric figure of any material for ornament, and only occasionally for use. As one girl put it, "They are for show and not for blow." Of course, one can get the plain kind with colors that will not come out in the wash, and sufficiently thick to absorb the moisture from a fevered brow.

For instance, who would ever in her wildest moments dream of a net handkerchief? Yet here it is before you with embroidered corners and edge and trimmed with a net footing. It is a delightful little accessory to carry with the light summer frock, but there its excuse for being stops. The embroidery is either white or a light color to match the gown.

This handkerchief may be explained by the vogue for pockets. One must have something frilly to peek above their edges, hence handkerchiefs such as this net one.

And why should a handkerchief be square? There is no law for them! In fact, they were not always thus, until some queen lady started the fad. Here is a round of the finest handkerchief linen hemstitched by machine, of course, and finished with a net footing. Sometimes these handkerchiefs are of a solid color with a white footing, or sometimes the net will be colored.

Wide hems that incorporate the design are very unique, and what is more, do not interfere with the usefulness of the handkerchief. Here is one that is a plain white linen with the deep hem turned back on itself, and the scalloped border obtained by cutting away the hem and hemstitching the raw edges. Often instead of a hem a colored facing is used and follows an uneven hem line to make the ornate design.

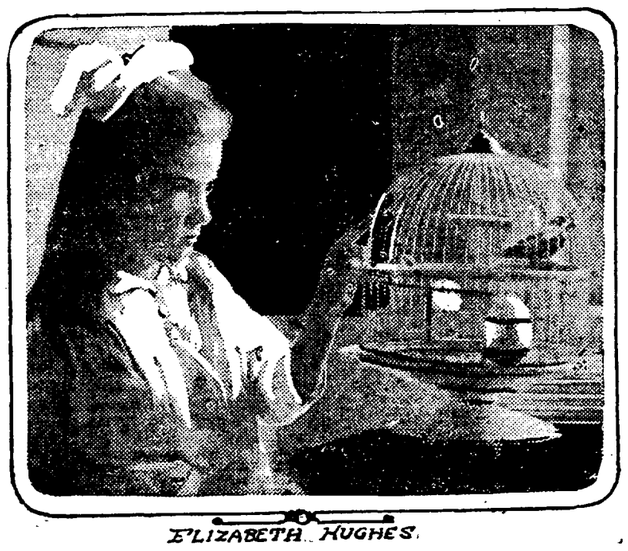
CANARY IS PET OF GIRL WHO MAY BE LITTLE MISTRESS OF WHITE HOUSE.



ELIZABETH HUGHES.

She is the the baby of the family of Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for the presidency and will be the little mistress of the white house, if her "daddy" is elected. The picture shows Miss Hughes with her pet canary in the Hughes home in Washington.

There's Health

Along With Splendid Flavor In Grape-Nuts

This famous food has both delicious flavor that appeals to appetite; and the rich building elements of whole wheat and malted barley that makes for sturdy bodies and keen brains.

Thousands who have made Grape-Nuts, with cream or good milk, a part of their daily rations find that it helps wonderfully in restoring "balance" and vigor, and puts "go" into life.

Grocers everywhere sell Grape-Nuts.

VOICE APPROVAL OF WILSON'S COURSE

Congress is With the President in New Move Toward Mexico.

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson faced no criticism in congress today for his call of militia to the colors.

Republicans and democrats voiced their approval and announced their readiness to back up the president in any firm and decisive course he may take with respect to Mexico. The republicans think decisive action in the Mexican situation some time ago might have prevented the present mobilization of militia. They are hoping that the warning to Carranza will be sufficient and that Carranza's answer to the latest note sent him by this government may result in a speedy mobilization of a majority of the state troops. But they are prepared to go along with the president to the last ditch.

Works Expects a Fight.

Senator Works of California (Rep.)—I believe that intervention in Mexico must follow. We must go into the country and take care of it and the people for a time.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina (Dem.)—The situation looks serious. If Carranza is bluffing, his bluff will be called. If he is not bluffing, war cannot be avoided.

Senator Reed of Missouri (Dem.)—The national guard has been called out, and I heartily approve of that move. There ought to be a sufficient force of United States troops on that border for any eventuality. The mobilization of the guard will provide excellent training for the men and officers, and much good will have been derived from the experience, whether the men see actual fighting or not.

Weeks Blames Wilson Policy.

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts (Rep.)—The failure of the administration's Mexican policy is being shown. If a firm policy had been adopted in the first place this trouble might have been avoided.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio (Dem.)—I haven't heard any one suggest that we are going to withdraw our troops from Mexico and I do not think that we are going to. While I hope there will not be war, the situation looks very bad.

Representative L. E. Wheeler (Rep.)—I am for any action necessary to protect the rights of Americans and to uphold the dignity and honor of our country.

Chiperfield Sees Protection.

Rep. Chiperfield, of Illinois, (Rep.), an officer of the Illinois national guard—I do not think that intervention in Mexico is intended. The president's order simply means that the national guard is called out because of the exigencies of the occasion—perhaps political exigencies. I do not think that it is intended they shall invade Mexico. My judgment is that they will be sent to some rendezvous to while the time away until some pretext is found for returning them to their stations. If the call is for an earnest purpose there is no guardsman but will most gladly respond. If the call is in any way associated with the game of politics the displeasure of the guardsmen and all of their associates will be visited upon the heads of those who play the game.

Rep. Madden of Chicago (Rep.)—The whole Mexican matter has been badly handled. I expect to support the resolution for drafting the militia into the federal service without delay if desired. I am anxious to protect the lives of American citizens and American property in Mexico. One objection I have is that it has been delayed too long. My regret is that when the president went to Vera Cruz to get a salute to the flag he came away without it.

"Uphold Wilson"—McKinley.

Representative McKinley, of Illinois, (Rep.)—I am for sustaining the president in any power he needs in connection with the Mexican situation. My continuing regret is that he did not ask for this power three years ago.

Representative Stafford, of Wisconsin, (Rep.)—Individually, it has been my opinion since the president delivered his message on the Mexican situation in August, 1913, that the president's initial and consistent position of opposition to Huerta would ultimately compel our government to intervention. It is only a question of time when we will be compelled to intervene and restore order.

Representative Sherwood, of Ohio, (Dem.)—I believe there are enough troops in Gen. Pershing's expedition now in Mexico to go right on to Mexico City. If there is work to be done, the national guard can do it.

Views of Indiana Men.

Rep. Cox, of Indiana, (Dem.)—I think that if the Americans go into Mexico that they should not stop until they raise the flag over Mexico City. They should establish a stable government.

Rep. Rauch, of Indiana, (Dem.)—Our people are in danger of border attacks and steps should be taken to give ample relief to that situation.

Rep. Beakes, of Michigan, (Dem.)—This getting ready for trouble will be the best answer to Carranza's bluff and will do more to ward off trouble than anything else that could be done.

BIG INCREASE IN BOY SCOUTS.

Gain of 72,000 in Membership in Last Four Months Reported.

New York, June 20.—Recruiting of the Boy Scouts has progressed so rapidly that within the last four months the membership has increased by 72,277, reports James E. West, chief scout executive. The net gain in membership since last year is more than 43,000 and the total registered scouts now number 182,982, besides 43,000 officially enrolled as leaders.

"This group of more than 225,000 men and boys is larger than our combined army and navy and almost as large as the proposed new army," said Mr. West.

PICKARD'S SALE OF HOOSIER

Kitchen Cabinets

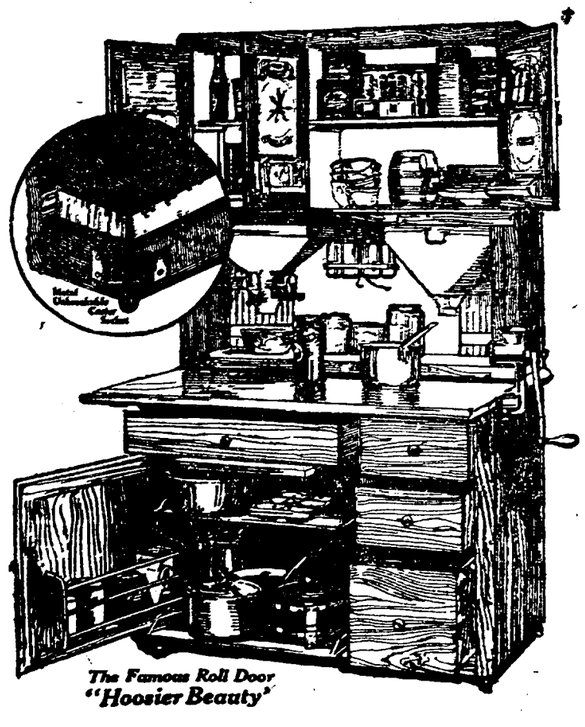
With Mr. Warren Ellenwood In Charge For THIS WEEK

Come and see what thousands of women saw at the San Francisco Fair last year, where the Hoosier won the Gold Medal awarded by the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Mr. Warren Ellenwood, who will have charge of this sale during this week, and who will receive the bonus offered by the manufacturers of Hoosier cabinets for every sale made within this period, is especially anxious to have his friends who may have been anticipating the purchase of a Hoosier cabinet, call and see his demonstration of this marvelous labor-saver.

Mr. Ellenwood, who has been employed by the Pickard House Furnishing Company for the past seven years and who previous to that time was with Alex H. Staub, is an enthusiast about the ability of a Hoosier to save housework and he urges the women of Fort Wayne and vicinity to come in and see this fact proven.

The Hoosier is really an "automatic servant." It has 40 features that aid you in cooking and save you time and labor.



The Famous Roll Door "Hoosier Beauty"

Its Perfect Construction Surpasses All Other Cabinets Made

Hoosier's Shaker Flour Sifter makes flour fluffy and light. Works faster than rotary sifter. Avoids grit or broken wire. Can't wear out.

--2--

Hoosier's Revolving Spice Castor puts the spices where you need them at your finger tips. No danger of knocking over any of them or spilling them.

--3--

Hoosier's Double Acting Sugar Bin is the only sugar bin from which sugar can be taken with equal ease from the top or the bottom; has three times the capacity of most bins which permits buying in economical quantities.

--4--

Hoosiers are made with hinge doors or full view roll doors above the base. The Hinge doors have remarkably convenient utensil trays. The Roll doors are open—no pockets or cubby-holes. There is only 50c difference in price between the two.

Remember, there are Hoosiers for farms, camps, apartments, big kitchens, little ones, for window spaces and the center of big kitchens. No further need for old-fashioned, built-in, uncleanable cupboards.

$14.00 to $43.00 { $1 on delivery, $1 weekly

If you think that you can't spare the time to come, then you confess that you need a Hoosier badly, because it would give you so many spare hours for a lifetime.

Come and see this Gold Medal demonstration! Get our low prices and money-back offer. And please bring some friend with you.

THEY'RE GOING TO PLAY AMERICAN GAMES.

HENRIETTA AND ARTHUR COLBRAN, aged 5 and 3 years, who until just a week or so ago, had never seen a white playmate, knew nothing of the delights of the kindergarten and were absolutely ignorant of the many interesting things that are common knowledge to most "kiddies" of their age.

The youngsters were born in the wilds of interior Korea and were the only white children in that region. As there were no satisfactory schools for the little "foreigners," they were taught by a governess.

They began to learn American ways when they arrived in San Francisco with mother and father the other day. A. H. Colbran, their daddy, is a wealthy mining man, who has spent 20 years in the Korean interior. He recently sold his holdings and brought his family to the United States.

Now Henrietta and Arthur are fascinated with the idea of having real white children to play with and a chance to learn American games.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

OUT AFTER NEW MEMBERS.

Laporte Chamber of Commerce is Trying Team Plan to Gain.

Laporte, Ind., June 20.—An unique plan to interest business men more easily in the campaign for new members of the new chamber of commerce has just been formulated by the membership committee. The thirty members of the committee have been divided into two sections and each section into five teams, making three men on each team.

The campaign opened officially Monday night and the team captains will report each night during the present week. The point system will be used and each new member will count ten points. The collection of dues from an old member will also count five points, while the collections of six months dues will count three points. A new member with no dues paid will count five points.

FUNERAL AT MONROEVILLE.

Decatur, Ind., June 20.—S. C. David went to Monroeville Monday to make arrangements for the funeral of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Cline, who passed away Sunday at 4:30 o'clock at his home on Seventh street. Mrs. Cline, who was seventy-four years old last Thursday, was the widow of George Cline, who died forty years ago. She has made her home lately with her children. Five weeks ago she came here from Monroeville on a visit and while enroute suffered a slight stroke of paralysis. Complications arose and she has gradually declined. For a week or more she had been unconscious and her death was expected momentarily.

IN TWO ACCIDENTS.

Columbia City, Ind., June 20.—Miss Grace Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, of Richland township, who spent Saturday in this city, doing some shopping, figured in two bad mishaps as she was leaving the city for her home. The first one happened when the Henry Cutcelt auto struck the buggy, and the horse she was driving whirled and threw her out of the rig, and the second occurred when the young lady started home the second time in another rig and the horse became unmanageable as it was passing the scene of the first accident. Both buggies were badly damaged but the young lady escaped with slight injuries.

ARRESTED FOR PROVOKE.

Bluffton, Ind., June 20.—Gottlieb Hannie, a farmer living north of Vera Cruz, was arrested Saturday afternoon, on surety of peace proceedings and on a charge of provoke, filed against him in Mayor Mock's court by Jonas Neuenschwander, a neighbor, who alleges, among other things, that Hannie threatened him with a butcher knife Friday night, at Vera Cruz. Their trouble is said to date back about two years, originating over a quarrel over a fence. Hannie's hearing was set for next Saturday at one o'clock, and Joseph Rich, a neighbor of Hannie, furnished bond for him in the sum of $100 in each case.

MARRIED IN FORT WAYNE.

Bluffton, Ind., June 20.—The announcement of the marriage of Miss Ethel Crum, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crum, of Uniondale, and Mr. Harley Cowle Osborn, of Ossian, a son of Jacob W. Osborn, came as a happy surprize to their many friends. The young couple came to this city late Saturday afternoon and procured their marriage license and departed for Fort Wayne, where they had the nuptial ceremony performed. They will reside at Ossian, where Mr. Osborn is employed at a garage.

TO ENTER HOSPITAL.

Portland, Ind., June 20.—Dr. Chester Frazier, a former Portland boy, but now a resident of Bluffton, has gone to Boston where he will enter a hospital there as an interne. He will begin his duties the first of July. Next year he will complete a course at the Indiana Medical college at Indiana university. He is a member of the Delta Tau fraternity at Wooster, Ohio.

DECATUR PASTOR TO THE FRONT.

Decatur, Ind., June 20.—Rev. Fred F. Thornburg, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Decatur, and chaplain of the Third regiment of the Indiana national guard, was notified yesterday by Col. A. L. Kuhlman, of Auburn, commanding the regiment, to hold himself in readiness to join his regiment for service on the Mexican border at any time.

PUBLIC LIBRARY BROKEN INTO.

Portland, Ind., June 20.—A burglar early Sunday morning broke into the Portland public library through a window in the librarian's office. Hearing the thief coming up the front stairs John Kutcher, the attendant, struck a match and the man ran across the front of the building and through the office and out of the window. Nothing is missing.

GIRL PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Keystone, Ind., June 20.—Miss Minnie Alexander, former Keystone girl, charged with embezzlement, pleaded not guilty in the Marion city court and was released under $500 bond. Her case was set for next Thursday afternoon. The girl's father, Harry Alexander, is quoted as saying that she had gone to Decatur to work.

MAY ESTABLISH BUS LINE.

Kendallville, Ind., June 20.—E. W. Howenstine, of Columbia City, is here investigating the advisability of establishing an auto bus line from Albion, Kendallville, Brimfield and Rome City. He owns two large 16-passenger motor busses which he can use for carrying passengers.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Hartford City, June 20.—Albert Thomas, farmer, charged with murder in the first degree, pleaded not guilty in circuit court, Monday, shortly before 11 o'clock. "No, I am not guilty," replied Thomas to the reading of the indictment returned against him by the grand jury.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to thank our many friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy shown us and for the beautiful floral offerings during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and sister.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BIG DEMONSTRATION NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

Monster Parade Will Be Given Under Auspices of Men's Christian League

Preparations are being made for a monster parade to be given next Friday evening under the auspices of the Men's Christian League. Every member of the league together with all others who wish to participate are requested to meet at the First Baptist church at 7:15 o'clock and march through the principal streets of the city to the tent at Main and Ewing streets, where a series of summer evangelistic services are in progress.

Detective Wilmoth, former patrolman, who sang with Loren G. Jones during the Lyon meeting and which caused no little commotion in police circles, sang a duet with Mr. Jones Monday evening. The "sunbeams" and "moonbeams" sang a chorus, "The Touch of His Hand on Mine." Mr. Jones also sang a solo.

While the attendance Monday evening was not large, there was no little enthusiasm and it is predicted that before the meetings close the big tent will be taxed to its full capacity. In making the evening announcements Rev. O. E. Tomes stated that he didn't bring an umbrella with him but wore a straw hat as he didn't expect it to rain. He said, however, that he did expect that Rev. Nipper was going to "get under the hides of some of we Christians."

Rev. Nipper's Sermon.

Rev. Nipper took his text from Amos 6-1, "Woe unto them that are at ease in Zion."

We are too prone to think that texts of this kind are meant for the man outside the church when a calamity hits a nation, city or home. But if you will notice, this text is directed to the church, and I believe that if God can keep the church where it ought to be, we are not going to have much trouble settling a lot of other things. Notice the text, "At ease in Zion." Long years ago there was a hill, and it was named Mt. Zion, upon which there was builded a city, and that city was called the city of Zion. It was from this city that the little group of disciples started to build the church. We look upon this body of people as the old ship Zion, so when we read the text, in Amos 6-1, we can read it. "Woe unto them that are at ease in the church."

When we give man the praise that God should have, we expect a calamity. It hasn't been very long ago since man made a great boat that was non-sinkable, and man was being given a great deal of praise. From the way he was lauded, you would have thought God did not have anything to do with it. But while a man was seated in his den in the dark hours of the night drawing up the blue print of the greatest boat that was to travel the sea, God was forming a great ice berg, and one night in the North sea, man's invention and God's creation came together. In my imagination I can see the finger of God pointing at the sinking boat and saying, "There goes the wisdom of man."

Must Be First.

When we let down on our support in the church for our own selfish purpose, we can expect something to happen to us. I knew a man that was very much interested in the church, but he put himself up a nice home, which is alright, but when he was called upon to take care of an obligation he made with the church, he said he was tied up too much with his property and that he thought he owed that to himself first. When I saw the same young man lying in state in the same beautiful home, the thought came to me, "Yes, you put God on the shelf and were looking out for a nice place to enjoy yourself and you have not lived to enjoy it." I tell you it is not fair to put God last. He must be put first.

Lust for Money.

The lust for money will bring calamity. If every man that is striving for money would put forth the same effort for the things of God, he would come out better in this world and also in the next one.

Money will not prolong your life. Every person wants to live just as long as he can, but money is the last thing in the world to make it possible. If money could prolong our lives, there would be a great many people that would live a great deal longer than they do. I have tried to imagine myself wanting to live to be one hundred and fifty years old, and I go to Thomas Edison and I say, "You are the man that does things, you are the man that has taken the spark from the clouds and has made the cars to run, and you have taken the same spark and have illuminated our homes, and I want to live to be of a great age and I believe if there is a man in the world that can do it for me, you can." I can hear him say, as a king in the Old Testament has said, "What do you think I am, a God?"

I have tried to imagine myself at the sinking of the Titanic and in the presence of John J. Astor, and saying to him, "You don't have to go down on this boat, you have too much money; it is all right for that foreigner who hasn't anything in this world, and is on his way to America to begin life, to go down, but not for you." That poor foreigner and John J. Astor, who both came into this world without a cent, must go down together and when they face one another in the judgment, one will be worth just as much as the other. We cannot bribe God just because we have a little money.

Cemeteries Would Be Full.

"Say if money would bring back your loved ones the cemeteries would be filled tomorrow, but money will not do it. Jesus, however, will prolong your life and will also give our loved ones back to us again, because by giving ourselves to Him now, we live cleaner lives. Any person who does that will always live longer. He is the only hope we have in the resurrection, at which time our loved ones are restored to us again.

Some one says I know of calamities that happened and Christian people have died in them, but this is only the old story of the innocent suffering for and with the guilty. Jesus was innocent and they killed Him, and knowing that He suffered for you, come and accept Him.

SOME NIPPERISMS IN TABLOID FORM

There are three kinds of people who work in every revival: The contrary; those who want to be coaxed, and those who come in on the tail end and then say, "Look what we have done."

Some people in the church are so cold they would freeze a thermometer in the torrid zone.

Fort Wayne doesn't need a lot of conversions so much as she does the Christian people to take a definite stand for Christ.

We buy umbrellas to keep the rain off, but it seems to have become a sin for some people to carry them to church.

If the gates of heaven could be pried open with money there would be a lot of people get there without Christ.

If you had a pile of money as big as this tent, you would have to leave it all when you said your last good-bye.

BEFORE AND AFTER AT VERDUN.

After the battle raged more than 100 days, Verdun looked as shown in the picture below.

GIRL TO MAKE DASH OVER ARCTIC CIRCLE

Miss Allen May Pay Surprise Visit to Explorer Stefansson.

Seattle, Wash., June 20.—Grizzled old Vilhjalmar Stefansson is going to peer over the top o' the world some fine morning and see—

Miss Anita Allen, co-ed.

And it's not unlikely that he will kick over a few icebergs and jump up and down like the northern lights.

For Anita, the best looking 20-year-old member of Delta Gamma sorority at

MISS ANITA ALLEN.

Stanford university, is in Seattle getting ready to make a dash beyond the arctic circle to see Vilhjalmar.

She is going with Capt. Louis Lane and a crew of millionaire whale hunters on the Great Bear to the land of the blonde Eskimos, around Point Barrow and Banks Land.

Explorer Stefansson, it must be explained, has been up there for a couple of years and he has a date with Capt. Lane. They have planned to meet when the ice breaks this summer.

Miss Allen, with her aunt, Mrs. Capt. Lane, was found at a hotel here, digging through a pile of maps. The young lady looked ready for anything but harpooning whales and shooting walruses.

She was dressed in white from her throat to her toes. She is the dainty smiling, girlish, campus type. Her home is in Palo Alto, Cal. She is the daughter of Mrs. Theophilus Allen, who is not the least bit worried about Miss Allen's adventurous cruise. So says Anita.

"I haven't any idea of how I can help a party of traders, hunters and explorers," confessed Anita, "but they insisted that I go along. I'm not holding that against them. Anyone would like to go up there, where no white girl has ever been before."

A typewriter, she explained, will be hers to pound week in and week out.

"I'm going to try to write feminine impressions about things that go over men's heads," she said. "Capt. Lane insists that I must harpoon a whale from a small boat and shoot a walrus before I come back. We shall see about that."

The problem of clothes is not bothering Miss Allen.

"I'll have an Eskimo parka of fur," she explained, "and flannel shirts. Don't say anything about trousers."

The Great Bear, the sturdy ice bucker which will be launched for the trip in a week or so, meets with Anita's approval.

"The name is just right," she declares. "The Great Bear is a bear of a vessel. She's so sturdy—30 inches through the hull—that when she hits the ice, well, I just feel sorry for the ice, that's all."

The explorers will leave Seattle about the middle of June. They will touch on the Siberian coast and trade with the natives and then go to Nome. Then the route will be up through Bering Strait into the Arctic ocean, around Point Barrow and on to Herschel Island and Banks Land, where strange people, strange animals and Vilhjalmar Stefansson are cut off from the rest of the world.

INDIANA MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Frank Moseley, Moore's Hill, Ind., writes: "I was troubled with almost constant pains in my sides and back and attributed it to weakening of my kidneys. I got a package of Foley Kidney Pills. Great relief was apparent after the first doses and in 48 hours all pain left me." If you have rheumatism, backache, swollen, aching joints or stiff, painful muscles, why not try Foley Kidney Pills? They stop sleep-disturbing bladder ailments, too. Dreier Drug C.—Advertisement.

New Wall Paper

Wall Paper? Yes, indeed—from the delicate Frenchy bedroom to the stately and dignified craftsman living room.

And, by the way, did you ever notice what a great difference the proper papering of rooms makes in the home—makes you love it more—kind of becomes a part of you and you like to stay there. And, too, did you ever stop to think that the decoration of a home makes all the difference in the world on your nerves?

Some jar and are discordant—while others are quiet and restful, and give a wholesome atmosphere of "Home."

Several large shipments of the most beautiful Wall Papers have just come in. Give yourself the satisfaction of looking them over, and allow us the privilege of helping you select a color scheme for your home.

Summer Frocks of Silk

New models just in, like those being worn in the cities by fashionably gowned women.

Georgettes have first call, made in many dainty, pretty styles. Very full skirts, long or ¾ sleeves, plain bodice or embroidered in beads—

$20, $25, $30, $35 AND UP

Smart Taffeta Frocks

An ideal summer frock for cool days and evenings. We're showing several new models—

$19.50, $22.50, $25 AND UP

The Outlook for Summer Silks Is Very "Blue!"

Just now the ever popular blue and white polka-dot Silk is on the high crest of Fashion's favor, and each day brings an increasing demand for it.

This week we are featuring particularly smart silk with polka dots—many blue with white dots, and vice versa. Very stunning are the coin dots of midnight blue on a white ground, the blue being as dark as to appear almost black.

See these charming Silks displayed in our East Window.

The Stout Woman

Because a woman is stout, it does not mean that she cannot obtain good figure lines and look equally as well as her more slender sister.

Stout figures properly corseted, are often a better foundation for the gown than a slight figure.

American Lady Corsets are designed for all types of figures, including many modish models for the stout and medium stout figure.

Whether your figure is slender, medium or stout, may we suggest "Your" American Lady Corset model?

Prices range from $1 to $5.

THINKS THE COLONEL WILL SUPPORT HUGHES

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 20.—After a conference here last night with Theodore Roosevelt, United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, declared that he believed the former president would support Charles E. Hughes in the forthcoming campaign.

"I found Col. Roosevelt looking much better than I had expected," said Senator Lodge. "Of course we discussed Mr. Hughes, but very little of Mexico."

"Will the colonel support Mr. Hughes?" he was asked.

"That is my impression," replied Senator Lodge.

Significance was attached to Senator Lodge's visit as it was said he had conferred earlier in the day in New York with Mr. Hughes and W. Murray Crane.

It was the first time the senator had seen Col. Roosevelt since the latter suggested him as a compromise candidate to the republican and progressive conventions in Chicago.

Senator Lodge spent more than an hour with the former president, after which he left for Washington.

How to Get Rid of a Cold.

Summer colds are serious. Read how C. E. Summers, Holdredge, Neb., got rid of his: "I contracted a severe cough and cold and could hardly sleep. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and the very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough all night. By using as directed the next two days my cough was entirely cured and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy recovery." Foley's always soothes and heals. Children love it. SPENT AN HOUR IN FORT WAYNE

President E. F. Kearney and Other Wabash Officials on Inspection.

The Wabash inspection party, traveling on a special train, passed through Fort Wayne at 11:30 o'clock this morning, en route for Buffalo, where they will get the board of directors and make a return trip, reaching Fort Wayne again Friday. Not all of the higher officials were in the party, a noticeable absence being General Manager S. E. Cotter, who will join them later. The personnel of the party included President E. F. Kearney, Vice President J. E. Taussig, Vice President W. C. Maxwell, Freight Traffic Manager C. H. Stinson, Passenger Traffic Manager J. D. McNamara, Purchasing Agent T. J. Frier, Superintendent of Locomotive and Car Department E. F. Needham, District Passenger Agent W. H. Shorey, Division Storekeeper E. L. Ensel, Engineer of aMintenance of Way W. S. Danes, Master Mechanic G. W. Smith and Division Superintendent E. A. Sollitt. This was President E. F. Kearney's first stop in Fort Wayne in his present capacity, though he has passed through the city several times since taking charge of the property. All of the local men, included being Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert, Local Freight Agent Charles P. Porter, Ticket Agent F. C. Eggers, Yardmaster James Gogerty, General Foreman W. J. Walsh, Baggagemaster Louis Lussenhup and others were at the depot to meet the officials and accompany them over the premises.

OLD AGE PENSION FUND.

Knitting Mills Company Makes Welcome Announcement.

At the annual meeting of the Wayne Knitting Mills Benefit society last night, President T. F. Theime, of the Knitting Mills company, made the announcement that the company had set aside $50,000 as a nucleus for an old age and insurance fund it was desired to establish and outlined the policy of the company as to future support of the system. The plan contemplates voluntary contributions by employes until the fund has been doubled and the payment of a $500 life insurance policy upon the death of a member. The details of the plan have not been worked out, however, and it will take some months to do that. On the suggestion of Mr. Thieme a representative committee of the employes was appointed to canvass the works, setting forth the objects and aims of the movement and ascertain the best means of working out the system. In his address President Thieme said: "If any of our employes should pay into this fund for a number of years and then drop out, they would lose any old age benefits, of course, but they would receive back whatever they had paid in. We want all our employes to feel that when they get old or sickness or disability overtakes them that they need have no fear or dread of the future. They won't have to worry as we shall have a fund to provide and protect and care for them in their old age."

COMPLETE THE BRIDGE

Nickel Plate Puts in Last Stringer at Osage Street.

Last night the Nickel Plate men engaged in the work, put in the last stringer on the piling for the temporary bridge under the tracks at Osage street. Moellering, the contractor, is now pushing the excavation work and expects to have the excavation wide enough to drive a team through it by tomorrow night. Then it will not be necessary to lose time turning the wagons that are to be filled with dirt. They will come in on one side and go out on the other, thus expediting the work. Excavating for the subway, while a big job, is not all there is to do by a great deal, and after that is accomplished, the work of putting in the concrete piers and floor will consume several weeks.

REAR END COLLISION.

Wabash Passenger Train Crashes Into a Freight.

Lafayette, Ind., June 20.—Eastbound Wabash passenger train No. 50, due in this city at 7:40 p. m. but running two hours late, crashed through an open switch at Attica at 0:30 o'clock last night, telescoping the rear of freieght train No. 63 whic hhad taken the siding. Frank Woodruff, of this city, was riding the pilot of the passenger engine and was fatally injured. Engineer Whipple, of No. 50, received serious injuries and Conductor McMullene, of No. 63, was badly bruised. The baggage car was demolished, as was the caboose and several freight cars.

HIT HARD BY THE CALL.

Eighteen Employes of General Electric Works Belonged to N. G.

While all of the industrial institutions of Fort Wayne were affected by the call to mobilize the national guard, none were affected more than the General Electric works, where there were eighteen members of the guard who responded and several recruits later. Among the latter was John Green, of the general testing department, and there are more to come, it is said.

PEDRO AND DANCE.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Borthernood of Railway Trainmen, will enjoy a pedro party and dance at Unity hall Wednesday evening. The affair is only for the brotherhood men and their families and invited guests.

Earl Rogers, of the Wabash freight office, who was operated upon at St. Joseph hospital recently, is doing well and hopes to be out soon.

Henry Uhlenhake, caller of engine crews for the Nickel Plate, has returned to duty after spending a few days at a lake in Michigan, where he was most successful in fishing.

Machinist Otto Fatzer, formerly of the Western Gas Construction company's plant, took employment with Foreman Charles Brenner in the main machine shop of the General Electric works.

H. W. Young, an assembler in the big machine shop at the General Electric works, is off duty on account of sickness. George McEwen, janitor in the same shop, is still off duty, having been sick over a week.

BILLY BRENNAN AT WORK.

Although he had a finger amputated less than two weeks ago, Machinist William Brennan is at work again at the General Electric works, commencing yesterday morning. He operates machinery in the big machine shop under Foreman Charles Brenner. Other machinists who had been sick and who reported in that department for work this morning were R. C. Cassady and Charles Armstrong.

RETURNE DTO OLD POSITIONS.

After an absence of over a year, S. P. Niswander, who had been conducting a meat market, and Fred Boigt, who had been working at the Dudlo Manufacturing plant, resumed their positions with Foreman F. S. Walburn in the transformer department of the General Electric works this morning. They were given a hearty welcome by the men with whom they work in that department a years ago.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Pennsylvania limited tonight will run in two sections, on account of the very heavy passenger business.

O. R. Rosener, assistant file clerk at the Pennsylvania motive power offices, has gone to Coldwater, Ohio, to spend a few days with his parents.

Switchman D. C. Murphy, of the Nickel Plate, is off duty on account of the marriage of his daughter, mentioned elsewhere in the Sentinel.

R. A. Blair, road supervisor of the Nickel Plate, was at Argos yesterday, looking after some track improvements that are in progress there.

Engineer H. L. Francis is visiting at Payne, Ohio, and Engineer Herb Minser is at the lakes fishing. They are Nickel Plate employes.

Miss Ada Garman, stenographer in the engineering department at the General Electric works, is spending a vacation in Pittsburg.

A. J. Francis, manager of the Chicago office of the General Electric works, is here on business with the officials today.

Nickel Plate Engineer Banner Fullerton is taking a lay-off to take an automobile trip. Engineer F. H. Telley is laying off to look after private business.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Richey, the former of the transformer engineering department of the General Electric works, have returned home after an outing of a few days at Clear Lake.

William Bittler, superintendent of water works of the Pennsylvania, has a force of men engaged installing new and larger water pipes in the blacksmith shop.

W. F. Graham, assistant fuel clerk of the Pennsylvania motive power offices, who is taking his annual vacation, will leave in a few days with his daughter for Rochester, N. Y., to visit relatives.

H. E. Crane, at the head of the construction and production departments of the General Electric works, has not been at his office for two or three days on account of the serious illness of his father, Attorney George D. Crane.

J. B. Fowler, division storekeeper of the Pennsylvania, took his seven-months-old baby to the hospital this morning for examination by several physicians. The little one has been ill all its life.

Oscar Bender, assistant to Foreman F. S. Walburn, of the transformer department of the General Electric works, who has been spending a week at Pittsburg, will return tonight and resume his duties tomorrow.

L. G. Otten, day clerk at the N. Y. C. yards, was taken seriously ill while at work yesterday and had to be taken to his home. He is threatened with a nervous breakdown. Mr. Otten only recently resumed work after a sickness.

B. F. Sarver, general foreman of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania, is again at the hospital and is making good progress towards recovery. Mr. Sarver went to Hope hospital a few days ago for a surgical operation for relief from tonsilitis.

The pay rolls in the detail department of the General Electric works, G. F. Rogge, foreman, again contain the name of Tony Hauck, a machinist. Mr. Hauck resigned three years ago on account of his health, but is now much better.

Engineers B. R. Garver, O. Mills, R. E. Helsel, C. H. Titus and G. B. Likely are at the lakes fishing and Engineers Pat Adams and John Moore are looking after private business. Firemen H. N. Madden and C. A. Bluff are also off duty for private business. All are employed on the Nickel Plate.

The vacation season is now on at the General Electric works offices and the heads of the departments are driven nearly to distraction by it, so great is the need for help of all kinds. One who started on two weeks vacation yesterday are H. C. Bryan and W. H. Becker and Miss Mary Leonard, the two former clerks and Miss Leonard is a stenographer.

Conductor C. W. Adams, who was off duty on acount of the serious illness of one of his children; Conductor T. H. Gallivan, who was sick a few days; Conductor G. M. Grummond, who had been spending a few days at Lake James; Conductor J. F. Welsh, who had been laying off to entertain his son, who came here from Pennsylvania a few days ago for a visit, and Brakeman B. H. Frush, who was looking after private business a few days, reported for work on the Nickel Plate this morning.

VERDICT IN WILLIAMS CASE.

Coroner McArdle Will Find That Mrs. Timbrook Was Not to Blame.

Coroner J .E. McArdle will probably return a verdict in a day or two finding that Hughie Williams, 10 years old, who was killed some days ago when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Roy Timbrook, came to his death as the result of an accident. The accident occurred on Lake avenue. The testimony showed that the Williams lad ran out in the street directly in front of the automobile to get his hat, and that Mrs. Timbrook had no warning or opportunity to bring her car to a stop before striking him.

IN THE CHURCHES

TWENTY DELEGATES OFF TO CONVENTION

Fort Wayne is Represented at State Sunday School Gathering.

Twenty delegates left Fort Wayne Tuesday to attend the Indiana Sunday school convention at Muncie, and other Sunday school workers will follow Tuesday evening on a special car.

The added feature of the convention this year is the singing conducted by Excell and Roper, who are trying to have everybody to join the choir, which will number in the thousands. There will be three rallies, the elementary for the younger delegates to the convention; the secondary rally will be for the middle-aged class of delegates, and last, the adult rally. Half of the day will be set aside for the Sunday school superintendents and matters that are of interest to all of them will be brought up. The convention will have plenty of prominent speakers who will address the delegates. Dr. W. E. Chalmers, of Philadelphia, who is the secretary of the department of education for the Baptist churches of the United States, will be one of the speakers of the day. J. A. Whitman, of New York; Dr. W. E. Crafts, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of Chicago, and Dr. von Klein Smid, of Tuscon, Ariz., are also on the program.

CITY FORCES WILL UNITE IN PARADE

Mayor Hosey Gives Warm Endorsement of Project for Thursday.

Mayor William J. Hosey today gave impetus to the city's health and beautification parade, which will be held Thursday, when he announced the city administration's endorsement of the event, and said members of the various departmental branches of city government would take part in the motor parade. Three thousand children, it is predicted, will ride in this parade, designed to impress upon them the potency of their efforts to help beautify Fort Wayne as they attain maturer years.

Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt, in whose charge distribution of tickets has been to the children of the city, conferred with the mayor today, and he told her that the motor apparatus of the city, including two new fire trucks, No. 3 chemical, ladder truck No. 3, and the fire chief's car, would form a prominent part of the parade. "I will see the chairman of the board of safety and will be able, I think, to arrange for the exhibition of the city's motor equipment," declared the mayor.

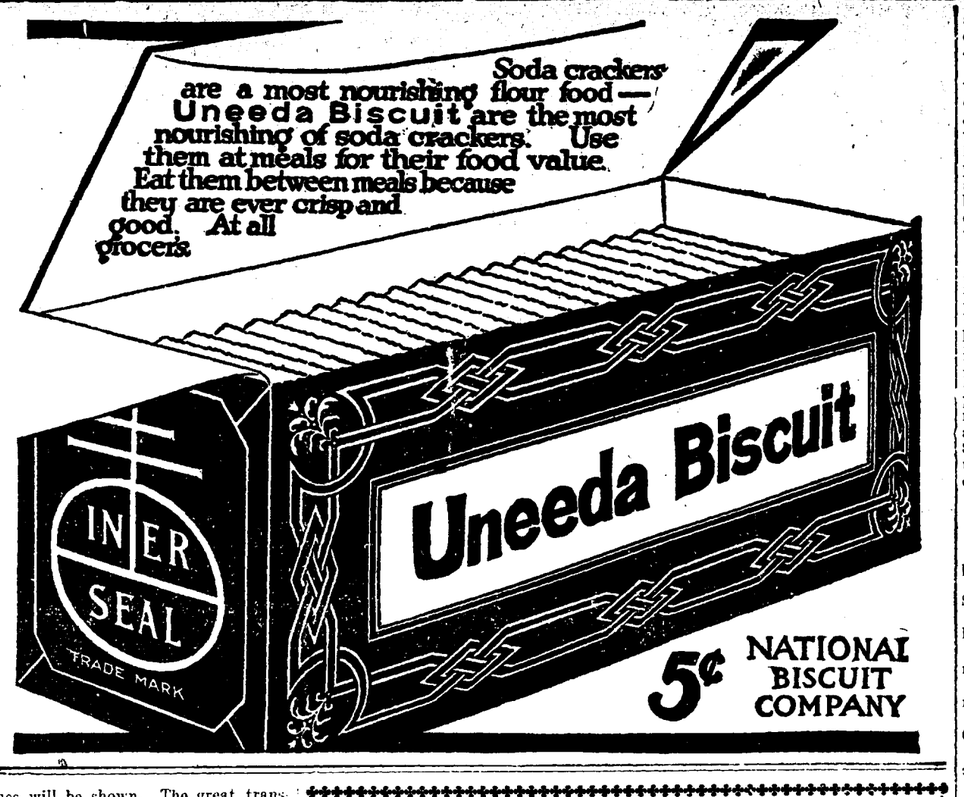
"This parade will be strictly an auto affair; no one will walk," said Mrs. Nesbitt today. She said the automobile committee would be doing effective work to get 1,000 car sinto line. This number, she thought, should handle all children desiring to take part in the parade. Charles Biederwolf, secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial Club, has sent notices to 2,500 automobile owners, asking them for the use of their cars. The parade will be the largest children's parade ever held in Fort Wayne and the event was enthusiastically planned under direction of the health board, the Real Estate exchange and the park board. These organizations have been co-operating with the Commercial club, the Rotary club, and the Fort Wayne Automobile association.

Children filled the offices of the health board today to get tickets permitting them to ride in the parade. Mrs. Nesbitt announces she still has a few tickets for distribution and these should be secured before the exact hour of the parade is forming if possible. The parade will form on both sides of Wayne street, west of the public library, heading east, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The line of march will be as follows: East on Wayne street to Hanna, south to Washington, east to Harmar, south to Maumee, east to Walton, south to Hayden, west to Hanna, north to Montgomery, west to Calhoun, south to Wildwood west to Fairfield, north to Brackenridge, east to Calhoun, north to Berry and east to the Majestic theater. The parade will cover eighty-nine blocks and be seven and a half miles long.

When the pageant has traversed the course the children will be unloaded at the Majestic theater to witness the kinemacolor pictures of the National Cash Register company, Dayton, O. The benefits of health and beauty in a city will be vividly set forth in these pictures. The moving pictures will be accompanied by a lecture and many Fort Wayne scenes will be shown. The great transformations a business organization made in the territory immediate to its plant will be shown in these pictures. The pictures are general in character, depicting civic efforts in many parts of the country and are the first of their kind shown in the United States.

Miss Minnette Baum is chairman of the ticket and chaperon committee and she has been active in the distribution of the tickets to the children. Fifty chaperons will assist the promoters of the parade in caring for the children and no risks will be encountered in allowing the children to enter the pageant, Mrs. Nesbitt declares. She says especial care has been taken not to cross grade crossings in the line of parade.

Street meetings in the interest of the civic health and beautification campaign will be held tonight at the corner of New Haven street and Edsall avenue and at Warren and New Haven streets. On Wednesday night meetings will be held at West Superior and Webster streets and at Fairfield avenue and Hendricks street.



NO BRIDGE THIS YEAR.

Park Board Balked in Its Plans for Spy Run.

A bridge over Spy Run creek will not be built this year by the county commissioners because the city has not provided suitable approaches. The park board had planned to install a dam connecting with the north abutments of the new bridge and form a basin that would serve as a swimming pool. The sum of $1,500 for that purpose was appropriated by the council last August.

Permission was asked from Comptroller Baade by the board of park commissioners to use the $1,500 to have been devoted this year to establishing a swimming pool in Spy Run creek, north of Fourth street, for the purchase of a lot 50x100 feet, at the northeast corner of Fifth and Clinton streets, adjacent to Lawton park, for the completion of the fill on South Broadway started last summer, for the erection of new backstops for tennis courts in Lakeside park and for the purchase of a $350 gasoline driven lawn mower.

The dam built by the city in the creek near Lawton park driveway bridge to make a basin to provide water for the condensers of the light and power plant is being used as a swimming pool and it will be necessary to provide another.

The lot which the board is desirous of purchasing, would cost $800 and it should be bought and added to the park, the board says, because the owner might erect a building on it marring the beauty of the park. Mayor Hosey urged that the lot be purchased.

The board passed resolutions of regret on the resignation of Prof. Louis Dorn as a member of the park board. Mayor Hosey says he has several successors to Prof. Dorn in view but he will not make a selection until the last of this week.

A combination boat house and comfort station will be erected on the bank of Delta lake in Lakeside park, just north of Lake avenue, by the department this summer and bids for construction have been asked.

Contracts with the Elk's band and the Fort Wayne Consolidated band, each of which is to give fourteen concerts in the city parks during the summer were signed at Monday's meeting of the board. The musicians will receive $2 a concert and the leaders $4.

STREET ORDERED VACATED.

The board of public works Monday adopted a resolution for the vacation of Greeley street from Webster to Ewing streets and from Ewing street to Fairfield avenue, a distance of two squares. Other resolutions adopted provide for the vacation of a driveway in Beechwood addition, the vacation of an alley west of Runnion avenue, from Mallary street to the first alley north, and the condemnation of a strip of ground along the Nickel Plate right of way, from Hanna street to Francis street.

OFFICERS WHO WILL LEAD FORT WAYNE GUARDSMEN TO FRONT.

CAPT. JOHN E. MILLER.

LIEUT. RAY M'ADAMS.

TENTH WARDERS TO MEET.

Wednesday night at 8 o'clock property owners of the Tenth ward will meet at the James H. Smart school to discuss improvement projects, chief among which will be a new fire engine house. It has been suggested that the city move No. 2 engine house to the south side of the Seventh ward, motorize it and let it protect for the entire southeast portion.

NO ONE PAYS SAYS FOUNDER OF CULT

Misha Appelbaum Declares That He Does Not Want Money.

New York, June 20.—Misha Appelbaum, who announces in large advertisements his desire to have national, state and city conventions adopt a plan to reorganize the president's cabinet by creating the position of secretary of welfare, modestly refuses to tell who pays the freight for his propaganda.

Mr. Appelbaum, "founder and leader" of the Humanitarian cult, will go to Detroit to address a meeting arranged by Henry Ford, who has indicated his interest in Mr. Appelbaum's plan for relieving the distressed, for uplifting the downtrod, and for making the world better and brighter for all hands.

"We are absolutely /non-sectarian, will not have any officers, will not incur any expenses and therefore will not levy any dues. Collections and/contributions will not be permitted."

HELD TO CIRCUIT COURT.

LeRoy Taylor Put Under $1,000 Bond in Assault Case.

Following a lengthy trial in the city court Tuesday morning, LeRoy Taylor, charged with having assaulted a 13-year-old girl, was held to the circuit court under a bond of $1,000

The little girl took the witness stand and testified as to the conduct of Taylor. He was arrested several weeks ago and his case had been continued. It is alleged that the crime was committed in the rear of a restaurant on Calhoun street.

Old Case Comes Back.

The case of Fred C. Lindenberg and Francis Lindenberg against Frank Valentine, on contract to collect $775, was today certified back to the Allen circuit court from Wells county. The defendant, father of the joint plaintiff, Francis Lindenberg, asked for the venue change from Allen county. The case, however, was transferred by mutual consent at the defendant's costs. The suit constitutes a claim of the plaintiffs for boarding and rooming the defendant from Dec. 1, 1912 to July 15, 1915. Valentine, it is alleged, agreed to pay a reasonable fee for such service. He failed to make payment and is also alleged to have been a burden when the plaintiffs were forced at times to care for him in an intoxicated state.

Auto Salesman Gets Divorce.

Howard Hoodmier, an auto salesman, was today in superior court granted a divorce from E. Laura Hoodmier, by Judge Yaple, at the costs of the plaintiff. The Hoodmiers were married April 1, 1900 and separated Aug. 18, 1913. The plaintiff alleged cruel treatment and desertion. One child, Ruth, aged 3, was born. The defendant did not appear to contest. O'Rourke and Lueke were attorneys for the plaintiff.

Taken Under Advisement.

The case of Gertrude Reed against Earl Reed for a divorce, which Judge Eggeman heard in circuit court today, was taken under advisement and it is possible a finding may not be given until fall. The court heard all the evidence. Mr. and Mrs. Reed were married June 18, 1914 and separated Jan. 6, 1916. The plaintiff alleges profanity. She asks a restraining order prohibiting the defendant from molesting her, and alimony of $1,000. The Reeds have been involved in two divorce actions prior to the present one. Reed is a teamster.

WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR CIVIC PARADE

Regular Meeting of Real Estate Exchange This Evening.

The Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange will meet this evening at the usual hour, 6:30 o'clock at the Commercial club, at which time arrangements will be made to take part in the great civic parade to be given on Thursday. Some of the real estate exchange members have predicted that the exchange will have one hundred machines in this parade, as some of the offices have signified a willingness to send three and even four machines.

It was the Fort aWyne Real Estate exchange that secured rMs. oJsephine Nesbit to assist in the better back yard campaign this summer.

It is important that every member be present at this meeting as there are other matters of interest to come up.

Edward Kearney, president of the Wabash railroad, St. Louis, Mo., was in the city Tuesday morning and promised Secretary Hilgemann, of the exchange, that on his return trip to St. Louis, next week, he would stop off an entire day and get acquainted with Fort Wayne. Mr. Kearney is very much impressed with Fort Wayne and predicts a great future for the city.

THE DEATHS.

WAGNER.

Frederick Wagner, aged fifty-seven years, died Monday at the Lutheran hospital following an extended illness due to uraemic poisoning. He had been a patient at the hospital only two days. The deceased was born in Germany, June 24, 1858, but had resided in this city for many years.

Besides the widow he is survived by two children, Oscar Wagner and Mrs. Fred Heider, both of this city, and three grandchildren.

The body was removed to the home of his son, 1109 Grant avenue, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. F. W. Knatz officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

ERTEL.

Frank Ertel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ertel, of 1608 Erie street, died at 12:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a local hospital following an illness due to complication of diseases. He had attained the age of 30 years. He was born and reared in Fort Wayne.

The deceased is survived by the parents, four brothers, Lous, Carl, Joseph and John Ertel, and four sisters, Mrs. William Hulker, Mrs. William Warner, Mrs. Frank Hoffman and Miss Anna Ertel, all of this city.

The remains have been removed to the family home.

PHILO.

Thirty minutes after she had entered St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday morning as a patient, Mrs. Ella May Philo, wife of Clarence Philo, of 1435 Broadway, passed away at the age of 27 years. Besides the husband she is survived by a son, Bruce, aged 9 years; the mother, Mrs. Emma Callaway; two sisters, Emma Callaway, and Mrs. Daisy Snider, and three half-brothers, Orville C., Robert and Arthur Callaway.

KELLER.

Mrs. Margaret Keller, widow of Abraham Keller, died Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the family home, 715 Barr street, following an illness due to Bright's disease. Two grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Celina M. Hall, of this city, survive her.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Foellinger.—Funeral services for Mrs. Christine Foellinger will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 2533 Broadway, and at 2:30 o'clock at Emmanuel Lutheran church, Rev. Phillip Wambsganss officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

Thiele.—Funeral services for H. C. Thiele will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, sun time, at the residence and at 2 o'clock at St. Peter's Lutheran church. Interment at the church cemetery.

Don't Envy Strong Eyes, Wear Meigs' Glasses and Have Them

The secret of the success of Meigs' glasses lies not in any mysterious art but in the fact that before we claimed to make the best glasses we equipped ourselves with the best facilities for sight testing and the most complete lens grinding plant in this part of the country.

With this advantage we endeavor to have the best part of our glasses not in the advertising but in the results.

TRY OUT TRACTOR.

A new tractor now at engine house No. 1, was tested this afternoon in Barr street by firemen in the yresence of the city officials, including Mayor Hosey. The tractor has a ninety-horsepower engine, and the truck can make forty miles an hour, it is claimed. The tretor was also to be tested out on some hills this afternoon, carrying members of the board of works and the board of safety.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

CROWS WILL PLAY AT HOME SUNDAY

Fort Wayne Will See Two Fast Teams in Action at Local Park.

The Fort Wayne Crows will play the fast Payne ball team here Sunday at League park. This is the second game of the five-game series being played between the two teams.

The Payne bunch of tossers are going fine and they are confident that they will lower the percentage of the Crows, which is bumping along about a 50-50 gait, playing most of their games out of town, which accounts for winning three and losing three games.

Lefty Grimes will be on the mound for the Paynites and will deliver some goods that has stuff on it. The visitors brought 200 bugs with them on their former appearance here and Manager Bradly says he will have enough to reach 300 howling fans. The centennial committee will turn over the grounds in as good shape as they received them and promise to have them in fine condition by Sunday. Baseball has a hold on the fans this year and the indications are that there will be a large crowd.

PLOGSTERTH WINS HIGH SCHOOL TITLE

Mulholland is Runner Up in Singles of Net Tournament.

The high school tennis tournament has at last been complete with William Plogsterth the undisputed young champion of the school. Monday afternoon he defeated Murdock Mulholland in the finals by the score of 7-5, 6-2, 1-6, 6-8, 8-6. The games were thrillers all the way through and the plays were thrill after thrill, the spectators standing up in their excitement. The semi-finals were played off last week with the routed favorite, Leslie Popp, being beaten by Mulholland, a dark horse in the tournament. Popp was considered the best bet of the local squad of tennis players and the announcement of his defeat was quite a surprise to the followers of the sport. William Plogsterth needs no introduction to the fans as he is well known among the tennis bugs of the city. His play was fine Monday afternoon, although he had to hustle to win his match. The series of champions are: Plogsterth, winner of boys' singles; Popp and Plogsterth, winners of the boys' doubles; Hackis and Kampe, winners of the girls' doubles, and Miss Helen Hackis, the girl champion, winner of the girl singles.

This tennis tournament has developed a few stars, Leslie Popp and William Plogsterth. Both were the stars of the tennis team sent to Culver, although Popp lost his match at Culver, it does not tell how Popp played against the champion of Culver. He lost his match by the score of 7-5, 7-5. Plogsterth has played consistent tennis all the season and has beaten all those who have come his way. At Culver he walked away with his match and helped his team come back with the laurels of victory. The team representing the high school this year are mostly seniors and a new team will have to be built next year when they again journey to Culver.

BECOMES $10,000 FIGHTER.

Ted Lewis has developed into a $10,000 boxer within a year. The British welterweight star has sailed for Buenos Ayres to fill a $10,000 contract for boxing Albert Badoud and one other opponent within the next six months. Just one year ago Lewis, who was trying to break into the select fistic society, received $96 for boxing ten rounds with Johnny Marto at the St. Nicholas rink, New York. Since then he has climbed the ladder with tremendous strides.

HORSELESS AGE CLAIMS "POP" GEERS, WIZARD REINSMAN FOR 45 YEARS.

(By Harold Johnson.)

"Pop" Geers is driving a flivver. Yep the horseless age has claimed the grand old man of the harness world.

The silent Tennesseean, for forty-five campaigns a wizard reinsman, explained the presence of his Ford runabout at North Randall track, Cleveland, as an aid to his business.

"I do this," said Pop, cranking up his flivver, "so that I can get to my horses quicker. I am not looking for any automobile records. When I want to satisfy my craving for speed I do it in a bike behind one of my steppers."

Geers declined to pose for a photograph while driving his auto—so he had to be snapped.

Like Edison "Pop" Geers believes the ordinary man gets too much sleep.

"Five or six hours a night is plenty and I could get along on less," said Pop. "I always start to bed after 10 o'clock and I am up and dressed by 5. I never needed an alarm clock in my life. Just as a matter of form I leave a call for 5, but I have always been up and shaved and dressed when they ring me.

"This will be the biggest year in the history of trotting," predicted the grizzled veteran. "There never before was such a crop of great trotters ready to go against each other in the Ohio stake at North Randall, the M. and M. at Detroit and the other banner stakes around the circuit.

"Capt. Shaw's Peter Mac is a wonderful horse, but he'll have the fastest opposition that any great horse ever faced in his campaign. And he will have plenty of it, too."

Geers has two speedy trotters for these big stakes. He will pilot St. Frisco in the Ohio classic and Bonnington in the M. and M.

FORT WAYNE GOLFERS IN WABASH

The Fort Wayne Country club's golf team will play the golf team of the Wabash Country club Wednesday afternoon at Wabash. Twelve members will likely compose the team. This is the locals' first out of town game so far this season and the result of their play will be looked on with interest. The local golfers will leave at 10:30 Wednesday over the interurban.

SIMPSON IN HOSPITAL.

Columbia, Mo., June 20.—Bob Simpson, star athlete of the University of Missouri track team, and holder of the world's record for the 120 yard high hurdles, was forced to enter the university hospital on Saturday with an infected foot. The infection started from a blister caused by a tight track shoe. The injury is not serious, but it will keep him off the track for a week.

CARRAN RECEIVES MEDAL.

Columbus, O., June 20—Charles A. Carran, of Lakewood, Ohio State's tennis star, has been selected as 1916 recipient of the Big Nine gold medal for proficiency in scholarship and athletics. Carran won the conference tennis championship in 1915, but handicapped by a twisted ankle was eliminated in the first round this year.

WILSON MANAGER WAS FOOTBALL STAR.

VANCE McCORMICK

Vance McCormick, of Harrisburg, Pa., new chairman of the democratic national committee, and the man who will steer the Wilson campaign, is 43 and wealthy.

At Yale he was a football hero, and ever since graduation has been interested in politics. When only 29 he won a sweeping victory as a democratic reform candidate for mayor.

FITZ HAD HIS UPS AND DOWNS HE'S FAST PLAYER NOW.

JUSTIN FITZGERALD.

Five or six years ago Justin Fitzgerald, just out of college, joined the New York Yankees and hit about .375 in quite a few games. His wonderful batting could not overbalance his weak throwing arm, however, and he was sent to the minors.

Fitz's arm went from bad to worse and he had all sorts of ups and downs, and finally he had to quit.

In 1913 he received his final chance to make good, Del Howard, then manager of the San Francisco Seals, signing him. Fitz went like a house afire, his arm began improving, and today he has a pretty fair "propellor."

Now indications point to his getting another chance in the "big show," Connie Mack announcing his willingness to buy or draft him.

Besides being the fastest man in minor league baseball, Fitz is a wonderful outfielder and batter. His arm prevented him from ranking with the greatest stars in the game. Fitz still is a young man, being not more than 26 years of age.

GRANEY'S AVERAGE HIGH.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 20.—Jack Graney, Cleveland's lead off man, has lined out more extra base hits this year than he has singles. Among his 56 hits are 27 singles, 19 doubles, six triples and four home runs—a total of 99 bases. It is figured that though his batting average is only .257, his slugging mark is .454. He is a hard man to pitch to and this record shows he has worked pitchers for thirty passes.

PORT DOPE

Heine Zimmerman cut out golf at the start of the baseball season and since hasn't spoken a profane word to an umpire.

Brick Owens is doing sterling work as umpire in the American league. One thing about Brick—he's on the square.

The Boston Red Sox don't miss Speaker any more than an auto would miss a spark plug.

You can't expect those Washington Nationals to move very fast without Shanks.

Those Giants are anything but devils in their own home town. They haven't won enough games on the Polo grounds this season to save their franchise.

As a rule a ball player's popularity fades with his batting average.

Connie Mack has signed a 17-year-old schoolboy named Crisp. Betcha this kid's a snappy player.

Add to the list of Hughes who in baseball the name of Long Tom, of the Boston Braves, author of a no-hit victory.

Something's radically wrong with the morale of the Athletics. The boys aren't running out their bases on balls in the old-fashioned way.

Joe Tinker predicted a pennant for the New York Giants. Joe has been on the stage long enough to appreciate good comedy.

According to Sherwood Nottingham Magee the Boston Braves are going to start climbing soon. Probably on some poor luckless umpire's neck.

Reports from the east have it that Tom Sharkey is broke. Somebody must have held the spendthrift tar while he went through his bank roll.

Johnny Evers has a sore arm. There are those rude persons who will maintain Johnny always had a sore head.

Father Chadwick probably will turn over in his grave if he ever learns that Oscar Stanage beat out a bunt.

Being as how he is built like a baloon its only natural that Wilbert Robinson should fly high these days.

History has been unable to furnish the date when Dario Resta lost an important automobile race.

ERTLE OUTPOINTS RITCHIE.

St. Louis, Mo., June 20.—Johnny Ertle, of St. Paul, and Johnnie Ritchie, of Chicago, met last night in the feature bout at the Keokuk club's show at the Federal league ball park, and, after twelve rounds of fairly good fighting, Referee Sharpe announced Ertle winner on points. Ertle was easily the master from start to finish, exhibiting a fight that was astounding, especially so to Richie. The verdict was a popular one with the crowd for it was clear that Ertle outpointed, outhit and outgeneraled his opponent.

Pearson Heralded as Greatest High School Track Runner in the Country.

PEARSON'S RECORDS.

100-yard dash—9 4-5 seconds, made in Spokane, Wash., May 20, 1916.

220-yard dash—22 3-5 seconds, made in Spokane, Wash., May 27, 1916, around a curve.

440-yard dash—51 seconds, made in Spokane, 1915, 1916; in Pullman, Wash., 1915.

Spokane, Wash., June 20.—Evan Pearson, who recently equalled the world's interscholastic record of 9 4-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash, is classed by northwest sports writers as the greatest all-time high school sprinter on the track today. Pearson, who is a junior in the North Central high school, has been tearing up the cinders with his speed for the last three years.

Pearson tied the world's interscholastic record for the century in a meet here on May 20. A week later, running against Washington State college stars, he hit the tape in ten flat, winning the race handily against a big field. The same day he won the 220-yard dash and ran on the winning relay team.

This sensational student sprinter is 19 years old and stands 5 feet 9 inches in his track shoes. He has never been beaten in the 100-yard dash by an amateur runner. He has been high point man in eight meets in the northwest. At the interscholastic meet on Stagg field, University of Chicago, in June, 1915, he proved an individual star and brought second honors to his school. He holds eighteen trophy cups won in northwest contests.

He has a habit of running at least four races in the meets he enters and in some he has essayed five with success. The 50-yard dash, the 100, the 220, 440 and the relay are his particular events.

Coach A. C. Woodward, former Virginia star, who has coached Pearson from his first turnout, says of his star:

"Pearson is the greatest high school runner in America and would be a valuable poitn winner in almost any college in the country."

Coppers Cut in When Merry Social Event Gets Too Noisy.

Homer Rehm's birthday party blew up with a bang Monday night when the police butted in. Homer had the assistance of Nina Grey in doing the honors, and she invited Helen Clayton, Rosella Craig, Mary Smith and a number of other kindred spirits to enjoy the festivities.

It was early in the evening, long before 11 o'clock, that they became tired of phonograph music, pure and undefiled, and raised their sweet voices in competition with Melba, Caruso and the Victor military band.

Then, of course, they had words—not many and not very harsh—and a couple of the ladies departed, going to a nearby store and stocking up on cigarettes. The police got on the trail of the merry makers, and when they approached the house there were sounds of revelry by early morning. The police solemnly assert that several of the ladies were in scanty costume, dancing in the parlor with the shades up, accompanying the winsome movements of twinkling toes by the snapping of fingers and the clink of bottle against glass.

It was a tangled wed right that they wove in the tribunal of Police Judge Kerr Tuesday morning, and Nina, Helen and Homer got ten and costs apiece, Rosella got five and Mary was let go.

The Evils of Ice Cream.

Harry Brown, Ed Meyers, Clarence Brown, Carl Vogelsang and Arthur Doehrman, as helpless and guiltless a looking bunch as has graced the court for several moons, were in on a loitering charge. Officer Reginald Majors picked them up in the east end, where they were engaged in eating ice cream cones about a movie house. One or two of them may have spit on the sidewalk too, according to witnesses, but even an alert prosecutor could find no trace of conspiracy to commit robbery, murder or matrimony. After being placed on the witness stand, where the hangers-on could gaze on them individually and collectively, they were given a fatherly discourse by the judge and allowed to go.

Other Cases.

George Clark and Joe Grant, a barber and a printer, told pretty straight stories and were held for further investigation. They were caught after a long chase by Officer Linninger, who had been investigating reports of prowlers and who followed them half a mile and found them hiding behind a fence.

The drunks were Arthur Fay, who got a $5 fine; Herbert West, $1; Pete Doenges, who was held till the judge could better dispose of the case, and later let go, and Theodore Weichman, a vag, got a continuance.

LODGE NOTES

The following officers have been elected by chapter No. 433, American Insurance union: George Ecker, president; Floyd Golden, vice president; Aurelia Olinger, vice president; Mary Wolf, chaplain; Teddy Michael, treasurer; Grace Blake, marshal; Ford McLain, custodian; Laura Gildea, warder; Alma Albright, argus; F. D. C. Golden, editor, Fred Bailey, trustee for three years.

A class of twenty candidates will be initiated by Edwards camp, No. 3127, Modern Woodmen of America, at its regular meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall this evening. A social session will feature the meeting. Monday evening Fort Wayne camp, No. 4751, gave a strawberry social in Aldine hall.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 200, Loyal Order of Moose, will give a dance and reception in the auditorium of the new home Thursday evening. Saturday evening a number of members of the lodge will go to the suburban home of Allen Martin, where the corner stone for the home will be laid.

KELLOGG LEADS FIELD.

Indications He Has Won Senatorial Nomination in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., June 20.—Indications early today are that F. B. Kellogg has received the nomination for United States senator in yesterday's primary election. Returns from 467 precincts out of 3,020 in the state give Kellogg 20,083; Eberhart, 13,082; Clap, 6,232, and Lindeberg, 4,551.

Gov. John A. Burnquist is leading for the nomination for governor on the republican ticket. The vote from 406 precints give Burnquist 22,988 and Samuel G. Iverson 7,151.

On the democratic ticket Daniel W. Lawler is leading for United States senator and C. M. King is ahead in the race for governor by a small margin.

SENTINEL WANT ADS ALWAYS GET RESULTS

HOODOOS That Creep Into MOTION PICTURES

If you want to get in trouble, go into a movie actor's dressing room and whistle. Bad luck! Worse than that. The person standing nearest to the door is due to lose his job. If you can whistle and get away with it; that is, if no one happens to be in the dressing room who believes in that particular kind of bad luck sign, try this: Hang a towel on the door knob. If that doesn't work, invite the movie player to spend the night at your house and set the bed so that it will stand crossways of the boards on the floor, and see what happens.

The screen players are recruited largely from the regular stage, a calling peculiarly rich in black cat-ology, and when the signs and omens that the actors bring along with them when they move over to the movies is added to the list that the new art is rapidly developing, there are quite a number of things that a movie player must or must not do to keep good luck on their side, and misfortune at a safe distance.

For instance, Mme. Olga Petrova, the Russian player with the Metro Program, believes that peacocks bring bad luck. She was working in a play recently when she stopped suddenly and refused to finish the scene. When asked to explain she said that the most prominent painting used in the set—an artist's studio, was one showing a group of peacocks.

Vivian Martin, the youthful Fox star, thinks it is the worst kind of bad luck to give or throw away an old pair of shoes, and she keeps all of her worn-out footgear. Miss Martin is a very young yet, but short as has been her career she has accumulated three trunks full of old shoes, and her maid is in despair. If she keeps on believing in the old shoe sign and wearing out shoes at the rate she is going, she may have to hire a storage warehouse to keep them in, the maid said.

William Farnum, also a Fox player, says he doesn't know why he always touches wood before he goes on a scene, but he does, and Claire Whitney of the same studio doesn't know either. She just does, that's all.

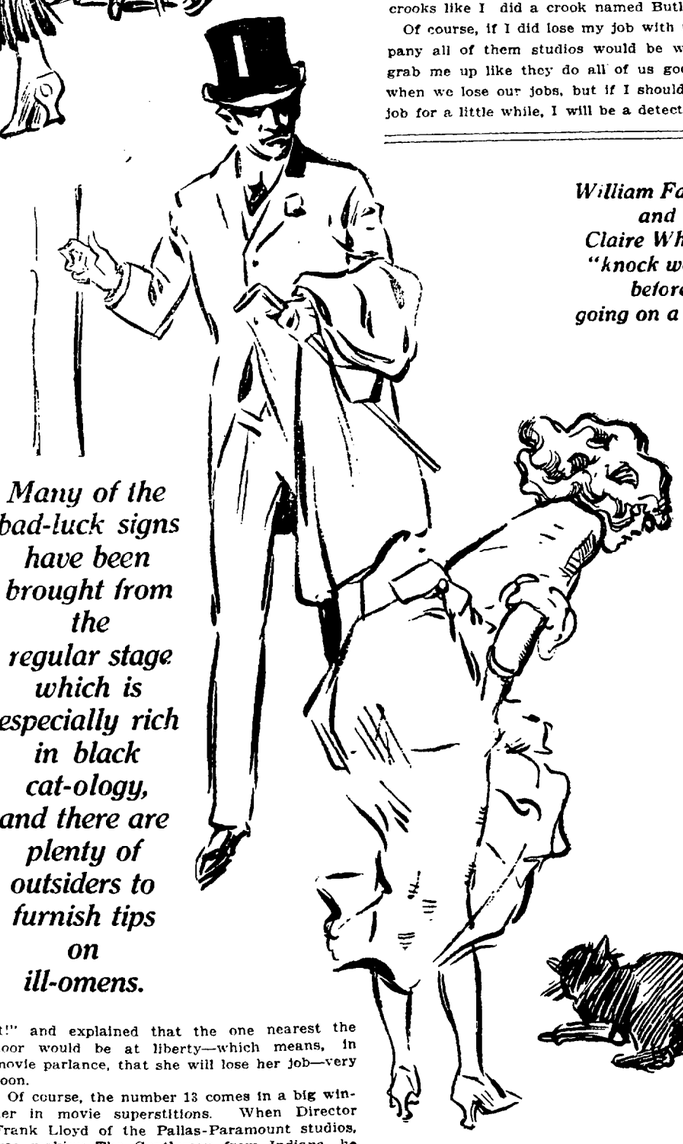
Theda Bara, the beautiful vampire woman of the movies, is steeped in various kinds of good and bad luck beliefs. She is said to have a collection of charms, amulets and other things of that nature that would make a voodooist's outfit look like a discard, and she always runs the cards and walks in a nice creepy graveyard before undertaking a new part. Henry Hilliard says it is bad luck to look at the moon through glass, either wine or window.

Stuart Holmes, the celebrated screen villain, thinks you must not see the reflection of yourself in a glass from which you have been drinking. Of course, everybody knows it is bad luck to look at yourself in too many glasses, but as Mr. Holmes does not state the kind of glass, it is hoped that he means the kind of glasses that would not offend the temperance people.

Thomas Santschi of the Selig Polyscope Company, who will take the part of "Stephen Brice" in the production of The Crisis, from Winston Churchill's novel, believes in jinx periods of time, and is convinced that 1916 is an ill-omened year for him. He has already lost a valuable gold watch and diamond-studded fob given him for good work by his employer, and the year is young. You can't blame Tom much, can you?

Valeska Suratt scoffs at bad luck, and here is the reason. She has a rabbit's foot taken from the left-hind leg of a bunny killed in a graveyard at 12 o'clock at night by a blue-gum nigger, and an affidavit along with it that proves that it conforms to the latest rules.

Sometimes the best of movie superstition fails. Not long ago Marguerite Nichols, a Pathe star, who was visiting, went into Corenne Grant's dressing room in the Balboa studies, in Los Angeles, and puckered up her pretty lips and whistled. Some girls are so proud of an accomplishment of that kind that they just can't keep from showing off, you know, but she didn't whistle long. Miss Grant cried, "Stop it!" and explained that the one nearest the door would be at liberty—which means, in movie parlance, that she will lose her job—very soon.



Many of the bad-luck signs have been brought from the regular stage which is especially rich in black cat-ology, and there are plenty of outsiders to furnish tips on ill-omens.

Of course, the number 13 comes in a big winner in movie superstitions. When Director Frank Lloyd of the Pallas-Paramount studios, was making The Gentleman from Indiana, he condemned 50 feet of perfectly good film because a property man had carelessly left one of these day by day calendars showing the date of the 13th, hanging on the wall in a hotel scene. After the scene was ended Lloyd noticed the calendar.

Even when the performers themselves are not superstitious, there is always some one to hunt up signs for them. Helen Gibson, the Kalem girl who jumps off swiftly moving trains and drops from the tops of bridges just in time to stop the runaway engine and keep it from crashing into No. 16, or whatever number the train is that carries the president of the road, or her lover, or the important papers—got a letter from an admirer not long ago that called her attention to a lot of superstitions that would shake the firmest nonbeliever in signs. This is what the statistical writer had to say:

"Dear Miss Gibson: Your series of railroad pictures was one year old in November. Now, I am pretty good at figures, and I have done some figuring, and I am writing to you to be careful during the next picture. If you don't understand, I will tell you why. Every week for sixty-four weeks you have been in a thousand-foot picture, which makes 64,000 feet of film. Now, in April you will start on the 65,000, and you will see that, figuring 5000 feet in a mile, that it will make your thirteenth mile. So you see I am warning you not to take any more of them terrible risks because the number 13 is over you. I like you and would not like to see you hurt, so please be careful."

Miss Gibson, who firmly declares that she does not believe in 13 or any other sign, says she is going to do some extra daring work in the next picture.

LETTERS FROM A CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL ACTOR BY A. H. GIEBLER

DEAR DAVE: Well, Dave, I am awful tired tonight because we had to act so hard today. Us leading actors have to do all the hard work and them other actors don't hardly have to do nothing. J. J. Murphy is making that serial I told you about. He took that scenario he had and the stuff about the boob detective and made one play out of it. It will be fifteen reels long, and when Dixon gets it down to the Dreamland you can see me acting there in the same play for more than three months. It will be just like reading a story in the papers that don't finish but keep on till it is done.

The serial will be called Tin Star Tom, like I told you, and it is all about a boob who thinks he's a detective. He gets into all sorts of trouble and gets throwed out of lots of places. It's awful rough stuff, and if I wasn't the leading actor in it and getting $50 per week I wouldn't do it.

I am the boob, but I guess I am not such a boob as I look, either, because I pulled off a pretty good stunt at being a detective day before yesterday, and if I ever lose my job as a movie actor and can't get another one I can be a detective and make a lot of money catching crooks like I did a crook named Butler.

Of course, if I did lose my job with this company all of them studios would be waiting to grab me up like they do all of us good actors when we lose our jobs, but if I should lose my job for a little while, I will be a detective while I am waiting for them to offer me a lot of money like Charles Chaplin did.

Movie acting is awful hard, and it is nice to know you have something good like being a detective to fall back on, ain't it, Dave?

Catching that crook ain't what made me so tired today, though; that was from riding a horse and falling into a box of stuff made out of chalk and water. J. J. had a set fixed up out in the lot that was a side of a house and he said:

"Now, Tom, you are supposed to be in a house and you run to this window from the inside and jump through the window, and we'll catch you with the camera as you come out."

I heard them carpenters talking about fixing up the scene, and one of them said: "Is that bed of white stuff in shape?" and the other one said: "Yes, it's right under the window," and I thought they was talking about a sure enough bed, one of feathers or something soft for me to fall on.

J. J. says: "Don't jump out of the window, just hang out by your hands and wave your legs around a minute and drop."

So I thought, well, J. J. was always saying I was afraid to do stunts, and I knowed he wanted good action in this picture, so I said, well, I'll give him some, and as they had a bed there for me to drop on I'd do something that would tickle him to death. So I took a run and shoot at that window and dived through it, and guess what kind of a bed they was talking about all the time, Dave? It was supposed to be a bed of lime and stuff to plaster a house with, only it wasn't lime, it was just water and some white stuff, and I landed right into the middle of it and almost smothered, and my hair got full of it and my clothes was spoiled.

When J. J. got through laughing he said: "Tom, old man, you done noble, and I'll buy you a new suit of clothes," and I said: "But why didn't you tell me it wasn't no feather bed," and he said: "I only wanted you to drop into it with your feet so the burglar you are after can track you by your white footprints wherever you go."

"Will it have to be done over again?" I asked him, and he said: "No, it is the best thing you have ever done the way it is and you'll get a $10 bonus along with that suit of clothes," so that wasn't so bad after all, was it, Dave?

And Bennie Steinbush butted in and said: "When Tom gets to be a real big actor and the press agents get a hold of him, that bus-driving job will be all changed. You'll read a piece in the paper something like this: 'Thomas Boggs, the great comedian who has just signed a contract for a million dollars a year, was the proprietor of a string of summer hotels before he went into the movies.'"

Jinks says she knows one of the biggest actors out here, and she read a story about him that said he was a landscape gardener, when all of that kind of work he ever did was to cut the grass in other people's yards.

Mabel says: "That's all right, but it would take some word artist to dope out anything romantic like that about a laundry," and she says to me: "Tom, if you'll shut up about that washworks I'll forget about riding from the depot behind them plugs when you was driving the hack. Now remember that I never looked a cake of yellow soap in the face in my life."

I said all right, so, Dave, don't you tell any reporter if they come around asking about me that I ever drove them plugs.

Then somebody says: "Somebody sing." And Mabel says: "Tom's got a lovely voice," and I sung "The Spanish Cavalier," and another song about a dying cowboy, and then I told them that singing made me kind a tired, and Bennie says:

"We are all kinda tired," and they went home, and here I am writing this letter, and I'd stop right now and hit the hay if I didn't want to tell you about me catching that crook the way I did.

This is the way I come to do it. I am that boob detective like I told you about in the play, and there was a scene where I have to rush into a house looking for a clew.

It is supposed to be a rich man's house. When we have scenes like that to make, of course, we can't build no rich man's house in the studio, so J. J. looks at the location book where they've got a lot of names of people who will let us use the front of their houses to make scenes of, and all these people out here will do that, Dave, because they are all crazy about the movies.

So we went to this rich man's house, whose name is Pershing, and J. J. told me how to act.

"You are supposed to be on the search of a clew, Tom, and you rush into this house with a gun in one hand and a dark lantern in the other, and a big tin star on your coat.

Vivian Martin thinks it bad luck to dispose of old shoes.

Me and Bennie Steinbush walked out there because Bennie said there would be a lot of girls there and we could have some fun talking to them.

J. J. was to come along with the camera man in the automobile, and it was just like Bennie said; there were six or seven girls there and we talked to them, but none of them wouldn't hardly talk to me, and I asked Bennie what was the matter with them; did they think I was going to bite them? and he said: "Hush, don't talk so loud; they have heard what a big actor you are, and they are kinda afraid to talk to you, that's all."

Then I found out that Bennie Steinbush had told them that the part I was playing was that of a crazy man who thought I was a detective, and that the Occidental Company had got a sure enough nut from a foolish house. That made me awful mad at him, but when he come out to the house tonight he brought a big box of candy and a doll for Lucy's crippled sister, and it is all right. Bennie is just a smart elleck and likes to play jokes.

After they found out I wasn't crazy they wanted me to act for them, and I says: "Well, I'll act out this scene for you," and I went down on the grass in front of the house and got out my gun and my dark lantern and come charging up them steps and rushed into the house.

There was a room at the end of the hall that was a dining room, and I run in there, and there was a man in the room who threw up his hands the minute he saw me. "I surrender, officer," he says. "You'll find everything under the floor in the garage."

I laughed at him for thinking I was a real detective, and he says: "You are one of them damn movie actors!"

I said yes. People can tell I am an actor as far as they can see me, Dave. Then he said: "Good-by!" and he jumped out of the window and beat it, and I went back on the porch and told them about that man, thinking I was a sure enough detective, and about what he said about some things under the floor, and one of the women that belonged to the house screamed and said:

"I knew that Butler took them spoons," and they all run in the house, but he was gone, and Bennie says:

"Tom, you big bonehead, why didn't you hold him when you had him?"

I said: "I didn't have him; he went out of the window," and we started out to get him, but a policeman had found him running down an alley and had arrested him, and he was a big crook, Dave, that had been stealing stuff all around in the neighborhood and hiding it under the floor of a house they keep their automobiles in, and there was a lot of spoons and a silver cup that belonged to a baby and a lot more things and some silver perfume bottles. And they put him in jail, and I was the reason of him being caught. Pretty slick, eh, Dave? I guess I could be a detective all right when that Mr. Butler throwed up his hands the minute he seen me.

Well, good-by, Dave, I am awful tired.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 20.—Wet weather in the southwest threatening to interfere with harvest operations had a bullish effect today on the wheat market here. After opening ⅛c to ⅜c higher, with July at $1.02⅞ to $1.03⅛ and September at $1.05¼ to $1.05½, the market scored more gains.

Complaints of excessive moisture lifted corn. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c to ¾@⅞c higher, were followed by something of a reaction.

The close, however, was strong, 78c to 78⅛c net higher, with July at $1.03⅜ and September at $1.05⅞.

Prospects of increased demand for army purchases gave decided firmness to oats.

The close, nevertheless, was strong at 1⅜@1½ to 1⅝@1¾c net advance.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 20.—Speculative interest seemed to regard the Mexican situation with less alarm today, although early dealings denoted a further undercurrent of irregularity. Mexican Petroleum regained two points, with advances of one to two points in Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive. Beet Sugar and United Fruit rails also made decided improvement under lead of Reading. St. Paul, New York Central, Rock Island and Norfolk and Western and U. S. Steel lagged at the outset but soon rose a fraction with some of the coppers.

Short covering was a considerable factor in the further improvement made by the general list during the forenoon. Mexicans extended their initial advances substantially and specialties in general, including the motors, made up much of yesterday's decline. Shipping issues were active and strong on reports of an early announcement of the Mercantile Marine reorganization plan and rumors suggesting the acceptance of the Rock Island plan of capital readjustment were helpful to that issue. Bonds were lower in the main but Panama 3s, which weakened yesterday, recovered a point on call.

PURDUE BATTALION MAY BE CALLED NEXT

Members of the Batallion B, of Purdue university, are expecting to be called to Lafayette within the nert twenty-four hours, where they will be held in readiness for duty along the Mexican border in the event of war with that country. No definite word had been received by Fort Wanye members of the battalion up to a late hour Tuesday. However, the call is expected at any time. Among Fort Wayne boys who belong to the Purdue battalion are Carl Rauch, Ralph Lose, R. T. Miller and Jay Havice. R. T. Miller is a sergeant in the battalion.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PARKS
OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

Notice is hereby given by the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Fort Wayne, that on the 12th day of June, 1916, the said Board deeming it necessary to make certain boulevard improvements, adopted the following resolution:—

BOULEVARD IMPROVEMENT RESOLUTION NO. 19, 1916.

BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, CITY OF FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Fort Wayne, that under the powers conferred upon this Board by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, by an Act approved February 27th, 1915, it has this day determined to improve Rudisill Boulevard from Piqua Avenue to Hanna Street, by constructing a six (6) foot cement sidewalk, including five (5) foot wings at all intersecting streets, and constructing combined concrete curb and gutter, all in accordance with the plans, profiles, details and specifications on file in the office of the Board of Park Commissioners of said city, which improvement as herein and therein set out is now ordered; that Monday, the 3rd day of July, 1916, at four (4:00) o'clock P. M., be the day when said Board will receive and hear remonstrances from persons interested in or affected by such improvement, and when final action confirming, modifying or rescinding this resolution shall be taken by said Board; that notice of the passage and purport of this resolution be published in the Fort Wayne Sentinel once each week for two (2) successive weeks.

The cost of said improvement will be assessed against the property abutting thereon.

The Board of Park Commissioners will on Monday, the 3rd day of July, 1916, at four (4:00) o'clock P. M., in the office of said Board, take final action confirming, modifying or rescinding said resolution, and at that time said Board will hear remonstrances of pertsons interested in or affected by said resolution.

D. N. FOSTER,
LOUIS DORN,
LOUIS FOX,
ABE ACKERMAN,
Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana.
Attest: CHARLES J. STEISS, Secretary. 13-20-2t

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, foosteps become lighter, your work seem easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

BILLY SUNDAY WILL AID.

Going to Grand Rapids Before Election to Speak for "Dry" Cause.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 20.—Billy Sunday, the evangelist, is coming to Grand Rapids. He probably will make two visits, spending two or three days here prior to the fall election to assist the dry campaigners, and returning early next year to put on one of his famous revivals.

Sunday was met in Chicago Monday by a delegation of Grand Rapids professional, business and clergymen. After being invited and urged to come here for a revival he gave the delegation his assurance that he would be here probably in February, 1917, to open a campaign and give the sinners of Grand Rapids an opportunity to hit his much famed trail.

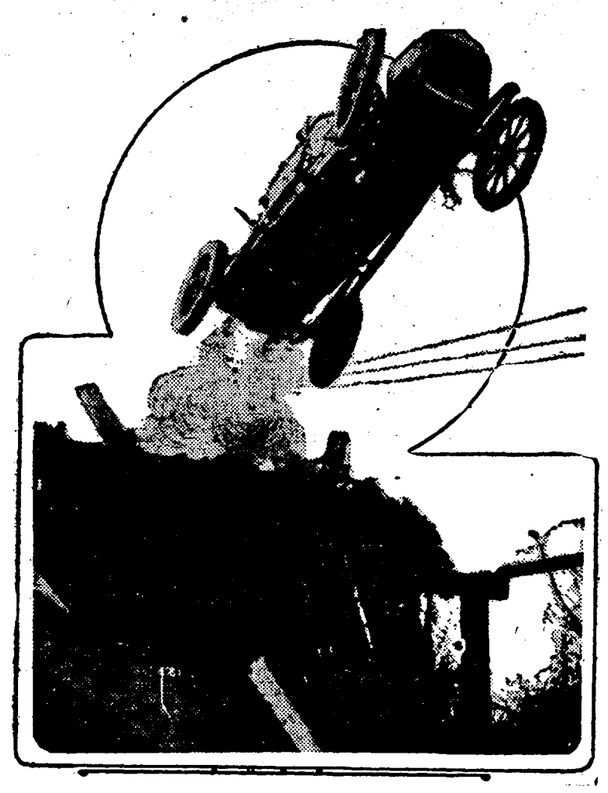
NO, ANITA WASN'T IN THE PLUNGING CAR.



ANITA KING'S automobile making a wild plunge off the end of a broken bridge for a movie thriller. The machine was raced down the road at 75 miles an hour. It sprang high into the air and cleared a space of 60 feet before it fell on a cushion of brush prepared in advance.

The picture was made near Los Angeles for a Lasky photoplay. The press agent was in error in regard to Miss King's presence in the car. Anita wasn't in it. She is too much of a star to risk her life foolishly. But, someway or other, you think there is someone in the car. It is a clever picture.

WOUNDED BOY IS OPERATED UPON

Whitley County Lad Meets Injury When Shotgun is Discharged.

Glen Christman, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Christman, residing near Columbia City, who was accidentally shot by a target rifle Sunday, the bullet lodging in the left lobe of the liver, has been brought to the Lutheran hospital, where an operation was performed by Dr. H. A. Duemling.

The young lad with two of his brothers, Howard and Arthur, and Wilber Pressler, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Pressler, who reside near the Christman home, spent Sunday morning at Crooked lake and had returned home for dinner. Shortly after noon they met again at the Christman home and went to the granary, where Wilber Pressler and Howard Christman proceeded to repair a bicycle. The other two boys took seats on the steps of the granary and the target rifle which they had with them during the forenoon was setting nearby.

Without the slightst warning the gun fel over and was dicharged. The bullet as it left the gun hit Glen Christman between the third and fourth rib in the left armpit, passed through the left lung into the stomach and finally lodged in the left lobe of the liver.

The boy stood the trip to Fort Wayne and the operation remarkably well and the attending physician has great hope for his recovery.

MOSQUITO PEST PREVENTABLE.

Mosquitoes breed in a spoonful of stagnant water and many empty tin cans, thrown outdoors to be filled with rain, form an excellent habitat for them, according to Dr. John H. Gilpin, of the board of public health. He declares they are an unnecessary annoyance in a city of the sanitary perfection of Fort Wayne.

RUSH THE TROOPS PLEA OF FUNSTON

American General Urges Haste in Getting Line on Border from Brownsville to the Pacific Ocean.

ROGERS AIDS AMERICANS TO FLEE MEXICO CITY

San Antonio, Texas, June 20.—General Funston today requested the war department to send to him, as soon as possible, a large part of the national guardsmen to be stationed along the Mexican border "from Brownsville to the Pacific ocean."

General Funston did not make public the exact number requested bu tsaid he had asked for enough to provide "adequate protection" of the border.

He also withheld the names of the stations to which the guardsmen would be sent although admitting that a considerable force would be mobilized at San Antonio as a reserve.

BRINGS AMERICANS FROM MEXICO CITY

Washington, June 20.—Special Agent Rodgers at Mexico City notified the state department today that he was arranging for a special train to take Americans and other foreigners from Mexico City to Vera Cruz. He said he would remain at his post.

Mr. Rodgers' message told of many anti-foreign demonstrations, parades and mass meetings in the Mexican capital and increasingly bitter sentiment. No open acts of violence were reported.

Gen. Funston's request for national guardsmen reached the war department after noon and resulted in telegraphic requests for information as to when the forces of certain states would be able to move. Orders for entrainment of units ready for service were expected before night.

MAKES A BID FOR MOOSERS

Indiana Prohi Chairman Sends Out Overtures to Progressives.

SAYS HANLY HAS POINTED THE WAY

Invites Them to Unite With Cold Water Party in This Campaign.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—The prohibition party, through its state chairman, J. Raymond Schmidt, today extended an invitation to the progressive party of Indiana in a letter to Edwin M. Lee, progressive state chairman, to unite with the prohibitionists in the coming campaign. The letter follows:

"The prohibition state committee extends a hearty invitation to you and all other Indiana progressives to affiliate with the prohibition party and support its ticket and platform in the election of Nov. 7, 1916.

"'In human welfare' as set forth in your platform principles, both in 1912 and 1914, has been the central thought of the prohibition party declarations since the party's founding in 1872.

"Your enthusiastic partisans will never support New, Watson, Goodrich and such standpatism, as they typify or follow the lead of the democratic reactionaries, such as Taggart, Adair and Cook. Your choice for governor at the March primary, ex-Gov. Frank Hanly, in declaring himself henceforth a prohibitionist, has simply pointed the way to a union of forces, that if consummated, will mean the greatest possible progress of national prohibition, woman suffrage, a non-partisan commission of tariff experts, adequate labor legislation and true Americanism that, through Christian diplomacy, will make the influence of our nation the greatest in the shaping of the world's destiny.

"As prohibition state chairman, I propose that a time be fixed for representatives of your party and ours to get together previous to your state convention for a thorough consideration of such haction as shall hasten the amalgamation of the real defenders of humanity in Indiana politics. With your concurrence in the above the prohibition state committee in session at the hotel English Monday, June 26, will appoint the conferees of the prohibition party."

Newton McIntyre, jitney bus driver, who was fined $25 and costs in the city court Monday for unnecessary noise in the zone of silence about Hope hospital, paid his fine in settlement of the case. He was not locked up as erroneously stated, but when taken into custody by the officers he gave bond promptly. McIntyre declares he was unfamiliar with the zone of silence regulations and that he did not offend after having been warned regarding them.

BURDEN OF RESULTS IS PUT ON CARRANZA

America's Flat Rejection of His Demand to Withdraw Troops from Mexico is Handed to Arredondo.

Washington, June 20. — The American note flatly rejecting Gen Carranza's demand for the withdrawal of U. S. troops from Mexico and rebuking the Carranza government for the discourteous tone and temper of its last communication was handed today to Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate.

Long continued outrages against Americans and their property both in Mexico and on American soil are reviewed in the note and warning given that the troops will be kept in Mexico until such a time as the de facto government performs the duty which the United States has not sought, are pursuing the bands who ought to be arrested and punished by the Mexican government.

It concludes with the statement that if the de facto government continued to ignore this obligation and carries out its threat to defend its territory by an appeal to arms against the American troops the gravest consequences will follow.

U. S. Will Not Recede.

"While the government would deeply regret such a result," says the note, "it cannot recede from its settled determination to maintain its national rights and to perform its full duty in preventing further invasions of the territory of the United States and in removing the peril which Americans along the international boundary have borne so long with patience and forbearance.

"I am reluctant to be forced to the conclusion which might be drawn from the circumstances," Secretary Lansing declares, "that the de facto government in spite of the crimes committed and the sinister designs of Villa and his followers, did not and does not now intend or desire that these outlaws should be captured, destroyed or dispersed by American troops, or at the request of this government by Mexican troops."

Answers Question of Purpose.

The purposes of the United States government towards Mexico questioned in the last Mexican note are answered in the following language:

"If a denial is needed that this government has ulterior and improper motives in its diplomatic representations or has countenanced the activities of

EXPECT TO BE HERE ALL WEEK

Captain Miller Does Not Anticipate Call Before Saturday.

Company E Will Report With More Than War Strength.

Captain John E. Miller now believes that company E, Indiana national guard, will not be called before Saturday, by which time he expects to have a company numbering 175 men, twenty-five more than war strength.

Reports received Tuesday indicated that the various Indiana companies would not be required to report at Fort Benjamin Harrison before Saturday, from which place the militiamen will probably be sent to the Mexican border for patrol duty. However, it is not believed likely that even after going in camp at Fort Harrison that they will be called out for some little time. Once at the fort the men will be drilled every day and whipped into line for real service in the event of war.

Fifty New Recruits.

Since opening the temporary recruiting station in the armory, on West Main street, Monday, about fifty new recruits have been mustered in and this number will be greatly increased before evening. Captain Miller is confident that he will have but little difficulty in securing 175 men by the time the local company is called.

That all the men who are now mem-

TRACY KINGMAN SEEKS FREEDOM

Fort Wayne Musician Asks State Pardon Board for Clemency.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—Among the pleas for clemency presented to the state pardon board here yesterday was that of Tracy J. Kingman, a Fort Wayne musician. Kingman was sentenced to prison for a term of one to fourteen years on his plea of guilty to stealing an automobile in 1915. His sentence will expire in September, but friends are endeavoring to secure his immediate release.

Mrs. E. B. Stotsenburg, wife of E. B. Stotsenburg, attorney general of Indiana, presented the case of Charles Terry, colored, convicted in Floyd county of the murder and sentenced to the state prison for life in 1901. Mr. and Mrs. Stotsenburg have taken an interest in the case of the colored man, because of an aged mother known familiary to citizens of New Albany as Aunt Molly.

Aunt Molly, in person, pleaded the case of her son three months ago, before the board. The mother is growing old and needs the support of her son, who is now forty years old; Mrs. Stotsenburg said. Terry has served fourteen years in prison and has been a trusty for the last seven years.

The mother and stepfather of Beecher Eye, a sixteen-year-old boy, sent to the Indiana Boys' school from Delaware county in February, 1915, for stealing coal, appeared before the board in his petition for release from the school. A letter from the superintendent of the school said that the boy is now learning a trade and should not be released at this time.

DRIVER HURT WHEN AUTO HITS BICYCLE

Edgar Miller, residing on Michigan avenue, was injured at noon Tuesday when the Ford Automobile belonging to Lehnert and Geller, grocers at Broadway and Taylor, struck a bicycle as an employe of the Wabash shops was coming out of the shops on Fairfield avenue. The truck was going at a lively clip, according to bystanders, and in attempting to turn out to keep from striking the bicycle the machine turned completely over and was badly damaged. Miller was thrown for some little distance, but fortunately his injuries are not serious. The Wabash employe, although thrown from his wheel escaped without a scratch.

BULLETIN.

El Paso, Texas, June 20.—An admission that the Mexicans who fired upon the American expedition retiring from Mexico near Matamoras last Saturday were Carranzistas not bandits was contained in a message received today at the Mexican consulate from H. Peres Abreau, director of the de facto consular service.

BULLETIN.

Washington, June 20.—At the cabinet meeting today, the opinion prevailed that the chances were overwhelmingly in the direction of war with Mexico. The one hope was that Gen. Carranza would be impressed by the military preparations of the United States and make no further efforts to have American troops withdrawn. There has been no indication, however, that Carranza's intentions peaceful and every move is being planned in the belief that hostilities may begin at any moment.

BULLETIN.

Brownsville, Texas, June 20.—Passengers arriving at Matamoras, opposite here today reported a rumor was current in Monterey that a party of Americans at Cerralvo, an isolated mining town in Nuevo Leon, were massacred by Mexicans.

German Troops Break Resistance of Russian Line at Some Points.

TEUTONS FORGING THEIR WAY FORWARD

Have Won Some Successes Against Terrific Drive of Russian Hosts

Berlin, June 20.—German troops have broken the resistance of Russians at various points northwest of Lutsk and are fighting their way forward, the war office announced today.

The German successes were won between the Kovel-Lutsk railroad and the Turia river. The resistance of the Russians was especially stubborn in the region of Kiselin, 25 miles northwest of Lutsk.

French Machine Gun Fire Beats Back the German Attacks.

Paris, June 20.—Three German attacks made last night on the French positions northeast of hill No. 321 were repulsed by the fire of the French machine guns, according to an official statement issued today by the war office. Germans are heavily bombarding the French positions in the neighborhood of Vaux, Chapitre and Chattancourt.

BROTHER OF TEXAS MAYOR IS MURDERED

Brownsville, Texas, June 20.—The body of Wm. Browne, a brother of Mayor Albert Browne, of this city, was found in the Rio Grande river, on the Mexican side, ten miles south of Matamoras today.

Browne is said to have been last seen in Matamoras Saturday afternoon. He is believed to have been murdered.

NOW AT FULL PEACE QUOTA

MANY OLD MEMBERS BACK FOR SERVICE

Indianapolis Has Taken on Pronounced Military Atmosphere.

Indianapolis, June 20.—Indianapolis today took on a military atmosphere rapidly with the possibility of the advent here of the entire Indiana national guard within the next few days becoming more sure. The guard headquarters at the state house was opened early and soon was a beehive of martial industry.

Reports from company commanders throughout the state as to recruiting and the reporting of old members for service were more gratifying to the guard officers than those of yesterday.

Approximately the full peace strength of the entire guard was reached today, according to Franklin Bridges, adjutant general of Indiana. The recruiting will proceed in each company until as nearly war strength as possible is reached, the adjutant general announced.

AT CAMP WHITMAN

Beckman, N. Y., June 20—Camp Whitman was ready today when the first national guardsmen began to arrive for the period of training which will fit 17,000 or more men within the next two weeks for service on the Mexican frontier. A field bakery with a capacity of 15,000 loaves of bread daily, and wells designed to supply 400,000 gallons of water daily were ready for use. Col. Henry Sternberger, quartermaster in charge, announced that he had completed the purchase of 150,000 pounds of beef, 40,000 pounds of ham, 200,000 pounds of flour, 40,000 pounds of bacon and 500,000 pounds of ice, much of which was in transit.

The Central New England spur to the camp from Greenhaven was ready for the 9,000 men who it was expected would arrive today.

CHILDREN BY SCORES SEEKING EMPLOYMENT

School sessions are over with and vacation time has arrived for the children, but many are seeking employment in which they can engage during the few months of rest from school duty. Evidence of this is plainly seen in the office of the school attendance officer where permits are issued for children, in compliance with the child labor law of Indiana passed in 1913 as an amendment to the law of 1911.

The man in charge of this office was busy the entire day Monday filling out application blanks for children and he also experienced the same rush Tuesday morning. Fort Wayne is very strict in the observance of this law, which does not permit men to employ any child under the age of fourteen years or any person who has not completed the fifth grade in school.

EIGHT CENTS EASES AN ALEXANDER CONSCIENCE.

Washington, June 20.—Two persons eased their mind today by contributions to the conscience fund of the United States treasury, which was enriched recently by $30,000. One of today's offerings was for eight cents from Alexandria, Ind., and the other for five cents from a postoffice in Pennsylvania.

Uncle Sam's Reply to Carranza Which Will Mean Peace or War With Mexico

Washington, June 20.—The text of the United States note to Mexico, rejecting Carranza demands that American troops be withdrawn, is as follows:

"The Secretary of State to the Secretary of Foreign Relations of the De Facto Government of Mexico.

"Department of State, Washington, June 20, 1916:

"Sir: I have read your communication which was delivered to me on May 22, 1916, under instructions of the chief executive of the de facto government of Mexico on the subject of the presence of American troops in Mexican territory and I would be wanting in candor if I did not, before making answer to the allegations of fact and the conclusions reached by your government, express the surprise and regret which have been caused this government by the discourteous tone and temper of this last communication of the de facto government of Mexico. The government of the United States has viewed with deep concern and increasing disappointment the progress of the revolution in Mexico.

Bloodshed and Disorder.

"Continuous bloodshed and disorders have marked its progress. For three years the Mexican republic has been torn with civil strife: the lives of Americans and other aliens have been sacrificed: vast properties developed by American capital and enterprise have been destroyed or rendered non-productive: bandits have been permitted to roam at will through the territory contiguous to the United States and to seize without punishment the property of Americans, while the lives of citizens of the United States who ventured to remain in Mexican territory or to return to protect their interests have been taken, in some cases barbarously taken, and the murderers have been neither apprehended nor brought to justice. It would be difficult to find in the annals of the history of Mexican conditions more deplorable than those which have existed there during these recent years of war.

Eumeration Too Tedious.

It would be tedious to recount instance after instance outrage after outrage, atrocity after atrocity, to illustrate the true nature and extent of the widespread conditions of lawlessness and violence which have prevailed During the past nine months in particular the frontier of the United States along the lower Rio Grande has been thrown into a state of constant apprehension and turmoil because of frequent and sudden incursions into American territory and depredations and murders on American soil by Mexican bandits who have taken the lives and destroyed property of American citizens, some times carrying American citizens across the boundary with the booty seized. American garrisons have been attacked at night, American soldiers killed and their equipment and horses stolen, American ranches have been raided, property stolen and destroyed and American trains wrecked and plundered. The attacks on Brownsville, Red House Ferry, Progreso postoffice and Las Peladas all occurring during September last, are typical. In these attacks on American territory Carranzista adherents and even Carranzista soldiers took part in the looting, burning and killing. Not only were these murders characterized by ruthless brutality but uncivilized acts of mutilation were perpetrated.

Representations to Carranza.

Representations were made to Gen. Carranza and he was emphatically re-

HUNGER IS SWELLING NEW CARRANZA ARMY

El Paso, Texas, June 20.—Hunger is swelling the army that Gen. Carranza is recruiting in Northern Mexico, according to stories brought here today by Americans arriving from the interior. Peons, who for some time have been on the verge of starvation, have been flocking to his standard in the last few days, in return for promises of food and clothing, they said. No applicants have been rejected, according to stories which told of boys of ten and twelve years of age and old men being recruited.

One of the arrivals, an American business man of Mexico City, estimated that there are now 25,000 Carranza troops in Chihuahua state, of whom about 2,000 are in Chihuahua City, 4,000 in Juarez and 5,000 in Villa Ahumada, the northern Chihuahua base, which is ninety-three miles south of El Paso. The remainder practically surround the American expeditionary command on the southeast and west.

AMERICANS HASTEN HOMEWARD

Tell of Hurried Rush of Mexican Citizens to Arms.

Douglas, Ariz., June 20.—One hundred Americans, including 20 women and children, arrived here from Nacozari, Mex.

Early Sunday morning the official message of Governor De la Huerta, calling on the citizens to arm themselves was received in Nacozari and Pilares, twin mining camps. In Pilares the miners rounded up all Americans and held them under guard for 24 hours.

In the meantime arms were supplied in the plaza to all persons who applied for them. Similar scenes were enacted in Nacozari though Americans were not molested. Monday on orders from Gen. Calles the prisoners in Pilares were released. At 5 o'clock orders came through the company management from Consul Frederick Simpich that foreigners must leave Mexico at once. A number of Mexican families accompanied the Americans as far north as Agua Prieta, but before crossing the line they were forced to leave the train by orders of Gen. Calles. Three French subjects in Cumpas are also preparing to come to the border.

WARSHIPS BRING DEAD.

English Who Lost Life in Sea Battle Brought to Shields.

New York, June 20.—Officers of the Norwegian steamer Storfond, which arrived today from Shields, England, report that while their vessel was in the British port several British warships with a large number of bodies aboard entered the port. The authorities were reticent, the officers, said, but they assumed that the bodies were those of dead sailors gathered at the scene of the Jutland naval battle.

HOSPITAL LOCATION HURTS PARK, CLAIM

Seventh Ward Residents Object to Placing of Hope Hospital.

Charging that the location of Hope hospital at the corner of Clinton and Suttenfield streets would extend the zone of silence a block in every direction thus preventing concerts at Reservoir park and the play of children there, committees were appointed by fifty members of the Seventh Ward Improvement club, Monday night, at the Hanna school, to protest against the location of the hospital.

M. J. Cleary, Adelbert Thompson, Dr. Christian Martz, Henry Zauner and C. L. Hobrock were chosen a committee to wait on the Hope hospital executive board and ask if a new location could not be secured. The hospital, according to the plans, would be backed up against the Hamilton school, to which a $40,000 addition will be built.

The improvement club also went on record as favoring the speeding up the track elevation work east of Calhoun street.

Members of the newly formed civic body are: Walter G. Burns, attorney, president; Peter A. Ofenloch, councilman, vice-president; Otto E. Fuelber, attorney, secretary, and T. E. Bailey, treasurer.

Seventh ward residents were told by Carl J. Getz, superintendent of parks, that Reservoir park would be put into equally as good or better condition than before the pageant was held. He announced a plan to erect 2,000 seats on the west side of the reservoir where the amphitheater was located. If this improvement is made half the band concerts will be held in the park and other public entertainments will be given there. Mr. Getz has a plan of erecting the seats whereby more can be added at any time. His idea met with commendation.

Fred Fahlsing, T. E. Bailey, Ora Goff, George Sosenheimer and three men to be named later are to form the track elevation committee of the association and they will urge the city to force the opening of Clinton street and to rush all proposed work east of Calhoun street. The next meeting of the association will be held Wednesday evening, July 5.

RAILWAY LINES ALL READY FOR ORDERS

Chicago Roads Can Send 25,000 Daily Toward Mexican Border.

Chicago, June 20.—Railroads centering in Chicago and having direct communication with the Mexican border will be able to move approximately 25,000 soldiers daily, according to statements by railroad officials today.

Officials of the various roads have notified the authorities at Washington that they are ready for orders, but early today they had received no definite information. Plans are complete, however, for meeting the situation which is to develop the moment the various state contingents of troops are started for the Mexican border.

It is said that the comfort of the soldiers who are to go to the border will be one of the chief aims of the transportation companies. Efforts will be made to provide sleeping accommodations for every guardsman.

Portland, Me., June 20—The nomination by the republicans of Carl E. Milliken for governor and Frederick Hale for United States senator was assured by returns from yesterday's primary in hand today from all but 104 small towns out of the 522 cities and towns in the state. The vote was: For governor, Milliken, 18,087; Frederick E. Parkhurst, 13,086; Edward W. Wheeler, 7,599; Timothy F. Callahan, 3,420. For senator, Hale, 15,605; Bert M. Fernald, 13,414; Ira G. Hersey, 12,041.

GIFT OF CHICAGO RED CROSS.

Four Base Hospitals of 500 Beds Each if War Comes.

Chicago, June 20.—Four base hospitals of 500 beds each and costing $160,000 will be the contribution of the Chicago branch of the American Red Cross in the event of war with Mexico, according to an announcement today. This was the result of a conference between national and local officials of the American Red Cross.

COUNTY AGENT HENRY ACCEPTS PROMOTION

Clarence Henry, who for nearly two years has served as agricultural agent of Allen county, will leave about September 1 to accept an excellent offer with the agricultural extension department of Purdue university. He forwarded his acceptance late Monday afternoon.

It will be Mr. Henry's duty to call upon the various county agents throughout the state and assist in breaking in new agents. His first duty will be to break in a new agent for Allen county, who will be appointed within the next few days.

Mr. Henry was selected by the Purdue extension department as the one man who understands thoroughly every branch of the county agent work. As a matter of fact he has made so good in his work here that Monday afternoon when it was learned that he intended to leave, several of the organizations of the city and prominent business men, headed by County Superintendent D. O. McComb, called upon him and offered him a handsome increase in salary if he would stay. However, the new position offers him so many more advantages and opportunities that he feels that in justice to himself he would not be justified in turning it down.

Mr. Henry came to Alle ncounty in September, 1914, and made good from the very start.

PROHIBITION ACT IS AGAIN UPHELD

Little Rock, Ark., June 20.—The Arkansas supreme court for the second time has sustained the validity of the state wide prohibition act. The case was that of Charles Miller, of Lafayette county, who was convicted of selling liquor and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary, the only sentence permissible under the law. The appeal alleged the prohibition law is unconstitutional because it denies the right of the court to suspend sentence. The supreme court held that the legislature had the right to enact such a law because there is no provision in the state constitution forbidding such action.

quested to stop these reprehensible acts in a section which he has long claimed to be under the complete domination of his authority. Notwithstanding these representations and the promise of General Nafarette to prevent attacks along the international boundary in the following month of October a passenger train was wrecked by bandits and several persons were killed. An attack was made upon United States troops at the same place several days later. Since these attacks leaders of the bandits well known both to Mexican civil and military authorities as well as to American officers have been enjoying with impunity the liberty of the towns of northern Mexico. So far has the indifference of the de facto government to these atrocities gone that some of these leaders, I am advised, have received not only the protection of that government but encouragement and aid as well.

Depredations More Numerous.

Depredations upon Americans and property within Mexican jurisdiction have been still more numerous. This government has repeatedly requested in the strongest terms that the de facto government safeguard the lives of Americans and afford the protection which international law guarantees to American interests in the states of Tamaulipas, Chihuahua and Sonora and also in the states to the south. For example, on January 3rd troops were requested to punish the band of outlaws which looted the Cusi mining property, eighty miles west of Chihuahua, but no effective results came from this request.

During the following week the bandit, Villa, with his band of about 200 men, was operating without opposition between Rubio and Santa Ysabel, a fact well known to Carranzista authorities. Meanwhile a party of unfortunate Americans started by train from Chihuahua to visit the Cusi mines after having received assurances from the Carranzita officers in the state of Chihuahua that the country was safe and that a guard on the train was not necessary. The Americans held passports or safe conducts issued by the de facto government. On January 10 the train was stopped by Villa bandits and eighteen of the American party were stripped of their clothing and shot in cold blood in what is now known as the "Santa Ysabel massacre."

Appeal by Carranza.

Gen. Carranza stated to the agent of the department of state that he had issued orders for the immediate pursuit, capture and punishment of those responsible for this atrocious crime and appealed to this government and to the American people to consider the difficulties of according protection along the railroad where the massacre occurred. Assurances were also given by Mr. Arredondo, presumably under instructions from the de facto government, that the murderers would be brought to justice and that steps would be taken to remedy the lawless conditions existing in the state of Durango. It is true that Villa, Castro and Lopez were publicly declared to be outlaws and subject to apprehension and execution, but so far as known only one man connected with this massacre has been brought to justice by Mexican authorities. Within a month after this barbarous slaughter of inoffensive Americans it was notorious that Villa was operating within twenty miles of Cusihuirachic and publicly stated that his purpose was to destroy American lives and property.

Villa Not Intercepted.

Despite repeated and insistent demands that military protection should be furnished to Americans, Villa openly carried on his operations, constantly approaching closer and closer to the border. He was not intercepted nor were his movements impeded by troops of the de facto government and no effectual attempt was made to frustrate his hostile designs against Americans. In fact, as I am informed, while Villa and his band were slowly moving forward toward the American frontier in the direction of Columbus, N. M., not a single Mexican soldier was seen in his vicinity. Yet the Mexican authorities were fully cognizant of his movements, for on March 6th, as General Gavira publicly announced, he advised the American military authorities of the outlaw's approach to the border so that they might be prepared to prevent him from crossing the boundary. Villa's unhindered activities culminated in the unprovoked and cold blooded attack upon American soldiers and citizens in the town of Columbus, on the night of March 9th, the details of which do not need repetition here in order to refresh your memory with the heinousness of the crime. After murdering, burning and plundering, Villa and his bandits, fleeing south, passed within sight of the Carranzista post at Casas Grandes and no effort was made to stop him by the officers and garrison of the de facto government stationed there.

Had No Other Recourse.

In the face of these depredations not only on American lives and property on Mexican soil, but on American soldiers, citizens and homes on American territory the perpetrators of which Gen. Carranza was unable or posibly considered it inadvisable to apprehend and punish, the United States had no recourse other than to employ force to disperse the bands of Mexican outlaws who were, with increasing boldness, systematically raiding across the international boundary. The marauders engaged in the attack on Columbus, were driven back across the border by American cavalry and subsequently, as soon as a sufficient force to cope with the band could be collected, were pursued into Mexico in an effort to capture or destroy them.

Without co-operation or assistance on the part of the de facto government in the field, despite repeated requests by the United States, and without apparent recognition on its part of the desirability of putting an end to these systematic raids, or of punishing the chief perpetrators of the crimes committeed, because they menaced the good relations of the two countries, American forces pursued the lawless bands as far as Parral, where the pursuit was halted by the hostility of Mexicans, presumed to be loyal to the de-facto government, who arrayed themselves on the side of outlawry and became in effect the protectors of Villa and his band.

Why U. S. Entered Mexico.

In this manner and for these reasons have the American forces entered Mexican territory. Knowing fully the circumstances set forth the de facto government cannot be blind to the necessity which compelled this government to act and yet it has seen fit to recite groundless sentiments of hostility toward the expedition and to impute to this government ulterior motives for the continued presence of American troops on Mexican soil. It is charged that these troops crossed the frontier without first obtaining the consent or permission of the de facto government. Obviously, as immediate action alone could avail, there was no opportunity to reach an agreement (other than of March 10th-13th, now repudiated by Gen. Carranza) prior to the entrance of such an expedition into Mexico if the expedition was to be effective. Subsequent events and correspondence have demonstrated to the satisfaction of this government that Gen. Carranza would not have entered into any agreement providing for an effective plan for the capture and destruction of the Villa bands.

Haggled Over Agreement.

While the American troops were moving rapidly southward in pursuit of the raiders it was the form and nature of the agreement that occupied the attention of Gen. Carranza rather than the practical object which it was to attain—the number of limitations that could be imposed upon the American forces to impede their progress rather than the obstacles that could be raised to prevent the escape of the outlaws. It was Gen. Carranza who suspended through your note of April 12, all discussions and negotiations for an agreement along the lines of the protocols between the United States and Mexico, concluded during the period of 1883-1896, under which the two countries had so successfully restored peaceful conditions on their common boundary.

It may be mentioned here that, notwithstanding the statement in your note that the "American government gave no answer to the note of the 13th of April" this note was replied to on April 14th, when the department instructed Mr. Rodgers by telegraph to deliver this government's answer to Gen. Carranza. Shortly after this reply the conferences between Generals Scott, Funston and Obregon began at El Paso, during which they signed, on May 2, a project of a memorandum and referendum, regarding the withdrawal of American troops. As an indication of the alleged bad faith of the American government, you stated that though General Scott declared in this memorandum that the destruction and dispersion of the Villa band "had been accomplished," yet American forces are not withdrawn from Mexico.

Clearly a Misstatement.

It is only necessary to read the memorandum, which is in the English language to see that this is clearly a misstatement, for the memorandum states that "the American punitive expeditionary forces have destroyed or dispersed many of the lawless element and bandits, * * * or have driven them far into the interior of the republic of Mexico" and further, that the United States forces were then "carrying on a vigorous pursuit of such small numbers of bandits or lawless elements as may have escaped."

The context of your note gives the impression that the object of the expedition being admittedly accomplished the United States had agreed in the memorandum to begin the withdrawal of its troops. The memorandum shows, however, that it was not alone on account of partial dispersion of the bandits that it was decided to begin the withdrawal of American forces but equally on account of the assurances of the Mexican government that their forces were "at the present time being augmented and strengthened to such an extent that they will be able to prevent any disorders occurring in Mexico that would in any way endanger American territory" and that they would continue to diligently pursue, capture or destroy any lawless bands of bandits that may still exist or hereafter exist in the northern part of Mexico" and that it would "make a proper distribution of such of its forces as may be necessary to prevent the possibility of invasion of American territory from Mexico."

It was because of these assurances and because of Gen. Scott's confidence that they would be carried out that he stated in the memorandum that the American forces would be gradually withdrawn. It is to be noted that while the American government was willing to ratify this agreement Gen. Carranza refused to do so, as Gen. Obregon stated, because among other things it imposed improper conditions upon the Mexican government. Notwithstanding the assurances in the memorandum it is well known that the forces of the de facto government have not carried on a vigorous pursuit of the remaining bandits and that no proper distribution of forces to prevent the invasion of American territory has been made as will be shown by the further facts hereinafter set forth.

A Reluctant Conclusion.

I am reluctant to be forced to the conclusion which might be drawn from these circumstances that the de facto government, in spite of the crimes committed and the sinister designs of Villa and his followers, did not and does not now intend or desire that these outlaws should be captured, destroyed or dispersed by American troops. While the conferences at El Paso were in progress and after the American conferees had been assured on May 2 that the Mexican forces in the northern part of the republic were then being augmented so as to be able to prevent any disorders that would endanger American territory a band of Mexicans, on the night of May 5, made an attack at Glenn Springs, Tex., about thirty miles north of the border, killing American soldiers and civilians, burning and sacking property and carrying off two Americans as prisoners. Subsequent to this event, the Mexican government, as you state, "gave instructions to Gen. Obregon to notify that of the United States that it would not permit the further passage of American troops into Mexico on this account and that orders had been given to all military commanders along the frontier not to consent to same."

Gave No Notification.

This government is of course not in a position to dispute the statement that these instructions had been given to Gen. Obregon, but it can decisively assert that Gen. Obregon never gave any such notification to Gen. Scott or Gen. Funston or, as far as known, to any other American official. Gen. Obregon did, however, inquire as to whether American troops had entered in Mexico in pursuit of the Glenn Springs raiders and Gen. Funston stated that no orders had been issued to American troops to cross the frontier on account of the raid, but this statement was made before any such order had been issued and not afterwards, as the erroneous account of the interview given in your note would appear to indicate.

Moreover, no statement was made by the American generals that "no more American troops would cross into your territory." On the contrary, it was pointed out to Gen. Obregon and to Mr. Juan Amador, who was present at the conference, and pointed out with emphasis, that the bandits de la Rosa and Pedro Vina, who had been instrumental in causing the invasion of Texas above Brownsville, were even then reported to be arranging in the neighborhood of Victoria for another raid across the border, and it was made clear to Gen. Obregon that if the Mexican government did not take immediate steps to prevent another invasion of the United States by these marauders, who were frequently seen in the company of Gen. Nafarette, Mexico would find in Tamaulipas another punitive expedition similar to that then in Chihuahua. American troops crossed into Mexico on May 10, upon notification to the local military authorities under the repudiated agreement of March 10, or in any event, in accordance with the practice adopted over forty years ago when there was no agreement regarding pursuit of marauders across the international boundary.

Found No Mexican Troops.

These troops penetrated 168 miles into Mexican territory in pursuit of the Glenn Springs marauders without encountering a detachment of Mexican troops or a single Mexican soldier. Further discussion of this raid, however, is not necessary, because the American forces sent in pursuit of the bandits recrossed into Texas on the morning of May 22, the date of your note under consideration—a further proof of the singleness of purpose of this government in endeavoring to quell disorder and stamp out lawlessness along the border. During the continuance of the El Paso conference Gen. Scott, you assert, did not take into consideration the plan proposed by the Mexican government for the protection of the frontier by the reciprocal distribution of troops along the boundary. This proposition was made by Gen. Obregon a number of times, but each condition upon the immediate withdrawal of American troops, and the Mexican conferees were invariably informed that immediate withdrawal could not take place, and that therefore it was impossible to discuss the project on that basis.

Sees Effort at Evasion.

I have noted the fact that your communication is not limited to a discussion of the deplorable conditions existing along the border and their important bearing on the peaceful relations of our governments, but that an effort is made to connect it with other circumstances in order to support, if possible, a mistaken interpretation of the attitude of the United States toward Mexico. You state in effect that the American government has placed every obstacle in the way of attaining the pacification of Mexico and that this is shown by the volume of diplomatic representations in behalf of American interests which constantly impede efforts to organize the political, economical and social conditions of the country, by the decided aid lent at one time to Villa by American officers and by the department of state, by the aid extended by the American Catholic clergy to that of Mexico; by the constant activity of the American press in favor of intervention and the interests of American business men; by the shelter and supply of rebels and conspirators on American territory, by the detention of shipments of arms and munitions and the detention of machinery intended for their manufacture.

Reply to Sweeping Charge.

In reply to this sweeping charge, I can truthfully affirm that the American government has given every possible encouragement to the de facto government in the pacification and rehabilitation of Mexico. From the moment of its recognition it has had the undivided support of this government. An embargo was placed upon arms and ammunition going into Chihuahua, Sonora and Lower California, in order to prevent their falling into the hands of armed opponents of the de facto government. Permission has been granted from time to time as requested for Mexican troops and equipment to traverse American territory from one point to another in Mexico.

In view of these friendly acts, I am surprised that the de facto government has construed diplomatic representations in regard to the unjust treatment accorded American interests, private assistance to opponents to the de facto government by sympathizers in a foreign country and the activity of a foreign press as interference by United States government in the domestic politics of Mexico. If a denial is needed that this government has had ulterior and improper motives in its diplomatic representations or has countenanced the activities of American sympathizers and the American press opposed to the de facto government, I am glad most emphatically to deny it. It is however, a matter of common knowledge that the Mexican press has been more active than the press in the United States in endeavoring to inflame the two peoples against each other and to force the two countries into hostilities; with the power of censorship of the Mexican press so rigorously exercised by the de facto government the responsibility for this activity cannott, it would seem, be avoided by that government and the issue of the appeal of Gen. Carranza himself in the press of March 12, calling upon the Mexican people to be prepared for any emergency which might arise, and intimating that war with the United States was imminent, evidences the attitude of the de facto government toward these publications.

Not Matter of Surprise.

It should not be a matter of surprise that after such manifestations of hostile feeling, the United States was doubtful of the purpose for which the large amount of ammunition was to be used which the de facto government appeared eager to import from this country, moreover, the policy of the de facto government in refusing to co-operate and in failing to act independently in destroying the Villa bandits and otherwise suppressing outlawry in the vicinity of the border so as to remove the danger of war materials while passing south through this zone falling into the hands of law and order is in the opinion of this government a sufficient ground, even if there were no other for the refusal to allow such materials to cross the boundary into the bandit-infested region. To have permitted these shipments without careful scrutiny would in the circumstances have been to have manifested a sense of security which would have been unjustified.

Menace to American Safety.

Candor compels me to add that the unconcealed hostility of the subordinate military commanders of the de facto government toward the American troops engaged in pursuing the Villa bands and the efforts of the de facto government to compel their withdrawal from Mexican territory by threats and show of military force instead of by aiding in the capture of the outlaws constitute a menace to the safety of the American troops and to the peace of the border. As long as this menace continues and there is any evidence of an intention on the part of the de facto government or its military commanders to use force against the American troops instead of co-operating with them, the government of the United States will not permit munitions of war or machinery for their manufacture to be exported from this country to Mexico.

As to the shelter and supply of rebels and conspirators on American territory I can state that vigorous efforts have been and are being made by the agents of the United States to apprehend and bring to justice all persons found to be conspiring to violate the laws of the United States by organizing to oppose with arms the de facto government of Mexico. Political refugees have undoubtedly sought asylum in the United States but this government has vigilantly kept them under surveillance and has not hesitated to apprehend them upon proof of their criminal intentions as the arrest of Gen. Huerta and others fully attests.

The Real Situation.

Having corrected the erroneous statements of fact to which I have adverted, the real situation stands forth in its true light. It is admitted that American troops have crossed the international boundary in hot pursuit of the Columbus raiders and without notice to or the consent of your government but by the several protestations by this department and other authorities that the object of the expedition was to capture, destroy or completely disperse the Villa bandits and outlaws or to turn this duty over to the Mexican authorities when assured that it would be effectively fulfilled have been carried out in perfect good faith by the United States. Its efforts, however, have been obstructed at every point: first, by insistence on a palpably useless agreement which you admit was either not to apply to the present expedition or was to contain impracticable restrictions on its organization and operation; then by actual opposition encouraged and fostered by the de facto government to the further advance of the expedition into Villa territory which was followed by the sudden suspension of all negotiations for an arrangement for the pursuit of Villa and his followers and the protection of the frontier; and finally by a demand for the immediate withdrawal of the American troops.

Anarchy Growing Worse.

Meantime conditions of anarchy on the border state of Mexico were continually growing worse. Incursions into American territory were plotted and perpetrated; the Glenn Springs raid was successfully executed, while no effective efforts were being made by Gen. Carranza to improve the conditions and to protect territory from constant threat of invasion. In view of this increasing menace, of the inactivity of the Carranza forces, of the lack of co-operation in the apprehension of the Villa bands and of the known encouragement and aid give to bandit leaders, it is unreasonable to expect the United States to withdraw its forces from Mexican territory or to prevent their entry again when their presence is the only check upon further bandit outrages and the only efficient means of protecting American lives and homes—safeguards which Gen. Carranza, though internationally obligated to supply, is manifestly unable or unwilling to give.

In view of the actual state of affairs as I have outlined in above I am now in a position to consider the conclusions which you have drawn in your note under acknowledgment from the erroneous statements of fact which you have set forth.

Charge of Insincerity.

Your government intimates, if it does not openly charge, that the attitude of the United States is one of insincerity, distrust and suspicion toward the de facto government of Mexico and that the intention of the United States in sending its troops into Mexico is to extend its sovereignty over Mexican territory and not merely for the purpose of pursuing marauders and preventing future raids across the border. The de facto government charges by implication, which admits of but one interpretation, that this government has as its object territorial aggrandizement even at the expense of a war of aggression against a neighbor weakened by years of civil strife. The government of the United States, if it had had designs upon the territory of Mexico, would have had no difficulty in finding during this period of revolution and disorder many plausible arguments for intervention in Mexican affairs. Hoping, however, that the people of Mexico would through their own efforts restore peace and establish an orderly government the United States has awaited with patience the consummation of the revolution.

Recognition of Carranza.

When the superiority of the revolutionary faction led by Gen. Carranza became undoubted the United States, after conferring with six others of the American republics, recognized unconditionally the present de facto government. It hoped and expected that that government would speedily restore order and provide the Mexican people and others who had given their energy and substance to the development of the great resources of the republic opportunity to rebuild in peace and security their shattered fortunes.

This government has waited month after month for the consummation of its hope and expectation. In spite of increasing discouragements, in spite of repeated provocations to exercise force in the restoration of order in the northern regions of Mexico, where American interests have suffered most seriously from lawlessness, the government of the United States has refrained from aggressive action and sought by appeals and moderate, though explicit demands, to impress the de facto government with the seriousness of the situation and to arose it to its duty to perform its international obligations toward citizens of the United States, who had entered the territory of Mexico or had vested interests within its boundaries.

Doubts and Suspicion Resented.

In the face of constantly renewed evidences of the patience and restraint of this government in circumstances in which only a government imbued with unselfishness and a sincere desire to respect to the full the sovereign rights and national dignity of the Mexican people would have endured, doubts and suspicions as to the motives of the government of the United States are expressed in your communication of May 22, for which I can imagine no purpose but to impugn the good faith of this government, for I find it hard to believe that such imputations are not universally known to be without the least shadow of justification in fact. Can the de facto government doubt that if the United States had turned covetous eyes on Mexican territory it could have found many pretexts in the past for the gratification of its desire? Can that government doubt that months ago, when the war between the revolutionary factions was in progress a much better opportunity than the present was afforded for American intervention, if such had been the purpose of the United States, as the de facto government now insinuates? What motive could this government have had in refraining from taking advantage of such opportunities other than unselfish friendship for the Mexican republic? I have, of course, given consideration to your argument that the responsibility for the present situation rests largely upon this government. In the first place you state that even the American forces along the border, whose attention is undivided by other military operations, "find themselves physically unable to protect effectively the frontier of the American side."

Remedy for Border Raids.

Obviously if there is no means of reaching bands roving on Mexican territory and making sudden dashes at night into American territory it is impossible to prevent such invasions unless the frontier is protected by a cordon of troops. No government could be expected to maintain a force of this strength along the boundary of a nation with which it is at peace for the purpose of resisting the onslaught of a few bandits of lawless men especially when the neighboring state makes no effort to prevent these attacks. The most effective method of preventing raids of this nature, as past experience has fully demonstrated is to visit punishment or destruction on the raiders. It is precisely this plan which the United States desires to follow along the border without any intention of infringing upon the sovereign rights of her neighbor, but which, although obviously advantageous to the de facto government it refuses to allow or even countenance. It is in fact protection to American lives and property about which the United States is solicitous and not the methods or ways in which that protection shall be accomplished.

American Government's Duty.

If the Mexican government is unwilling or unable to give this protection by preventing its territory from being the rendezvous and refuge of marauders and plunderers that does not relieve this government from its duty to take all the steps necessary to safeguard American citizens on American soil. The United States government cannot and will not allow bands of lawless men to establish themselves upon its borders with liberty to invade and plunder American territory with impunity and when pursued, to seek safety across the Rio Grande, relying upon the plea of their government that the integrity of the soil of the Mexican republic must not be violated.

The Mexican government further protests that it has "made every effort on its part to protect the frontier" and that it is doing "all possible to avoid a recurrence of such acts," attention is again invited to the well known and unrestricted activity of de la Rosa, Anceto Piscano, Pedro Vinos and others in connection with border raids and to the fact that, as I am advised up to June 4 de la Rosa was still collecting troops at Monterey for the openly avowed purpose of making attacks on Texas border towns and that Pedro Vino was recruiting at other places for the same avowed purpose.

Not Doing "All Possible."

I have already pointed out the uninterrupted progress of Villa to and from Columbus, and the fact that the American forces in pursuit of the Glenn Springs marauders penetrated 168 miles into Mexican territory without encountering a single Carranzaist soldier. This does not indicate that the Mexican government is doing "all possible' to avoid such raids; and if doing "all possibue," this is not sufficient to prevent border raids, and there is every reason therefore, why this government must take such preventive measures as it deems sufficient.

It is suggested that injuries suffered on account of bandit raids are a matter of "pecuniary reparation" but "nevertheless cause for American forces to invade Mexican soil," the precedents which have been established and maintained by the government of the Mexican republic for the last half century do not bear out this statement. It has grown to be almost a custom not to settle depredations of bandits by payments of money alone, but to quell such disorders and to prevent such crimes by swift and sure punishment.

Attempts to Evade Duty.

The de facto government finally argues that "if the frontier were duly protected from incursions from Mexico there would be no reason for existing difficulty," thus the de facto government attempts to absolve itself from the first duty of any government, namely, with the protection of life and property. This is the paramount obligations for which governments are instituted, and the governments neglecting or failing to perform it are not worthy of the name. This is the duty for which Gen. Carranza, it must be assumed, initiated his revolution in Mexico and organized the present government which the United States government recognized as the de facto government of Mexico. Protection of American lives and property, then, in the United States is the first obligation of this government, and in Mexico is, first, the obligation of Mexico, and second, the obligation of the United States. In securing this protection along the common boundary the United States has a right to expect the co-operation of its neighboring republic; and yet, instead of taking steps to correct or punish the raiders, the de facto government demurs and objects to measures taken by the United States.

Makes United States' Duty Stronger.

The government of the United States does not wish to believe that the de facto government approves these marauding attacks yet as they continue to be made they show that the Mexican government is unable to repress them. This inability as this government has had occasion in the past to say, may excuse the failure to check the outrages complained of, but it only makes stronger the duty of the United States to prevent them, for if the government of Mexico cannot protect the lives and property of Americans exposed to attack from Mexicans, the government of the United States is in duty bound, so far as it can, to do so.

In conclusion, the Mexican government invites the United States to support its "assurances of friendship with real and effective acts" which "can be no other than the immediate withdrawal of the American troops." For the reasons I have herein fully set forth, this request of the de facto government cannot now be entertained. The United States has not sought the duty which has been forced upon it of pursuing bandits who, under fundamental principles of municipal and international law, ought to be pursued and arrested and punished by Mexican authorities. Whenever Mexico will assume and effectively exercise that responsibility the United States, as it has many times before publicly declared, will be glad to have this obligation fulfilled by the de facto government of Mexico. If, on the contrary, the de facto government is pleased to ignore this obligation and to believe that "in case of a refusal to retire these troops there is no further recourse than to defend its territory by an appeal to arms," the government of United States would surely be lacking in sincerity and friendship if it did not frankly impress upon the de facto government that the execution of this threat this government would deeply regret such action. It cannot recede from its settled determination to maintain its rights and perform its full duty in preventing further invasions of the territory of the United States and removing the peril which Americans along the boundary have borne so long with patience and forbearance.

bers of Company E will not be able to pass the examination at Fort Harrison is certain and for that reason Captain Miller is anxious to have at least twenty-five more men than the required number.

Captain Miller expects to provide sleeping quarters for his company this evening. The armory is much too small and because of this the men were permitted to go home. It also gave them an opportunity to take back their citizens' clothes and to bid good-by to their relatives, friends and sweethearts.

Anxious to Go.

The majority of the men are anxious to go and were disappointed Monday night when no order came to move at once. The scenes around the armory resemble very much the events of 1898 when the militia was called out for service in the Spanish-American war.

Raymond Brennan, who has served over a year with the English army in Europe, joined Company E Monday evening. He is a Canadian, but has been naturalized.

Dr. C. E. Dancer is devoting almost his entire time examining new recruits. His office is on the second floor of the armory building. Men ranging in age from 18 to 40 years are eligible for enlistment.

Captain Miller made an appeal Tuesday to the citizens of Fort Wayne to look after the families of the married men who are members of Company E to see that they do not want during the absence of the company. He has suggested that an organization be formed for this purpose.

List of New Recruits.

Among the new recruits that have enlisted within the past twenty-four hours are the following: Frank Walker, 714 Barr; Elzie Carter, 648 Wagner; Waverly Thomas, Fairfax Court House, Va.; William F. Nicholson, 2206 Winter; Clifford Kirkpatrick, 2118 Broadway; John Henry Miller, 735 East Washington; Frank Byrd, 126 Miner; Wayne Crapser, 1236 Boone; Eddie Cross, 1315 Brackenridge; Earl Mock, 809 Bell; Oscar Sihler, 518 State; William Schwartz, city; James A. Sunday, city; Marion Bethol, city; George H. Schreiber, 315 East Columbia; E. F. Hedvall, 620 Clinton street; George L. Baker, 549 Baker, Detroit; John T. Gorrell, 122 East Washington; John H. Kohler, 815 Heustis; John C. Green, 2118 Broadway; Gust Hoagburg, 231 West Main; Joy W. Fish, 344 West DeWald; Gerhardt Schulte, 1307 Jackson; John W. Long, Monroeville; W. J. Boughman, 818 Harrison; F. R. Wolg, 1026 East Wayne; James B. McDevitt, 1413 Thompson; George W. Sanderson, 134 West Superior; W. H. Thomas, city.

American sympathizers and the American press opposed to the de facto government, I am glad to most emphatically deny it. It is, however, a matter of common knowledge that the Mexican press has been more active than the press in the United States in endeavoring to inflame the two peoples against each other and to force the two countries into hostilities."

It Is Up to Mexico.

Whether the result will mean war depends on the Mexicans and Gen. Carranza is so informed. Citizens of both nations apparently are preparing for it. Opposing military forces are facing each other on the border.

Gen. Carranza in another speech in Mexico City, however, has expressed the hope that hostilities may be avoided.

The note's terms leaves no doubt the United States government is approaching the end of its patience with Mexican annoyances, but that it still maintains its original policy of entering war only for defense.

Even while these assurances are being conveyed came reports that Mexicans were enlisting for military service under the impression that the United States armies are about to attack Mexico. An ultimatum, said to be virtually a declaration of war, has been served on Commander Kavanaugh, of the United States gunboat Annapolis, by Gen. Flores, Carranza governor of the state of Sinaola. The hostile stand grew out of the clash Sunday at Mazatlan between bluejackets from the Annapolis and Mexicans, resulting in casualties on both sides.

Mexican government troops were reported last night marching on Delrio, 100 miles up the Rio Grande river from Eagle Pass, with the intention of attacking.

PAY WHICH INDIANA GUARDSMEN WILL GET

Indianapolis, Ind., June 20.—The enlisted men and officers of the Indiana national guard will receive pay from the federal government at the same rates as prevail in the regular army, according to rank. The monthly pay for the Indiana troops which were ordered mobilized yesterday morning will date from that time. The rates of pay follow:

Enlisted men, from $15 to $45 a month and all expenses. First lieutenants, $166.67 a month, and second lieutenants, $141.67 a month without expenses or clothing. Captains, $200 a month. Majors, $250 a month. Lieutenant colonels, $291.67 a month. Colonels, $333.33 a month. Brigadier generals, $500 a month.

Twenty per cent. additional is allowed for foreign service.

MAN WAS DEMENTED; NOT SUICIDE CASE

"Hurry up and come to 2016 North Barr street at once; my husband is trying to commit suicide," was the message received from an excited woman by the police department at 11:10 o'clock Tuesday morning. A hurried run brought the patrol wagon with a squad of policemen to the scene.

There it was found that John Affolder, a well known character, had become demented, but there were no indications that he was attempting his life. He was taken to the county jail for safe-keeping.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

Acts 9:1-11.

1 And Saul, breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

3 And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven:

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest; it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

6 And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

7 And the men which journeyed with him stood speechless, hearing a voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three days without sight, and neither did eat nor drink.

10 And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and inquire in the house of Juas, for one called Saul, of Tarsus, for behold, he prayeth.

Saul of Tarsus was aiming at the house of Judas, for one called Saul, of the faith and forms of his fathers, he overlooked the fulfilled prophesies in the life and death of Christ.

Under the Care of the State.

The report just filed with the board of state charities from each of the nineteen charitable and correctional institutions in Indiana discloses the fact that on March 31 last, these institutions had a total of 14,232 inmates. It is a vast army of unfortunates of one variety and another who are under the care of the state and must be supported by it. It is noted, too, that the daily average of inmates in all the institutions had jumped from 12,044 to 13,180 in the past year, though it is explained that the increase is due largely to the new state penal farm near Putnamville. The figures are startling enough, however, to give emphasis to the cry for an improvement in conditions that will reduce to the lowest possible degree the influences that contribute to the population of the state institutions.

Some definite figures shed further light on the situation. The men and boys in the institutions on March 31 numbered 8,611; the women and girls 5,621. More than one-half of these persons were in the institutions for mental defectives; 5,788 in the five hospitals for the insane; 1,320 in the School for Feeble-Minded Youth at Fort Wayne, and 311 in the Village for Epileptic, Newcastle. The other most numerous class of state wards is to be found in its six penal and correctional institutions, 3,935.

Of the whole number enrolled in these nineteen institutions, 52 per cent. are insane, feeble-minded or epileptics; 28 per cent. are criminals or misdemeanants. The remaining 20 per cent. are members of the Soldiers' home and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home, pupils of the schools for the deaf and blind and patients of the two state hospitals for the sick.

The state prison at Michigan City reports an increase of 128, and the reformatory at Jeffersonville 177. There are slight increases in the Girls' school and the Women's prison, but the Boys' school reports a decrease of eight. There is a net increase of 1,012 in the penal and correctional institutions, and 124 in the benevolent and educational institutions.

The regular operating expenses of the nineteen institutions for the half year amounted to nearly $1,500,000. The average cost for each inmate was $109.96, or 60 cents a day. For the same six months last year the per capita cost was $110.65.

The institutions for the insane, feeble-minded and epileptic cost the state $686,397.70; the homes for the soldiers and their orphans, $163,458.03; the two hospitals for the sick, $76,413.52, and the schools for the deaf and blind, $86,724.25, a total of $1,012,993.50 for the thirteen benevolent and educational institutions. The state prisons and reform schools spent $436,330.04. For new buildings and permanent improvements the institutions spent $145,440.59 during the six months. This brought the grand total expenditures to $1,593,927.34. Receipts and earnings amounting to $187,112.75 reduced this gross amount to $1,406,814.59. The institutions consumed farm and garden products of their own raising valued at $96,754.92.

The parade of the school children scheduled in Fort Wayne Thursday afternoon, will doubtless give many of our people a new and much more adequate conception of the extent and the importance of the civic beauty and health campaign that has been waged here quietly but effectivly during the past few months. The active interest and the enthusiastic efforts of thousands of the children have been enlisted, and the work is valuable far beyond immediate fruits now visible. There has been implanted in these young minds the value of cleanliness, sanitation and attractiveness of home, of grounds and surroundings that will exert its influence for many years to come. The civic health and beauty work is in no sense a passing fad. It is a building for the future healthfulness and happiness of Fort Wayne, not merely for the present, but for the years when these children of today shall be carrying the fuller burdens of citizenship.

The action of the Wayne Knitting Mills in setting aside a fund of $50,000 as the nucleus for an old age pension fund for the benefit of its veteran employes is to be commended, and it may prove to be but the beginning of similar action by other local corporations. More and more the large institutions in America are coming to recognize an obligation beyond the regular pay envelope to those who have given long years of faithful service in the building of a vast business. The railroads led the way in this matter, but the idea is taking firm hold among industrial institutions as well.

Senator Lodge, after an interview with Mr. Roosevelt, is inclined to the opinion that the colonel will give his support to Mr. Hughes. The colonel himself has been singularly reticent in declaring his intentions, but he will be compelled to come down sometime, and doubtless is even now casting his eagle eye about in search of the most suitable spot in which to alight. Mr. Roosevelt will never remain in the air indefinitely.

DEMOCRATIC PLANK IS MOST FORCEFUL

By WILLIS S. THOMPSON.

Indianapolis, June 20.—The dominant political parties have now spoken through their national conventions. On essential subjects, on subjects vitally affecting the whole country, there is no division of sentiment and opinion that only one of these three conventions spoke in plain and unmistakable language.

Americanism was the one subject attracting most attention preceding convention dates. There was much oratory on the subject, especially from those influences which controlled at Chicago. There was voluminous comment on "pussy-footers." While this preliminary sputtering was going on Senator Thomas Taggart said in an interview that these vociferous persons who were managing the Chicago convention and seeking to betray the progressive voters into an impossible coalition with the standpat republican organization, did not know an intelligent definition of the thing they were talking about—Americanism.

It is worth while to contrast the planks promulgated by the three conventions, especially keeping in mind the preliminary outcries of Chicago spellbinders about "pussy-footers." For instance, the republican platform:

"We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and, above all things, to keep faith."

Was Senator Taggart right when he said they could not give an intelligent definition of Americanism?

The progressive platform calls for "unwavering patriotism and unfaltering fidelity to America," and says that "if in this melting pot of a hundred nations the children of any fail to find our common destiny worthy of common devotion and defense, we shall sustain irreparable loss of national character.

Which utterance, no doubt, came far short of satisfying the progressive voters of the country and is hardly worth being called a faint echo of the call of the bull moose. As the vaudeville stage has caught the public thought quickly, "it is one-third moose and two-thirds bull."

Man Held in Ax-Murders is Loving Husband and Father in Eyes of Woman and Child.

Kansas City, June 20.—"Blackie" Mansfield, charged by the police as the man who hacked to death sixteen persons in ax murders that have terrified this section of the country in the past four years, has been landed in a cell here after a two-year chase.

To the police Mansfield is a man suspected of the most horrifying series of slayings on record in this part of the country.

But to the little Lithuanian woman who calls him "my man" and to their little child, he is a loving husband and father.

Detectives got on the train of Mansfield following the story of a woman that while she and her husband were camping along the Nodaway river, four years ago, she heard three men, hidden in a clump of bushes, plot the murder of John Moore, of Villisca, Iowa.

She told, according to the police, the name of the man picked to commit the murder and on this clue a nation-wide search was started for Mansfield.

The woman said she held her story secret several years and revealed it only on the warning of a fortune teller.

Among the victims in the ax murders were Mansfield's first wife, their little child and Mrs. Mansfield's parents.

Mansfield's second wife was shocked by the arrest of her husband.

"My man has been taken from me," she cried. "How will my baby and I eat? He did not murder anybody. He would not hurt a woman or a child."

The police charge that Mansfield had deserted his first wife. They say they do not think his second wife knows anything of the life he is alleged to have lived before they were married.

"BLACKIE" MANSFIELD

And the little girl, the most pathetic figure in the tragedy, knows him as a kind-hearted "daddy." The little girl is the same age as the daughter of Mansfield, who fell victim of a brutal ax murderer.

You Never Saw Hair Grow Like This Before

"Vola-Vita" is One of the Greatest Discoveries Ever Known—the Scientific Way of Forcing Hair to Grow, Restoring Color Naturally, and Stopping Dandruff Quickly and Completely.

Making hair grow has always been one of the greatest problems of the scientist. This problem has been definitely solved by one of the greatest hair discoveries ever made. This discovery is Vola-Vita. It proves that hair can be made to grow as surely and positively as plants can be made to grow by fertilization of the soil.

"Sure enough! 'Vola-Vita' is actually growing your hair—the only thing you ever used that really showed results!"

Hair has now been analyzed and found to contain five principal elements. When any one or more of these elements are missing, or are scarce, the hair-roots lose their vitality, hair falls out, dandruff may form, thin spots appear, the hair turns gray, and baldness is always the result.

When these elements are restored the hair is compelled to grow.

Vola-Vita supplies these elements to hair and scalp tissue. Its use in a short time gives positive results. It isn't imagination, because you actually see these results. Use it on your bald or thin-haired spot and you will soon see real, new "fuzz" growing. Dandruff will disappear absolutely. Itching will stop. If your hair is gray, and was originally brown, your hair will become brown. If your hair is gray and was originally red, it will become red.

Vola-Vita brings back the exact original color of your hair by supplying the necessary vigor to the color-glands. For this reason it is not a dye. And Vola-Vita contains no alcohol to dry up the necessary and natural secretions of your hair. It is different from all other hair treatments ever known.

You can now grow hair and stop your hair and scalp troubles as you never could do before. And you'll look years younger, too, with your hair brought back to its original youthful color. Begin today.

Vola-Vita is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle, or sent direct by the Vola-Vita Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill. Satisfaction guaranteed.

"Vola-Vita" is sold in Fort Wayne by Peoples Drug Store, Miss Emanuel, T. C. Bohn, Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. Co., B. R. Noll, D. & N. Pharmacy, Woodworth's Drug Store, C. O. FAIRBANKS DESERTS LEGITIMATE STAGE FOR FILM WORK.

Douglas Fairbanks, who is enjoying his fourteenth year on the stage. So enjoyable has his work in motion pictures become that he has decided to do no work for the legitimate drama for three years, at least.

In 1901 Fairbanks made his theatrical debut. Since then, with the single exception of a brief flurry in Wall street, he has supported the most prominent stars and has been a star in his own right. For several years, under the direction of William A. Brady, he played in such successful pieces as "The Pit," "The Man of the Hour," and "The Gentleman from Mississippi." More recently he has appeared in "Officer 666," "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," "The New Henrietta," and "The Show Shop."

He is now appearing in Triangle films under the supervision of David W. Griffith.

Powerful Skin Remedy Discovered

Dries up Eczema, Barbers' Itch and all Skin Eruptions in a few days; absorbs Wens, Goiter and Piles.

Many thousands of people know how speedily and painlessly Moone's Emerald Oil reduces swollen veins and bunches, and how powerful penetrating and safe it is.

This wonderful surgeon's prescription now known all over America as Moone's Emerald Oil, is so efficient in the treatment of skin diseases that the itching of eczema stops with one application; the eruptions dry up and scale off.

A few applications and the most persistent case of piles is absorbed never to return.

Moone's Emerald Oil is safe and pleasant to use. It is so powerfully antiseptic that odors arising from ulcers, gangrene, and cancer is instantly killed.

It absorbs goiter; dissolves wens, and in the treatment of ulcers, abscesses, carbuncles, varicocele and boils, it is supremely efficient.

Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle is dispensed by pharmacists for 50 cents. It is not a patent medicine, but a wonderful prescription of a practicing surgeon. With each bottle complete directions for use are enclosed. Meyer drug stores always have Moone's Emerald Oil on hand.—Advertisement.

TODAY'S BEAUTY HELP

You can keep your hair at its very best by washing it with this simple, inexpensive shampoo, which cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly of all the dandruff and dirt and leaves a clean, wholesome feeling: Just use a teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water, afterwards rinsing thoroughly with clean water. One finds that the hair dries quickly and evenly, is unstreaked, bright, soft and fluffy, so fluffy in fact that it looks more abundant than it is, and so soft that arranging it becomes a pleasure. All scalp irritation will disappear and the hair will be brighter than ever before.—Advertisement.

Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN SHOWN IN MOVIES

One of the very best Fort Wayne films yet shown is that of the recent campaign for the Young Men's Christian Association building, which is now being shown at the Jefferson, and it presents hundreds of well-known faces in the various activities which characterized Fort Wayne's big and successful undertaking.

The scenes show the various leaders in the movement, the gathering at campaign headquarters, the noon luncheon, the reading of the daily reports of the canvass, the solicitors at work securing pledges, the enthusiastic glee of the rival teams, the cheer leaders in action, the parades to the campaign clock, the posting of the clock and the cheering throngs which witnessed it daily, and the splendid work of the women's division. The film is excellent.

MATINEE FOR THE WOMEN.

Souvenier Afternoon at New Palace Wednesday.

Special Guy Voyer souveniers will be presented each woman attending the matinee performance at the New Palace theater tomorrow, Wednesday, the only afternoon appearance of the Lasalle musical comedy company in the rip-snorting laughing success, "Lovers and Lunatics," the stage spectacle supreme. Voyer is a prime favorite with the women folks and in deference to this fact the New Palace has arranged this special matinee.

Wedding Friday.

Everybody's invited to the wedding on the stage at the New Palace Friday evening, when Miss Elsie Walker, one of the merriest of the Lasalle company's happy chorus, and "Billy" Schumm, a former Fort Wayne boy, and now a member of the same company, will plight their troth. The ceremony will be performed on the stage immediately upon the conclusion of the third act.

The company last night opened a three day engagement in the hilarious romp, "Lovers and Lunatics," the funniest fool thing ever written for a musical comedy company. The chorus in this bit is especially active in an array of drill spectacles and dance numbers that are reminiscent of the days of the lavish extravaganzas.

Ueber—Bender.

A beautiful wedding took place at St. Mary's Catholic church on Tuesday morning at half past 9 o'clock when Miss Rose Marie Bender, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Geistdoerfer, and Mr. John D. Ueber were united in marriage in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Mgr. J. H. Oechtering officiated at the ceremony and the nuptial mass. Miss Anna Ueber, a sister to the groom was bridesmaid, and Miss Lillith Gaskill was maid of honor. Mr. Herman Ueber was best man and Mr. Carl Burlage and Mr. John Wessel were ushers. The church was decorated with palms and ferns and the altar was beautiful with white carnations and white roses. The bride presented a beautiful appearance in a handsome gown of white crepe de chine combined with georgette crepe, a veil of tulle that came to the hem of the dress skirt and was fashioned in cap effect for the hair. The bride carried a bouquet of bride roses and swansonia. Miss Gaskill was gowned in yellow, her gown of net being a very stylish one. Miss Gaskill wore a yellow maline hat with bird-of-paradise ornament while her bouquet of yellow daisies made a charming effect. Miss Ueber wore a green gown of pussy willow satin and a green picture hat of which the trimming is an aigrette. Miss Ueber's flowers were pink roses. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, at the corner of Clay and Washington boulevard. The table was trimmed in yellow roses and smilax with a wedding cake for the centerpiece. The decorations were confined to the table and guests at the breakfast to the nearest relatives and the bridal party. A reception was held from 11 o'clock to 4 this afternoon for friends. Assisting in dispensing refreshments were Misses Solina Dietrich, Loretta Ankenbruck, Bernadine Violand and Katherine Huber, intimate friends of the bride. In the evening the bride and groom start east on a trip of two or three weeks' time. After the first of August Mr. and Mrs. Ueber will be at home at 501 Washington boulevard east. For traveling the bride wears a tailored suit of green and gold changeable silk with tailored hat to correspond and a blouse of white georgette crepe. Mrs. Ueber is a member of the firm of the Fort Wayne Printing company and is auditor of the company. Mrs. Ueber will continue her work with the printing company indefinitely. Mr. Ueber is a mechanic with C. E. Freiburger and enjoys with his bride, the esteem of all who know them.

Ohneck—Forsythe.

Mr. Arthur E. Ohneck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ohneck, of Lake township, and Miss Hazel M. Forsythe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Forsythe, of Fort Wayne, were united in marriage at the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church at noon on Sunday, June 18, by Rev. J. P. Meyers. Miss Sarah Schneider and Mr. Charles Forsythe were the attendants. The groomsman is a brother to the bride and the bridesmaid is a cousin of the groom. The bride wore a pretty gown of white embroidered voille and net. A white hat trimmed with an ostrich band and a bouquet of pink and white roses were finishing touches to the bridal costume. Miss Schneider wore a white embroidered organdy and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride. Mr. Ohneck, the groom, is a prosperous young farmer of Lake township. The bride and groom went to Detroit and similar points of interest in that vicinity and on their return they will go to their own home, which is awaiting them on Mr. Ohneck's farm.

MISS IDA GRABNER WEDS ALBERT J. PRANGER.

MRS. ALBERT J. PRANGER.

Miss Ida A. Grabner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Grabner, and Mr. Albert J. Pranger, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Pranger, were married at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning in the Cathedral. Rev. John R. Quinlan officiated at the ceremony and mass. Special music was sung by Miss Irene Noll, who assisted during the mass, with Mr. Noll at the organ, and sang "O, Promise Me," during the marriage ceremony. Miss Marie McGuire was bridesmaid and Mr. Herbert Korks was groomsman. The bridal party made an unusually good-looking appearance and the bridal procession was also unusual as the ushers, Messrs. Gerald Halstein and Edward Stahl, met the others of the bridal party at the curbing in front of the church and escorted them to the chancel. After the solemn service the ushers led the way to the waiting carriages. The bride, who is a sweet and modest appearing young woman of very attractive personality, looked lovely in her simple bridal costume of white satin and georgette crepe. The drapery was finished with wide bands of satin and the effect was graceful yet plain. A veil extended the length of the dress and the bride wore a wreath of orange blossoms on her hair and carried a large bouquet of bride roses with shower of swansonia and narrow baby ribbon. The bridesmaid was gowned in pink taffeta combined with crepe and she wore a very handsome hat of pink horsehair braid with a simple trimming of pink roses. Miss McGuire carried pink roses. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 2105 Washington boulevard east, and both relatives and friends were invited. The bride's table was prettily decorated with a handsome bride's cake, pink sweetpeas and ferns. There were many garden flowers in other rooms. Early in the afternoon the bride and groom left on an automobile trip to northern points of the state and they will probably go to Chicago before they return, which will be in about ten days.

For traveling the bride wears a dark blue tailored cloth suit with trimmings of a lighter color, a blouse of yellowish tone and a dark blue hat. When Mr. and Mrs. Pranger return they will go directly to housekeeping in a beautiful and furnished bungalow at 445 East DeWald street, which is a wedding present from the groom's father. The bride is a very capable young woman who has been private secretary for several years to Mr. S. F. Bowser. Mr. Pranger is a splendid young business man as is indicated by his success which has led him to being assistant cashier at the Bowser plant. Mr. Pranger is well known in business circles and his prepossessing manner and ability make him a favorite everywhere he goes. Out of town guests were Miss Teresa May, of Chicago; Mrs. Edward Gardner, of Cincinnati, and Miss Elsie Hall, of St. Louis, Mo.

SHARK BONE CANES LATEST FAD.

VIRGINIA BANES, a Los Angeles girl, who has inaugurated a new fad. It is carrying a cane made from the backbone of a shark. The feature of this fad is that you must catch the shark yourself. Steelheads, oil and man-eating sharks are best for canes. Their backbones are lightest and toughest and make the most durable walking sticks. There are many sharks in the southern California waters; however, few of them are of the man-eating variety. The craze for shark canes is expected to stimulate big game fishing as a sport.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

HAND-PAINTED JERSEY

THE vogue for hand-painted ornamentation is reflected in this sports suit of white silk jersey. The coat is given a different line from the sports coats, which have been offered since early spring by means of the deep collar and revers. It reminds one of a shawl collar. The skirt of the coat is made separate and joined to the upper part. This is a good idea for one to follow if the loose lines of a one-piece coat is unbecoming. A pretty finish is given the soft sash by the addition of tassels formed of beads.

Perfectly plain is the skirt. The hem is turned up on the right side, and above it the silk is folded over a cord.

COIN PURSE UMBRELLAS

HUNTING for one's pocketbook and an elusive nickel and at the same time manipulating an umbrella in the wind and carrying a bundle or so is now a thing of the past, for the umbrella itself bears the owner's carfare in a tiny purse.

The purse, which will hold about a quarter in small change, fastens on the leather loop which is the newest and, therefore, the most popular handle for the smart silk umbrellas. Other types of the coin purse umbrella show the little purse slung on a silken cord that runs thru the handle, while a third type straps about the handle like a wee wrist watch.

A NOVEL VANITY CASE

THE newest vanity cases to hold the wee powder puff are made of rose quartz, with a slender gold chain as a handle. The pink semiprecious stone is more or less transparent, but gives the effect of the carrying of a single great jewel.

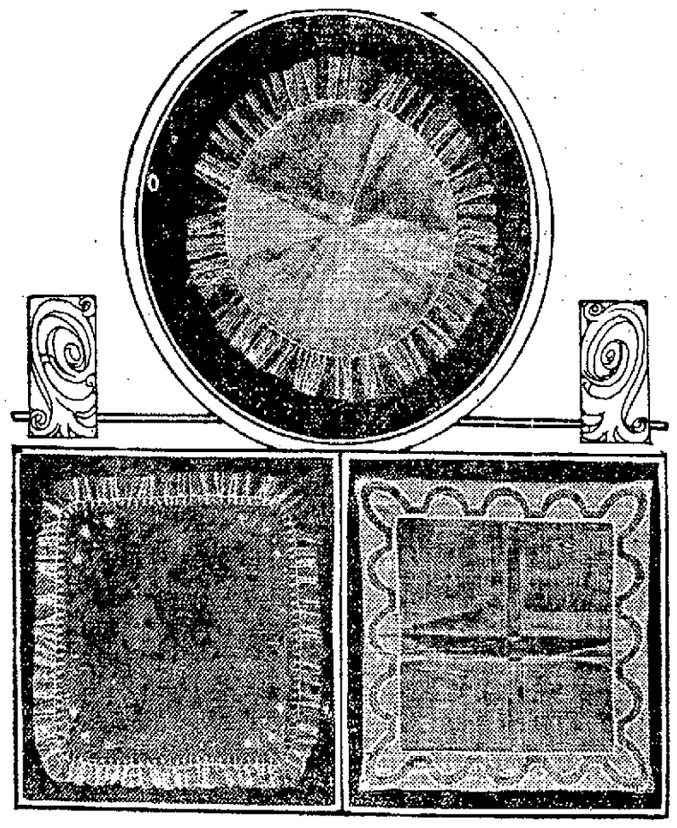
NEW FAVORS

THE distracted hostess who is planning a card party in the near future will be delighted to hear of new favors, useful, appropriate and artistic. They are nothing more or less than bud vases, with a silver stand and a glass stem. They do not measure over three inches in height, but the stand is in the shape of a heart, spade, club or diamond. Stand these with tiny rosebuds about the table of your June card party, and feel sure that your guests will appreciate what you have chosen for remembrances of the event.

A QUIET HOUR BOWL

IN LONDON, where nerves are taut and strain and suffering continual, a fad has sprung up for "quiet-hour bowls." These are glass bowls of a deep shade of green, and are filled with water, in which a few lily leaves float. Just what influence these are supposed to exert is not known, but women claim that tired eyes and nerves are rested by gazing into the cool green depths of the water during the rest hour.

Three New Handkerchiefs



THERE has been such a furore over the new handkerchiefs, they are being made in such unusual shapes and color combinations, that it is only fair to give interested women readers an idea of what these new handkerchiefs really look like. Instead of being merely a generous square of linen for use, they are now any geometric figure of any material for ornament, and only occasionally for use. As one girl put it, "They are for show and not for blow." Of course, one can get the plain kind with colors that will not come out in the wash, and sufficiently thick to absorb the moisture from a fevered brow.

For instance, who would ever in her wildest moments dream of a net handkerchief? Yet here it is before you with embroidered corners and edge and trimmed with a net footing. It is a delightful little accessory to carry with the light summer frock, but there its excuse for being stops. The embroidery is either white or a light color to match the gown. This handkerchief may be explained by the vogue for pockets. One must have something frilly to peek above their edges, hence handkerchiefs such as this net one.

And why should a handkerchief be square? There is no law for them! In fact, they were not always thus, until some queen lady started the fad. Here is a round of the finest handkerchief linen hemstitched by machine, of course, and finished with a net footing. Sometimes these handkerchiefs are of a solid color with a white footing, or sometimes the net will be colored.

Wide hems that incorporate the design are very unique, and what is more, do not interfere with the usefulness of the handkerchief. Here is one that is a plain white linen with the deep hem turned back on itself, and the scalloped border obtained by cutting away the hem and hemstitching the raw edges. Often instead of a hem a colored facing is used and follows an uneven hem line to make the ornate design.

VOICE APPROVAL OF WILSON'S COURSE

Congress is With the President in New Move Toward Mexico.

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson faced no criticism in congress today for his call of militia to the colors.

Republicans and democrats voiced their approval and announced their readiness to back up the president in any firm and decisive course he may take with respect to Mexico. The republicans think decisive action in the Mexican situation some time ago might have prevented the present mobilization of militia. They are hoping that the warning to Carranza will be sufficient and that Carranza's answer to the latest note sent him by this government may result in a speedy mobilization of a majority of the state troops. But they are prepared to go along with the president to the last ditch.

Works Expects a Fight.

Senator Works of California (Rep.)—I believe that intervention in Mexico must follow. We must go into the country and take care of it and the people for a time.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina (Dem.)—The situation looks serious. If Carranza is bluffing, his bluff will be called. If he is not bluffing, war cannot be avoided.

Senator Reed of Missouri (Dem.)—The national guard has been called out, and I heartily approve of that move. There ought to be a sufficient force of United States troops on that border for any eventuality. The mobilization of the guard will provide excellent training for the men and officers, and much good will have been derived from the experience, whether the men see actual fighting or not.

Weeks Blames Wilson Policy.

Senator Weeks of Massachusetts (Rep.)—The failure of the administration's Mexican policy is being shown. If a firm policy had been adopted in the first place this trouble might have been avoided.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio (Dem.)—I haven't heard any one suggest that we are going to withdraw our troops from Mexico and I do not think that we are going to. While I hope there will not be war, the situation looks very bad.

Representative L. E. Wheeler (Rep.)—I am for any action necessary to protect the rights of Americans and to uphold the dignity and honor of our country.

Chiperfield Sees Protection.

Rep. Chiperfield, of Illinois, (Rep.), an officer of the Illinois national guard—I do not think that intervention in Mexico is intended. The president's order simply means that the national guard is called out because of the exigencies of the occasion—perhaps political exigencies. I do not think that it is intended they shall invade Mexico. My judgment is that they will be sent to some rendezvous to while the time away until some pretext is found for returning them to their stations. If the call is for an earnest purpose there is no guardsman but will most gladly respond. If the call is in any way associated with the game of politics the displeasure of the guardsmen and all of their associates will be visited upon the heads of those who play the game.

Rep. Madden of Chicago (Rep.)—The whole Mexican matter has been badly handled. I expect to support the resolution for drafting the militia into the federal service without delay if desired. I am anxious to protect the lives of American citizens and American property in Mexico. One objection I have is that it has been delayed too long. My regret is that when the president went to Vera Cruz to get a salute to the flag he came away without it.

"Uphold Wilson"—McKinley.

Representative McKinley, of Illinois, (Rep.)—I am for sustaining the president in any power he needs in connection with the Mexican situation. My continuing regret is that he did not ask for this power three years ago.

Representative Stafford, of Wisconsin, (Rep.)—Individually, it has been my opinion since the president delivered his message on the Mexican situation in August, 1913, that the president's initial and consistent position of opposition to Huerta would ultimately compel our government to intervention. It is only a question of time when we will be compelled to intervene and restore order.

Representative Sherwood, of Ohio, (Dem.)—I believe there are enough troops in Gen. Pershing's expedition now in Mexico to go right on to Mexico City. If there is work to be done, the national guard can do it.

Views of Indiana Men.

Rep. Cox, of Indiana, (Dem.)—I think that if the Americans go into Mexico that they should not stop until they raise the flag over Mexico City. They should establish a stable government.

Rep. Rauch, of Indiana, (Dem.)—Our people are in danger of border attacks and steps should be taken to give ample relief to that situation.

Rep. Beakes, of Michigan, (Dem.)—This getting ready for trouble will be the best answer to Carranza's bluff and will do more to ward off trouble than anything else that could be done.

BIG INCREASE IN BOY SCOUTS.

Gain of 72,000 in Membership in Last Four Months Reported.

New York, June 20.—Recruiting of the Boy Scouts has progressed so rapidly that within the last four months the membership has increased by 72,077, reports James E. West, chief scout executive. The net gain in membership since last year is more than 43,000 and the total registered scouts now number 152,952, besides 45,000 officially enrolled as leaders.

"This group of more than 225,000 men and boys is larger than our combined army and navy and almost as large as the proposed new army," said Mr. West.

PICKARD'S SALE OF HOOSIER

Kitchen Cabinets

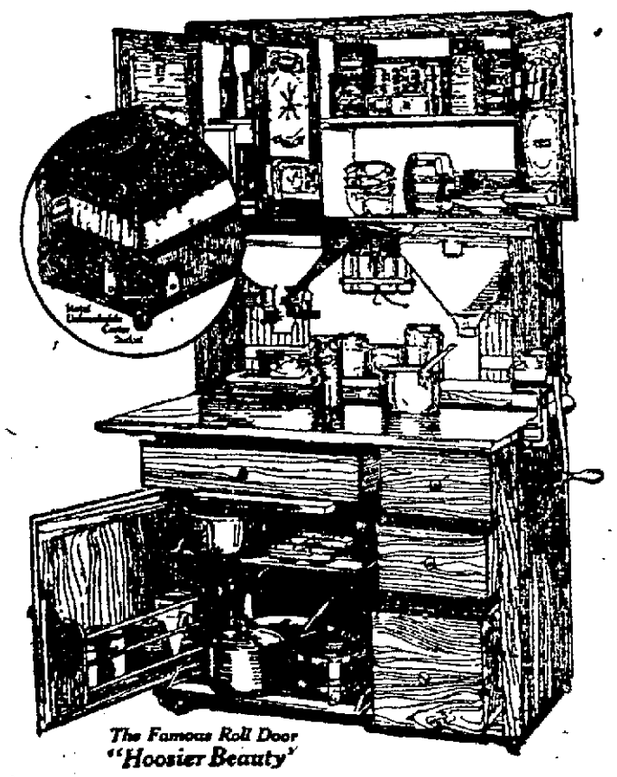
With Mr. Warren Ellenwood In Charge For THIS WEEK

Come and see what thousands of women saw at the San Francisco Fair last year, where the Hoosier won the Gold Medal awarded by the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Mr. Warren Ellenwood, who will have charge of this sale during this week, and who will receive the bonus offered by the manufacturers of Hoosier cabinets for every sale made within this period, is especially anxious to have his friends who may have been anticipating the purchase of a Hoosier cabinet, call and see his demonstration of this marvelous labor-saver.

Mr. Ellenwood, who has been employed by the Pickard House Furnishing Company for the past seven years and who previous to that time was with Alex H. Staub, is an enthusiast about the ability of a Hoosier to save housework and he urges the women of Fort Wayne and vicinity to come in and see this fact proven.

The Hoosier is really an "automatic servant." It has 40 features that aid you in cooking and save you time and labor.



The Famous Roll Door "Hoosier Beauty"

Its Perfect Construction Surpasses All Other Cabinets Made

--1--

Hoosier's Shaker Flour Sifter makes flour fluffy and light. Works faster than rotary sifter. Avoids grit or broken wire. Can't wear out.

--2--

Hoosier's Revolving Spice Castor puts the spices where you need them at your finger tips. No danger of knocking over any of them or spilling them.

--3--

Hoosier's Double Acting Sugar Bin is the only sugar bin from which sugar can be taken with equal ease from the top or the bottom; has three times the capacity of most bins which permits buying in economical quantities.

--4--

Hoosiers are made with hinge doors or full view roll doors above the base. The Hinge doors have remarkably convenient utensil trays. The Roll doors are open—no pockets or cubby-holes. There is only 50c difference in price between the two.

Remember, there are Hoosiers for farms, camps, apartments, big kitchens, little ones, for window spaces and the center of big kitchens. No further need for old-fashioned, built-in, unclean-able cupboards.

$14.00 to $43.00 { $1 on delivery / $1 weekly

If you think that you can't spare the time to come, then you confess that you need a Hoosier badly, because it would give you so many spare hours for a lifetime.

Come and see this Gold Medal demonstration! Get our low prices and money-back offer. And please bring some friend with you.

THEY'RE GOING TO PLAY AMERICAN GAMES.

HENRIETTA AND ARTHUR COLBRAN, aged 5 and 3 years, who until just a week or so ago, had never seen a white playmate, knew nothing of the delights of the kindergarten and were absolutely ignorant of the many interesting things that are common knowledge to most "kiddies" of their age.

The youngsters were born in the wilds of interior Korea and were the only white children in that region. As there were no satisfactory schools for the little "foreigners," they were taught by a governess.

They began to learn American ways when they arrived in San Francisco with mother and father the other day. A. H. Colbran, their daddy, is a wealthy mining man, who has spent 20 years in the Korean interior. He recently sold his holdings and brought his family to the United States.

Now Henrietta and Arthur are fascinated with the idea of having real white children to play with and a chance to learn American games.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

Laporte Chamber of Commerce is Trying Team Plan to Gain.

Laporte, Ind., June 20.—An unique plan to interest business men more easily in the campaign for new members of the new chamber of commerce has just been formulated by the membership committee. The thirty members of the committee have been divided into two sections and each section into five teams, making three men on each team.

The campaign opened officially Monday night and the team captains will report each night during the present week. The point system will be used and each new member will count ten points. The collection of dues from an old member will also count five points, while the collections of six months dues will count three points. A new member with no dues paid will count five points.

FUNERAL AT MONROEVILLE.

Decatur, Ind., June 20. S. C. David went to Monroeville Monday to make arrangements for the funeral of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Catherine Cline, who passed away Sunday at 4:30 o'clock at his home on Seventh street. Mrs. Cline, who was seventy-four years old last Thursday, was the widow of George Cline, who died forty years ago. She has made her home lately with her children. Five weeks ago she came here from Monroeville on a visit and while enroute suffered a slight stroke of paralysis. Complications arose and she has gradually declined. For a week or more she had been unconscious and her death was expected momentarily.

IN TWO ACCIDENTS.

Columbia City, Ind., June 20. Miss Grace Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, of Richland township, who spent Saturday in this city, doing some shopping, figured in two bad mishaps as she was leaving the city for her home. The first one happened when the Henry Lutcelt auto struck the buggy, and the horse she was driving whirled and threw her out of the rig, and the second occurred when the young lady started home the second time in another rig and the horse became unmanageable as it was passing the scene of the first accident. Both buggies were badly damaged but the young lady escaped with slight injuries.

ARRESTED FOR PROVOKE.

Bluffton, Ind., June 20.—Gottlieb Hannie, a farmer living north of Vera Cruz, was arrested Saturday afternoon, on surety of peace proceedings and on a charge of provoke, filed against him in Mayor Mock's court by Jonas Neuenschwander, a neighbor, who alleges, among other things, that Hannie threatened him with a butcher knife Friday night, at Vera Cruz. Their trouble is said to date back about two years, originating over a quarrel over a fence. Hannie's hearing was set for next Saturday at one o'clock, and Joseph Rich, a neighbor of Hannie, furnished bond for him in the sum of $100 in each case.

MARRIED IN FORT WAYNE.

Bluffton, Ind., June 20.—The announcement of the marriage of Miss Ethel Crum, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crum, of Uniondale, and Mr. Harley Cowle Osborn, of Ossian, a son of Jacob W. Osborn, came as a happy surprise to their many friends. The young couple came to this city late Saturday afternoon and procured their marriage license and departed for Fort Wayne, where they had the nuptial ceremony performed. They will reside at Ossian, where Mr. Osborn is employed at a garage.

TO ENTER HOSPITAL.

Portland, Ind., June 20. Dr. Chester Frazier, a former Portland boy, but now a resident of Bluffton, has gone to Boston where he will enter a hospital there as an interne. He will begin his duties the first of July. Next year he will complete a course at the Indiana Medical college at Indiana university. He is a member of the Delta Tau fraternity at Wooster, Ohio.

DECATUR PASTOR TO THE FRONT.

Decatur, Ind., June 20. Rev. Fred F. Thornburg, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Decatur, and chaplain of the Third regiment of the Indiana national guard, was notified yesterday by Col. A. L. Kuhlman, of Auburn, commanding the regiment, to hold himself in readiness to join his regiment for service on the Mexican border at any time.

PUBLIC LIBRARY BROKEN INTO.

Portland, Ind., June 20. A burglar early Sunday morning broke into the Portland public library through a window in the librarian's office. Hearing the thief coming up the front stairs John Kutcher, the attendant, struck a match and the man ran across the front of the building and through the office and out of the window. Nothing is missing.

GIRL PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Keystone, Ind., June 20.—Miss Minnie Alexander, former Keystone girl, charged with embezzlement, pleaded not guilty in the Marion city court and was released under $500 bond. Her case was set for next Thursday afternoon. The girl's father, Harry Alexander, is quoted as saying that she had gone to Decatur to work.

MAY ESTABLISH BUS LINE.

Kendallville, Ind., June 20.—E. W. Howenstine, of Columbia City, is here investigating the advisability of establishing an auto bus line from Albion, Kendallville, Brimfield and Rome City. He owns two large 16-passenger motor busses which he can use for carrying passengers.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Hartford City, June 20.—Albert Thomas, farmer, charged with murder in the first degree, pleaded not guilty in circuit court, Monday, shortly before 11 o'clock. "No, I am not guilty," replied Thomas to the reading of the indictment returned against him by the grand jury.

CARD OF THANKS.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

BIG DEMONSTRATION NEXT FRIDAY EVENING

Monster Parade Will Be Given Under Auspices of Men's Christian League

Preparations are being made for a monster parade to be given next Friday evening under the auspices of the Men's Christian League. Every member of the league together with all others who wish to participate are requested to meet at the First Baptist church at 7:15 o'clock and march through the principal streets of the city to the tent at Main and Ewing streets, where a series of summer evangelistic services are in progress.

Detective Wilmoth, former patrolman, who sang with Loren G. Jones during the Lyon meeting and which caused no little commotion in police circles, sang a duet with Mr. Jones Monday evening. The "sunbeams" and "moonbeams" sang a chorus, "The Touch of His Hand on Mine." Mr. Jones also sang a solo.

While the attendance Monday evening was not large, there was no little enthusiasm and it is predicted that before the meetings close the big tent will be taxed to its full capacity. In making the evening announcements Rev. O. E. Tomes stated that he didn't bring an umbrella with him but wore a straw hat as he didn't expect it to rain. He said, however, that he did expect that Rev. Nipper was going to "get under the hides of some of we Christians."

Rev. Nipper's Sermon.

Rev. Nipper took his text from Amos 6-1, "Woe unto them that are at ease in Zion."

We are too prone to think that texts of this kind are meant for the man outside the church when a calamity hits a nation, city or home. But if you will notice, this text is directed to the church, and I believe that if God can keep the church where it ought to be, we are not going to have much trouble settling a lot of other things. Notice the text. "At ease in Zion." Long years ago there was a hill, and it was named Mt. Zion, upon which there was builded a city, and that city was called the city of Zion. It was from this city that the little group of disciples started to build the church. We look upon this body of people as the old ship Zion, so when we read the text, in Amos 6-1, we can read it, "Woe unto them that are at ease in the church."

When we give man the praise that God should have, we expect a calamity. It hasn't been very long ago since man made a great boat that was non-sinkable, and man was being given a great deal of praise. From the way he was lauded, you would have thought God did not have anything to do with it. But while a man was seated in his den in the dark hours of the night drawing up the blue print of the greatest boat that was to travel the sea, God was forming a great ice berg, and one night in the North sea, man's invention and God's creation came together. In my imagination I can see the finger of God pointing at the sinking boat and saying, "There goes the wisdom of man."

Must Be First.

When we let down on our support in the church for our own selfish purpose, we can expect something to happen to us. I knew a man that was very much interested in the church, but he put himself up a nice home, which is alright, but when he was called upon to take care of an obligation he made with the church, he said he was tied up too much with his property and that he thought he owed that to himself first. When I saw the same young man lying in state in the same beautiful home, the thought came to me, "Yes, you put God on the shelf and were looking out for a nice place to enjoy yourself and you have not lived to enjoy it." I tell you it is not fair to put God last. He must be put first.

Lust for Money.

The lust for money will bring calamity. If every man that is striving for money would put forth the same effort for the things of God, he would come out better in this world and also in the next one.

Money will not prolong your life. Every person wants to live just as long as he can, but money is the last thing in the world to make it possible. If money could prolong our lives, there would be a great many people that would live a great deal longer than they do. I have tried to imagine myself wanting to live to be one hundred and fifty years old, and I go to Thomas Edison and I say, "You are the man that does things, you are the man that has taken the spark from the clouds and has made the cars to run, and you have taken the same spark and have illuminated our homes, and I want to live to be of a great age and I believe if there is a man in the world that can do it for me, you can." I can hear him say, as a king in the Old Testament has said, "What do you think I am, a God?"

I have tried to imagine myself at the sinking of the Titanic and in the presence of John J. Astor, and saying to him, "You don't have to go down on this boat, you have too much money; it is all right for that foreigner who hasn't anything in this world, and is on his way to America to begin life, to go down, but not for you." That poor foreigner and John J. Astor, who both came into this world without a cent, must go down together and when they face one another in the judgment, one will be worth just as much as the other. We cannot bribe God just because we have a little money.

Cemeteries Would Be Full.

"Say if money would bring back your loved ones the cemeteries would be filled tomorrow, but money will not do it. Jesus, however, will prolong your life and will also give our loved ones back to us again, because by giving ourselves to Him now, we live cleaner lives. Any person who does that will always live longer. He is the only hope we have in the resurrection, at which time our loved ones are restored to us again.

Some one says I know of calamities that happened and Christian people have died in them but this is only the old story of the innocent suffering for and with the guilty. Jesus was innocent and they killed Him, and knowing that He suffered for you, come and accept Him.

SOME NIPPERISMS IN TABLOID FORM

There are three kinds of people who work in every revival: The contrary; those who want to be coaxed, and those who come in on the tail end and then say, "Look what we have done."

Some people in the church are so cold they would freeze a thermometer in the torrid zone.

Fort Wayne doesn't need a lot of conversions so much as she does the Christian people to take a definite stand for Christ.

We buy umbrellas to keep the rain off, but it seems to have become a sin for some people to carry them to church.

If the gates of heaven could be pried open with money there would be a lot of people get there without Christ.

If you had a pile of money as big as this tent, you would have to leave it all when you said your last good-bye.

WHO?

She is Marguerite Clark, popular photoplayer. She was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. She made her stage debut at the age of 12 and scored her greatest success in "Baby Mine" in which she starred for three years. She joined the movies as a star for Famous Players. Her work in "Wildflower," "Still Waters," "The Prince and the Pauper," and "Molly Make Believe" has won her followers by the thousands.

Her winsome, childish ways and wonderful personality have added to her popularity. She has red hair, brown eyes, weighs 119 pounds and is scarcely more than five feet tall.

BEFORE AND AFTER AT VERDUN.

After the battle raged more than 100 days, Verdun looked as shown in the picture below.

GIRL TO MAKE DASH OVER ARCTIC CIRCLE

Miss Allen May Pay Surprise Visit to Explorer Stefansson.

Seattle, Wash., June 20.—Grizzled old Vilhjalmar Stefansson is going to peer over the top o' the world some fine morning and see—

Miss Anita Allen, co-ed.

And it's not unlikely that he will kick over a few icebergs and jump up and down like the northern lights.

For Anita, the best looking 20-year-old member of Delta Gamma sorority at

MISS ANITA ALLEN.

Stanford university, is in Seattle getting ready to make a dash beyond the arctic circle to see Vilhjalmar.

She is going with Capt. Louis Lane and a crew of millionaire whale hunters on the Great Bear to the land of the blonde Eskimos, around Point Barrow and Banks Land.

Explorer Stefansson, it must be explained, has been up there for a couple of years and he has a date with Capt. Lane. They have planned to meet when the ice breaks this summer.

Miss Allen, with her aunt, Mrs. Capt. Lane, was found at a hotel here, digging through a pile of maps. The young lady looked ready for anything but harpooning whales and shooting walruses.

She was dressed in white from her throat to her toes. She is the dainty smiling, girlish, campus type. Her home is in Palo Alto, Cal. She is the daughter of Mrs. Theophilus Allen, who is not the least bit worried about Miss Allen's adventurous cruise. So says Anita.

"I haven't any idea of how I can help a party of traders, hunters and explorers," confessed Anita, "but they insisted that I go along. I'm not holding that against them. Anyone would like to go up there, where no white girl has ever been before."

A typewriter, she explained, will be hers to pound week in and week out.

"I'm going to try to write feminine impressions about things that go over men's heads," she said. "Capt. Lane insists that I must harpoon a whale from a small boat and shoot a walrus before I come back. We shall see about that."

The problem of clothes is not bothering Miss Allen.

"I'll have an Eskimo parka of fur," she explained, "and flannel skirts. Don't say anything about trousers."

The Great Bear, the sturdy ice bucker which will be launched for the trip in a week or so, meets with Anita's approval.

"The name is just right," she declares. "The Great Bear is a bear of a vessel. She's so sturdy—30 inches through the hull—that when she hits the ice, well, I just feel sorry for the ice, that's all."

The explorers will leave Seattle about the middle of June. They will touch on the Siberian coast and trade with the natives and then go to Nome. Then the route will be up through Bering Strait into the Arctic ocean, around Point Barrow and on to Herschel Island and Banks Land, where strange people, strange animals and Vilhjalmar Stefansson are cut off from the rest of the world.

INDIANA MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Frank Moseley, Moore's Hill, Ind., writes: "I was troubled with almost constant pains in my sides and back and attributed it to weakening of my kidneys. I got a package of Foley Kidney Pills. Great relief was apparent after the first doses and in 48 hours all pain left me." If you have rheumatism, backache, swollen, aching joints or stiff, painful muscles, why not try Foley Kidney Pills? They stop sleep-disturbing bladder ailments, too. Dreier Drug C.—Advertisement.

The Outlook for Summer Silks Is Very "Blue!"

Just now the ever popular blue and white polka-dot Silk is on the high crest of Fashion's favor, and each day brings an increasing demand for it.

This week we are featuring particularly smart silk with polka dots—many blue with white dots, and vice versa. Very stunning are the coin dots of midnight blue on a white ground, the blue being as dark as to appear almost black.

See these charming Silks displayed in our East Window.

The Stout Woman

Because a woman is stout, it does not mean that she cannot obtain good figure lines and look equally as well as her more slender sister.

Stout figures properly corseted, are often a better foundation for the gown than a slight figure.

American Lady Corsets are designed for all types of figures, including many modish models for the stout and medium stout figure.

Whether your figure is slender, medium or stout, may we suggest "Your" American Lady Corset model?

Prices range from $1 to $5.

THINKS THE COLONEL WILL SUPPORT HUGHES

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 20.—After a conference here last night with Theodore Roosevelt, United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, declared that he believed the former president would support Charles E. Hughes in the forthcoming campaign.

"I found Col. Roosevelt looking much better than I had expected," said Senator Lodge. "Of course we discussed Mr. Hughes, but very little of Mexico."

"Will the colonel support Mr. Hughes?" he was asked.

"That is my impression," replied Senator Lodge.

Significance was attached to Senator Lodge's visit as it was said he had conferred earlier in the day in New York with Mr. Hughes and W. Murray Crane.

It was the first time the senator had seen Col. Roosevelt since the latter suggested him as a compromise candidate to the republican and progressive conventions in Chicago.

Senator Lodge spent more than an hour with the former president, after which he left for Washington.

How to Get Rid of a Cold.

Summer colds are serious. Read how C. E. Summers, Holdredge, Neb., got rid of his: "I contracted a severe cough and cold and could hardly sleep. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and the very first dose relieved me. I took a second dose before going to bed and can truthfully say I did not cough all night. By using as directed the next two days my cough was entirely cured and I give Foley's Honey and Tar full credit for my speedy recovery." Foley's always soothes and heals. Children love it. RICHARD ELBEL COMING.

Richard Elbel, of South Bend, vice-president of the Erie and Michigan Deep Waterways association, has written that he will be in attendance at the meeting of the association to be held Thursday evening. The meeting is called for the purpose of taking some definite action relative to an appeal from the adverse report of the army board on the construction of the Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal.

The Modern Americans will give a penny social, dance and pedro Wednesday evening at Dehm's hall.

TO BUILD TOOL HOUSE.

C. J. Getz, park superintendent, began today the construction of a tool house at Foster park. It will be built from the materials used in erecting the one at Reservoir park and which was wrecked when it was decided to hold the pageant at Reservoir park. The tool house will be 20x20 feet in size.

SPENT AN HOUR IN FORT WAYNE

President E. F. Kearney and Other Wabash Officials on Inspection.

The Wabash inspection party, traveling on a special train, passed through Fort Wayne at 11:30 o'clock this morning, en route for Buffalo, where they will get the board of directors and make a return trip, reaching Fort Wayne again Friday. Not all of the higher officials were in the party, a noticeable absence being General Manager S. E. Cotter, who will join them later. The personnel of the party included President E. F. Kearney, Vice President J. E. Taussig, Vice President W. C. Maxwell, Freight Traffic Manager C. H. Stinson, Passenger Traffic Manager J. D. McNamara, Purchasing Agent T. J. Frier, Superintendent of Locomotive and Car Department E. F. Needham, District Passenger Agent W. H. Shorey, Division Storekeeper E. L. Ensel, Engineer of aMintenance of Way W. S. Danes, Master Mechanic G. W. Smith and Division Superintendent E. A. Sollitt. This was President E. F. Kearney's first stop in Fort Wayne in his present capacity, though he has passed through the city several times since taking charge of the property. All of the local men, included being Commercial Agent A. L. Gilbert, Local Freight Agent Charles P. Porter, Ticket Agent F. C. Eggers, Yardmaster James Gogerty, General Foreman W. J. Walsh, Baggagemaster Louis Lussenhup and others were at the depot to meet the officials and accompany them over the premises.

OLD AGE PENSION FUND.

Knitting Mills Company Makes Welcome Announcement.

At the annual meeting of the Wayne Knitting Mills Benefit society last night, President T. F. Theime, of the Knitting Mills company, made the announcement that the company had set aside $50,000 as a nucleus for an old age and insurance fund it was desired to establish and outlined the policy of the company as to future support of the system. The plan contemplates voluntary contributions by employes until the fund has been doubled and the payment of a $500 life insurance policy upon the death of a member. The details of the plan have not been worked out, however, and it will take some months to do that. On the suggestion of Mr. Thieme a representative committee of the employes was appointed to canvass the works, setting forth the objects and aims of the movement and ascertain the best means of working out the system In his address President Thieme said: "If any of our employes should pay into this fund for a number of years and then drop out, they would lose any old age benefits, of course, but they would receive back whatever they had paid in. We want all our employes to feel that when they get old or sickness or disability overtakes them that they need have no fear or dread of the future. They won't have to worry as we shall have a fund to provide and protect and care for them in their old age."

COMPLETE THE BRIDGE

Nickel Plate Puts in Last Stringer at Osage Street.

Last night the Nickel Plate men engaged in the work, put in the last stringer on the piling for the temporary bridge under the tracks at Osage street. Moellering, the contractor, is now pushing the excavation work and expects to have the excavation wide enough to drive a team through it by tomorrow night. Then it will not be necessary to lose time turning the wagons that are to be filled with dirt. They will come in on one side and go out on the other, thus expediting the work. Excavating for the subway, while a big job, is not all there is to do by a great deal, and after that is accomplished, the work of putting in the concrete piers and floor will consume several weeks.

REAR END COLLISION.

Wabash Passenger Train Crashes Into a Freight.

Lafayette, Ind., June 20.—Eastbound Wabash passenger train No. 50, due in this city at 7:40 p. m. but running two hours late, crashed through an open switch at Attica at 9:30 o'clock last night, telescoping the rear of freieght train No. 63 whic hhad taken the siding. Frank Woodruff, of this city, was riding the pilot of the passenger engine and was fatally injured. Engineer Whipple, of No. 50, received serious injuries and Conductor McMullenc, of No. 63, was badly bruised. The baggage car was demolished, as was the caboose and several freight cars.

HIT HARD BY THE CALL.

Eighteen Employes of General Electric Works Belonged to N. G.

While all of the industrial institutions of Fort Wayne were affected by the call to mobilize the national guard, none were affected more than the General Electric works, where there were eighteen members of the guard who responded and several recruits later. Among the latter was John Green, of the general testing department, and there are more to come, it is said.

PEDRO AND DANCE.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 136, Borthernood of Railway Trainmen, will enjoy a pedro party and dance at Unity hall Wednesday evening. The affair is only for the brotherhood men and their families and invited guests.

Earl Rogers, of the Wabash freight office, who was operated upon at St. Joseph hospital recently, is doing well and hopes to be out soon.

Henry Uhlenhake, caller of engine crews for the Nickel Plate, has returned to duty after spending a few days at a lake in Michigan, where he was most successful in fishing.

Machinist Otto Fatzer, formerly of the Western Gas Construction company's plant, took employment with Foreman Charles Brenner in the main machine shop of the General Electric works.

H. W. Young, an assembler in the big machine shop at the General Electric works, is off duty on account of sickness. George McEwen, janitor in the same shop, is still off duty, having been sick over a week.

BILLY BRENNAN AT WORK.

Although he had a finger amputated less than two weeks ago, Machinist William Brennan is at work again at the General Electric works, commencing yesterday morning. He operates machinery in the big machine shop under Foreman Charles Brenner. Other machinists who had been sick and who reported in that department for work this morning were R. C. Cassady and Charles Armstrong.

RETURNE DTO OLD POSITIONS.

After an absence of over a year, S. P. Niswander, who had been conducting a meat market, and Fred Boigt, who had been working at the Dudlo Manufacturing plant, resumed their positions with Foreman F. S. Walburn in the transformer department of the General Electric works this morning. They were given a hearty welcome by the men with whom they work in that department a years ago.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The Pennsylvania limited tonight will run in two sections, on account of the very heavy passenger business.

O. R. Roesner, assistant file clerk at the Pennsylvania motive power offices, has gone to Coldwater, Ohio, to spend a few days with his parents.

Switchman D. C. Murphy, of the Nickel Plate, is off duty on account of the marriage of his daughter, mentioned elsewhere in the Sentinel.

R. A. Blair, road supervisor of the Nickel Plate, was at Argos yesterday, looking after some track improvements that are in progress there.

Engineer H. L. Francis is visiting at Payne, Ohio, and Engineer Herb Minser is at the lakes fishing. They are Nickel Plate employes.

Miss Ada Garman, stenographer in the engineering department at the General Electric works, is spending a vacation in Pittsburg.

A. J. Francis, manager of the Chicago office of the General Electric works, is here on business with the officials today.

Nickel Plate Engineer Banner Fullerton is taking a lay-off to take an automobile trip. Engineer F. H. Tolley is laying off to look after private business.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Richey, the former of the transformer engineering department of the General Electric works, have returned home after an outing of a few days at Clear Lake.

William Bittler, superintendent of water works of the Pennsylvania, has a force of men engaged installing new and larger water pipes in the blacksmith shop.

W. F. Graham, assistant fuel clerk of the Pennsylvania motive power offices, who is taking his annual vacation, will leave in a few days with his daughter for Rochester, N. Y., to visit relatives.

H. E. Crane, at the head of the construction and production departments of the General Electric works, has not been at his office for two or three days on account of the serious illness of his father, Attorney George D. Crane.

J. B. Fowler, division storekeeper of the Pennsylvania, took his seven-months-old baby to the hospital this morning for examination by several physicians. The little one has been ill all its life.

Oscar Bender, assistant to Foreman F. S. Walburn, of the transformer department of the General Electric works, who has been spending a week at Pittsburg, will return tonight and resume his duties tomorrow.

L. G. Otten, day clerk at the N. Y. C. yards, was taken seriously ill while at work yesterday and had to be taken to his home. He is threatened with a nervous breakdown. Mr. Otten only recently resumed work after a sickness.

B. F. Sarver, general foreman of the boiler department of the Pennsylvania, is again at the hospital and is making good progress towards recovery. Mr. Sarver went to Hope hospital a few days ago for a surgical operation for relief from tonsilitis.

The pay rolls in the detail department of the General Electric works, G. F. Rogge, foreman, again contain the name of Tony Hauck, a machinist. Mr. Hauck resigned three years ago on account of his health, but is now much better.

Engineers B. R. Garver, O. Mills, R. E. Helsel, C. H. Titus and G. B. Likely are at the lakes fishing and Engineers Pat Adams and John Moore are looking after private business. Firemen H. N. Madden and C. A. Bluff are also off duty for private business. All are employed on the Nickel Plate.

The vacation season is now on at the General Electric works offices and the heads of the departments are driven nearly to distraction by it, so great is the need for help of all kinds. One who started on two weeks vacation yesterday are H. C. Bryan and W. H. Becker and Miss Mary Leonard, the two former clerks and Miss Leonard is a stenographer.

Conductor C. W. Adams, who was off duty on acount of the serious illness of one of his children; Conductor T. H. Gallivan, who was sick a few days; Conductor G. M. Grummond, who had been spending a few days at Lake James; Conductor J. F. Welsh, who had been laying off to entertain his son, who came here from Pennsylvania a few days ago for a visit, and Brakeman B. H. Frush, who was looking after private business a few days, reported for work on the Nickel Plate this morning.

VERDICT IN WILLIAMS CASE.

Coroner McArdle Will Find That Mrs. Timbrook Was Not to Blame.

Coroner J .E. McArdle will probably return a verdict in a day or two finding that Hughie Williams, 10 years old, who was killed some days ago when he was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Roy Timbrook, came to his death as the result of an accident. The accident occurred on Lake avenue. The testimony showed that the Williams lad ran out in the street directly in front of the automobile to get his hat, and that Mrs. Timbrook had no warning or opportunity to bring her car to a stop before striking him.

IN THE CHURCHES

TWENTY DELEGATES OFF TO CONVENTION

Fort Wayne is Represented at State Sunday School Gathering.

Twenty delegates left Fort Wayne Tuesday to attend the Indiana Sunday school convention at Muncie, and other Sunday school workers will follow Tuesday evening on a special car.

The added feature of the convention this year is the singing conducted by Excell and Roper, who are trying to have everybody to join the choir, which will number in the thousands. There will be three rallies, the elementary for the younger delegates to the convention; the secondary rally will be for the middle-aged class of delegates, and last, the adult rally. Half of the day will be set aside for the Sunday school superintendents and matters that are of interest to all of them will be brought up. The convention will have plenty of prominent speakers who will address the delegates. Dr. W. E. Chalmers, of Philadelphia, who is the secretary of the department of education for the Baptist churches of the United States, will be one of the speakers of the day. J. A. Whitman, of New York; Dr. W. E. Crafts, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Mary Foster Bryner, of Chicago, and Dr. von Klein Smid, of Tuscon, Ariz., are also on the program.

CITY FORCES WILL UNITE IN PARADE

Mayor Hosey Gives Warm Endorsement of Project for Thursday.

Mayor William J. Hosey today gave impetus to the city's health and beautification parade, which will be held Thursday, when he announced the city administration's endorsement of the event, and said members of the various departmental branches of city government would take part in the motor parade. Three thousand children, it is predicted, will ride in this parade, designed to impress upon them the potency of their efforts to help beautify Fort Wayne as they attain maturer years.

Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt, in whose charge distribution of tickets has been to the children of the city, conferred with the mayor today, and he told her that the motor apparatus of the city, including two new fire trucks, No. 3 chemical, ladder truck No. 3, and the fire chief's car, would form a prominent part of the parade. "I will see the chairman of the board of safety and will be able, I think, to arrange for the exhibition of the city's motor equipment," declared the mayor.

"This parade will be strictly an auto affair; no one will walk," said Mrs. Nesbitt today. She said the automobile committee would be doing effective work to get 1,000 car sinto line. This number, she thought, should handle all children desiring to take part in the parade. Charles Biederwolf, secretary of the Fort Wayne Commercial Club, has sent notices to 2,500 automobile owners, asking them for the use of their cars. The parade will be the largest children's parade ever held in Fort Wayne and the event was enthusiastically planned under direction of the health board, the Real Estate exchange and the park board. These organizations have been co-operating with the Commercial club, the Rotary club, and the Fort Wayne Automobile association.

Children filled the offices of the health board today to get tickets permitting them to ride in the parade. Mrs. Nesbitt announces she still has a few tickets for distribution and these should be secured before the exact hour of the parade's forming if possible. The parade will form on both sides of Wayne street, west of the public library, heading east, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The line of march will be as follows: East on Wayne street to Hanna, south to Washington, east to Harmar, south to Maumee, east to Walton, south to Hayden, west to Hanna, north to Montgomery, west to Calhoun, south to Wildwood west to Fairfield, north to Brackenridge, east to Calhoun, north to Berry and east to the Majestic theater. The parade will cover eighty-nine blocks and be seven and a half miles long.

When the pageant has traversed the course the children will be unloaded at the Majestic theater to witness the kinemacolor pictures of the National Cash Register company, Dayton, O. The benefits of health and beauty in a city will be vividly set forth in these pictures. The moving pictures will be accompanied by a lecture and many Fort Wayne scenes will be shown. The great transformations a business organization made in the territory immediate to its plant will be shown in these pictures. The pictures are general in character, depicting civic efforts in many parts of the country and are the first of their kind shown in the United States.

Miss Minnette Baum is chairman of the ticket and chaperon committee and she has been active in the distribution of the tickets to the children. Fifty chaperons will assist the promoters of the parade in caring for the children and no risks will be encountered in allowing the children to enter the pageant, Mrs. Nesbitt declares. She says especial care has been taken not to cross grade crossings in the line of parade.

Street meetings in the interest of the civic health and beautification campaign will be held tonight at the corner of New Haven street and Edsall avenue and at Warren and New Haven streets. On Wednesday night meetings will be held at West Superior and Webster streets and at Fairfield avenue and Hendricks street.

NO BRIDGE THIS YEAR.

Park Board Balked in Its Plans for Spy Run.

A bridge over Spy Run creek will not be built this year by the county commissioners because the city has not provided suitable approaches. The park board had planned to install a dam connecting with the north abutments of the new bridge and form a basin that would serve as a swimming pool. The sum of $1,500 for that purpose was appropriated by the council last August.

Permission was asked from Comptroller Baade by the board of park commissioners to use the $1,500 to have been devoted this year to establishing a swimming pool in Spy Run creek, north of Fourth street, for the purchase of a lot 50x100 feet, at the northeast corner of Fifth and Clinton streets, adjacent to Lawton park, for the completion of the fill on South Broadway started last summer, for the erection of new backstops for tennis courts in Lakeside park and for the purchase of a $350 gasoline driven lawn mower.

The dam built by the city in the creek near Lawton park driveway bridge to make a basin to provide water for the condensers of the light and power plant is being used as a swimming pool and it will be necessary to provide another.

The lot which the board is desirous of purchasing, would cost $800 and it should be bought and added to the park, the board says, because the owner might erect a building on it marring the beauty of the park. Mayor Hosey urged that the lot be purchased.

The board passed resolutions of regret on the resignation of Prof. Louis Dorn as a member of the park board. Mayor Hosey says he has several successors to Prof. Dorn in view but he will not make a selection until the last of this week.

A combination boat house and comfort station will be erected on the bank of Delta lake in Lakeside park, just north of Lake avenue, by the department this summer and bids for construction have been asked.

Contracts with the Elk's band and the Fort Wayne Consolidated band, each of which is to give fourteen concerts in the city parks during the summer were signed at Monday's meeting of the board. The musicians will receive $2 a concert and the leaders $4.

STREET ORDERED VACATED.

The board of public works Monday adopted a resolution for the vacation of Greeley street from Webster to Ewing streets and from Ewing street to Fairfield avenue, a distance of two squares. Other resolutions adopted provide for the vacation of a driveway in Beechwood addition, the vacation of [illegible] alley west of Runnion avenue, from Mary street to the first alley north, and the condemnation of a strip of ground along the Nickel Plate right of way, from Hanna street to Francis street.

TENTH WARDERS TO MEET.

Wednesday night at 8 o'clock property owners of the Tenth ward will meet at the James H. Smart school to discuss improvement projects, chief among which will be a new fire engine house. It has been suggested that the city move No. 2 engine house to the south side of the Seventh ward, motorize it and let it protect for the entire southeast portion.

Misha Appelbaum Declares That He Does Not Want Money.

New York, June 20.—Misha Appelbaum, who announces in large advertisements his desire to have national, state and city conventions adopt a plan to reorganize the president's cabinet by creating the position of secretary of welfare, modestly refuses to tell who pays the freight for his propaganda.

Mr. Appelbaum, "founder and leader" of the Humanitarian cult, will go to Detroit to address a meeting arranged by Henry Ford, who has indicated his interest in Mr. Appelbaum's plan for relieving the distressed, for uplifting the downtrod, and for making the world better and brighter for all hands.

"We are absolutely non-sectarian, will not have any officers, will not incur any expenses and therefore will not levy any dues. Collections and contributions will not be permitted."

HELD TO CIRCUIT COURT.

LeRoy Taylor Put Under $1,000 Bond in Assault Case.

Following a lengthy trial in the city court Tuesday morning, LeRoy Taylor, charged with having assaulted a 13-year-old girl, was held to the circuit court under a bond of $1,000.

The little girl took the witness stand and testified as to the conduct of Taylor. He was arrested several weeks ago and his case had been continued. It is alleged that the crime was committed in the rear of a restaurant on Calhoun street.

FINDING FOR ROUCH IN INJUNCTION CASE

Judge Yaple Makes Decision in Which Raymond W. Karr is Loser.

Judge Carl Yaple, of the superior court, Tuesday afternoon found for the defendants in the case of Raymond W. Karr against John D. Rouch and others of the American Steel Dredge works for a permanent injunction to restrain the defendants from holding stockholders' meetings. Karr alleged he held 249 shares of stock but had no voice in the management. The plaintiffs will ask for a new trial.

Evidence Concluded.

Evidence was concluded late Tuesday afternoon in the case of Edward Davis, charged with a statuatory offense, the girl involved being Vairn Fleet. The girl was brought from the girls' school to testify before a jury. Argument began Tuesday afternoon.

Old Case Comes Back.

The case of Fred C. Lindenberg and Francis Lindenberg against Frank Valentine, on contract to collect $775, was today certified back to the Allen circuit court from Wells county. The defendant, father of the joint plaintiff, Francis Lindenberg, asked for the venue change from Allen county. The case, however, was transferred by mutual consent at the defendant's costs. The suit constitutes a claim of the plaintiffs for boarding and rooming the defendant from Dec. 1, 1912 to July 15, 1915. Valentine, it is alleged, agreed to pay a reasonable fee for such service. He failed to make payment and is also alleged to have been a burden when the plaintiffs were forced at times to care for him in an intoxicated state.

Auto Salesman Gets Divorce.

Howard Hoodmier, an auto salesman, was today in superior court granted a divorce from E. Laura Hoodmier, by Judge Yaple, at the costs of the plaintiff. The Hoodmiers were married April 1, 1900 and separated Aug. 18, 1913. The plaintiff alleged cruel treatment and desertion. One child, Ruth, aged 3, was born. The defendant did not appear to contest. O'Rourke and Lueke were attorneys for the plaintiff.

Taken Under Advisement.

The case of Gertrude Reed against Earl Reed for a divorce, which Judge Eggeman heard in circuit court today, was taken under advisement and it is possible a finding may not be given until fall. The court heard all the evidence. Mr. and Mrs. Reed were married June 18, 1914 and separated Jan. 6, 1916. The plaintiff alleges profanity. She asks a restraining order prohibiting the defendant from molesting her, and alimony of $1,090. The Reeds have been involved in two divorce actions prior to the present one. Reed is a teamster.

WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR CIVIC PARADE

Regular Meeting of Real Estate Exchange This Evening.

The Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange will meet this evening at the usual hour, 6:30 o'clock at the Commercial club, at which time arrangements will be made to take part in the great civic parade to be given on Thursday. Some of the real estate exchange members have predicted that the exchange will have one hundred machines in this parade, as some of the offices have signified a willingness to send three and even four machines.

It was the Fort aWyne Real Estate exchange that secured rMs. oJsephine Nesbit to assist in the better back yard campaign this summer.

It is important that every member be present at this meeting as there are other matters of interest to come up.

Edward Kearney, president of the Wabash railroad, St. Louis, Mo., was in the city Tuesday morning and promised Secretary Hilgemann, of the exchange, that on his return trip to St. Louis, next week, he would stop off an entire day and get acquainted with Fort Wayne. Mr. Kearney is very much impressed with Fort Wayne and predicts a great future for the city.

THE DEATHS.

WAGNER.

Frederick Wagner, aged fifty-seven years, died Monday at the Lutheran hospital following an extended illness due to uraemic poisoning. He had been a patient at the hospital only two days. The deceased was born in Germany, June 24, 1858, but had resided in this city for many years.

Besides the widow he is survived by two children, Oscar Wagner and Mrs. Fred Heider, both of this city, and three grandchildren.

The body was removed to the home of his son, 1109 Grant avenue, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. F. W. Knatz officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

ERTEL.

Frank Ertel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ertel, of 1608 Erie street, died at 12:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a local hospital following an illness due to complication of diseases. He had attained the age of 30 years. He was born and reared in Fort Wayne.

The deceased is survived by the parents, four brothers, Lous, Carl, Joseph and John Ertel, and four sisters, Mrs. William Hulker, Mrs. William Warner, Mrs. Frank Hoffman and Miss Anna Ertel, all of this city.

The remains have been removed to the family home.

PHILO.

Thirty minutes after she had entered St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday morning as a patient, Mrs. Elia May Philo, wife of Clarence Philo, of 1435 Broadway, passed away at the age of 27 years. Besides the husband she is survived by a son, Bruce, aged 9 years; the mother, Mrs. Emma Callaway; two sisters, Emma Callaway, and Mrs. Daisy Snider, and three half-brothers, Orville C., Robert and Arthur Callaway.

KELLER.

Mrs. Margaret Keller, widow of Abraham Keller, died Monday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock at the family home, 715 Barr street, following an illness due to Bright's disease. Two grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Celina M. Hall, of this city, survive her.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Foellinger.—Funeral services for Mrs. Christine Foellinger will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 2533 Broadway, and at 2:30 o'clock at Emmanuel Lutheran church, Rev. Phillip Wambsganss officiating. Interment at Lindenwood.

Thiele.—Funeral services for H. C. Thiele will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, sun time, at the residence and at 2 o'clock at St. Peter's Lutheran church. Interment at the church cemetery.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

CROWS WILL PLAY AT HOME SUNDAY

Fort Wayne Will See Two Fast Teams in Action at Local Park.

The Fort Wayne Crows will play the Fast Payne ball team here Sunday at League park. This is the second game of the five-game series being played between the two teams.

The Payne bunch of tossers are going fine and they are confident that they will lower the percentage of the Crows, which is bumping along about a 50-50 gait, playing most of their games out of town, which accounts for winning three and losing three games.

Lefty Grimes will be on the mound for the Paynetes and will deliver some goods that has stuff on it. The visitors brought 200 bugs with them on their former appearance here and Manager Bradly says he will have enough to reach 300 howling fans. The centennial committee will turn over the grounds in as good shape as they received them and promise to have them in fine condition by Sunday. Baseball has a hold on the fans this year and the indications are that there will be a large crowd.

PLOGSTERTH WINS HIGH SCHOOL TITLE

Mulholland is Runner Up in Singles of Net Tournament.

The high school tennis tournament has at last been complete with William Plogsterth the undisputed young champion of the school. Monday afternoon he defeated Murdock Mulholland in the finals by the score of 7-5, 6-2, 1-6, 6-8, 8-6. The games were thrillers all the way through and the plays were thrill after thrill, the spectators standing up in their excitement. The semi-finals were played off last week with the routed favorite, Leslie Popp, being beaten by Mulholland, a dark horse in the tournament. Popp was considered the best bet of the local squad of tennis players and the announcement of his defeat was quite a surprise to the followers of the sport. William Plogsterth needs no introduction to the fans as he is well known among the tennis bugs of the city. His play was fine Monday afternoon, although he had to hustle to win his match. The series of champions are: Plogsterth, winner of boys' singles; Popp and Plogsterth, winners of the boys' doubles; Hackis and Kampe, winners of the girls' doubles, and Miss Helen Hackis, the girl champion, winner of the girl singles.

This tennis tournament has developed a few stars, Leslie Popp and William Plogsterth. Both were the stars of the tennis team sent to Culver, although Popp lost his match at Culver, it does not tell how Popp played against the champion of Culver. He lost his match by the score of 7-5, 7-5. Plogsterth has played consistent tennis all the season and has beaten all those who have come his way. At Culver he walked away with his match and helped his team come back with the laurels of victory. The team representing the high school this year are mostly seniors and a new team will have to be built next year when they again journey to Culver.

BECOMES $10,000 FIGHTER.

Ted Lewis has developed into a $10,000 boxer within a year. The British welterweight star has sailed for Buenos Ayres to fill a $10,000 contract for boxing Albert Badoud and one other opponent within the next six months. Just one year ago Lewis, who was trying to break into the select fistic society, received $96 for boxing ten rounds with Johnny Marto at the St. Nicholas rink, New York. Since then he has climbed the ladder with tremendous strides.

HORSELESS AGE CLAIMS "POP" GEERS, WIZARD REINSMAN FOR 45 YEARS.

(By Harold Johnson.)

"Pop" Geers is driving a flivver. Yep the horseless age has claimed the grand old man of the harness world.

The silent Tennesseean, for forty-five campaigns a wizard reinsman, explained the presence of his Ford runabout at North Randall track, Cleveland, as an aid to his business.

"I do this," said Pop, cranking up his flivver, "so that I can get to my horses quicker. I am not looking for any automobile records. When I want to satisfy my craving for speed I do it in a bike behind one of my steppers."

Geers declined to pose for a photograph while driving his auto—so he had to be snapped.

Like Edison "Pop" Geers believes the ordinary man gets too much sleep.

"Five or six hours a night is plenty and I could get along on less," said Pop. "I always start to bed after 10 o'clock and I am up and dressed by 5. I never needed an alarm clock in my life. Just as a matter of form I leave a call for 5, but I have always been up and shaved and dressed when they ring me.

"This will be the biggest year in the history of trotting," predicted the grizzled veteran. "There never before was such a crop of great trotters ready to go against each other in the Ohio stake at North Randall, the M. and M. at Detroit and the other banner stakes around the circuit.

"Capt. Shaw's Peter Mac is a wonderful horse, but he'll have the fastest opposition that any great horse ever faced in his campaign. And he will have plenty of it, too."

Geers has two speedy trotters for these big stakes. He will pilot St. Frisco in the Ohio classic and Bonnington in the M. and M.

Something's radically wrong with the morale of the Athletics. The boys aren't running out their bases on balls in the old-fashioned way.

Joe Tinker predicted a pennant for the New York Giants. Joe has been on the stage long enough to appreciate good comedy.

According to Sherwood Nottingham Magee the Boston Braves are going to start climbing soon. Probably on some poor luckless umpire's neck.

Reports from the east have it that Tom Sharkey is broke. Somebody must have held the spendthrift tar while he went through his bank roll.

Johnny Evers has a sore arm. There are those rude persons who will maintain Johnny always had a sore head.

Being as how he is built like a baloon its only natural that Wilbert Robinson should fly high these days.

History has been unable to furnish the date when Dario Resta lost an important automobile race.

ERTLE OUTPOINTS RITCHIE.

St. Louis, Mo., June 20.—Johnny Ertle, of St. Paul, and Johnnie Ritchie, of Chicago, met last night in the feature bout at the Keokuk club's show at the Federal league ball park, and, after twelve rounds of fairly good fighting, Referee Sharpe announced Ertle winner on points. Ertle was easily the master from start to finish, exhibiting a right that was astounding, especially so to Richie. The verdict was a popular one with the crowd for it was clear that Ertle outpointed, outhit and outgeneraled his opponent.

FORT WAYNE GOLFERS IN WABASH

The Fort Wayne Country club's golf team will play the golf team of the Wabash Country club Wednesday afternoon at Wabash. Twelve members will likely compose the team. This is the locals' first out of town game so far this season and the result of their play will be looked on with interest. The local golfers will leave at 10:30 Wednesday over the interurban.

SIMPSON IN HOSPITAL.

Columbia, Mo., June 20.—Bob Simpson, star athlete of the University of Missouri track team, and holder of the world's record for the 120 yard high hurdles, was forced to enter the university hospital on Saturday with an infected foot. The infection started from a blister caused by a tight track shoe. The injury is not serious, but it will keep him off the track for a week.

CARRAN RECEIVES MEDAL.

Columbus, O., June 20—Charles A. Carran, of Lakewood, Ohio State's tennis star, has been selected as 1916 recipient of the Big Nine gold medal for proficiency in scholarship and athletics. Carran won the conference tennis championship in 1915, but handicapped by a twisted ankle was eliminated in the first round this year.

Columbus, O., June 20.—Letter men remaining on Ohio state's football squad who will form the nucleus about which Coach Wilce will form his 1916 team, are Captain-elect Sorensen, H. G. Courtney, H. J. Courtney, Peabody, Yerges, Boesel, Morton, Schwarts and Schweitzer. Last year's freshmen counted on to help are Harley, half back; Flower, tackle; Rhoades, half; Holtkamp, tackle; Friedman, quarter and Dorer, full. The schedule:

Oct. 7—Ohio Wesleyan at Columbus.
Oct. 14—Oberlin at Columbus.
Oct. 21—Illinois at Urbana.
Nov. 4.—Wisconsin at Columbus.
Nov. 11.—Indiana at Columbus.
Nov. 18.—Case at Cleveland.
Nov. 25.—Northwestern at Columbus.

FITZ HAD HIS UPS AND DOWNS HE'S FAST PLAYER NOW.

JUSTIN FITZGERALD.

Five or six years ago Justin Fitzgerald, just out of college, joined the New York Yankees and hit about .375 in quite a few games. His wonderful batting could not overbalance his weak throwing arm, however, and he was sent to the minors.

Fitz's arm went from bad to worse and he had all sorts of ups and downs, and finally he had to quit.

In 1913 he received his final chance to make good, Del Howard, then manager of the San Francisco Seals, signing him. Fitz went like a house afire, his arm began improving, and today he has a pretty fair "propellor."

Now indications point to his getting another chance in the "big show," Connie Mack announcing his willingness to buy or draft him.

Besides being the fastest man in minor league baseball, Fitz is a wonderful outfielder and batter. His arm prevented him from ranking with the greatest stars in the game. Fitz still is a young man, being not more than 26 years of age.

GRANEY'S AVERAGE HIGH.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 20.—Jack Graney, Cleveland's lead off man, has lined out more extra base hits this year than he has singles. Among his 56 hits are 27 singles, 19 doubles, six triples and four home runs—a total of 99 bases. It is figured that though his batting average is only .257, his slugging mark is .454. He is a hard man to pitch to and this record shows he has worked pitchers for thirty passes.

Pearson Heralded as Greatest High School Track Runner in the Country.

PEARSON'S RECORDS.

100-yard dash—9 4-5 seconds, made in Spokane, Wash., May 20, 1916.

220-yard dash—22 3-5 seconds, made in Spokane, Wash., May 27, 1916, around a curve.

440-yard dash—51 seconds, made in Spokane, 1915, 1916; in Pullman, Wash., 1915.

Spokane, Wash., June 20.—Evan Pearson, who recently equalled the world's interscholastic record of 9 4-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash, is classed by northwest sports writers as the greatest all-time high school sprinter on the track today. Pearson, who is a junior in the North Central high school, has been tearing up the cinders with his speed for the last three years.

Pearson tied the world's interscholastic record for the century in a meet here on May 20. A week later, running against Washington State college stars, he hit the tape in ten flat, winning the race handily against a big field. The same day he won the 220-yard dash and ran on the winning relay team.

This sensational student sprinter is 19 years old and stands 5 feet 9 inches in his track shoes. He has never been beaten in the 100-yard dash by an amateur runner. He has been high point man in eight meets in the northwest. At the interscholastic meet on Stagg field, University of Chicago, in June, 1915, he proved an individual star and brought second honors to his school. He holds eighteen trophy cups won in northwest contests.

He has a habit of running at least four races in the meets he enters and in some he has essayed five with success. The 50-yard dash, the 100, the 220, 440 and the relay are his particular events.

Coach A. C. Woodward, former Virginia star, who has coached Pearson from his first turnout, says of his star:

"Pearson is the greatest high school runner in America and would be a valuable point winner in almost any college in the country."

Coppers Cut in When Merry Social Event Gets Too Noisy.

Homer Rehm's birthday party blew up with a bang Monday night when the police butted in. Homer had the assistance of Nina Grey in doing the honors, and she invited Helen Clayton, Rosella Craig, Mary Smith and a number of other kindred spirits to enjoy the festivities.

It was early in the evening, long before 11 o'clock, that they became tired of phonograph music, pure and undefiled, and raised their sweet voices in competition with Melba, Caruso and the Victor military band.

Then, of course, they had words—not many and not very harsh—and a couple of the ladies departed, going to a nearby store and stocking up on cigarettes. The police got on the trail of the merry makers, and when they approached the house there were sounds of revelry by early morning. The police solemnly assert that several of the ladies were in scanty costume, dancing in the parlor with the shades up, accompanying the winsome movements of twinkling toes by the snapping of fingers and the clink of bottle against glass.

It was a tangled wed right that they wove in the tribunal of Police Judge Kerr Tuesday morning, and Nina, Helen and Homer got ten and costs apiece, Rosella got five and Mary was let go.

The Evils of Ice Cream.

Harry Brown, Ed Meyers, Clarence Brown, Carl Vogelsang and Arthur Doehrman, as helpless and guiltless a looking bunch as has graced the court for several moons, were in on a loitering charge. Officer Reginald Majors picked them up in the east end, where they were engaged in eating ice cream cones about a movie house. One or two of them may have spit on the sidewalk too, according to witnesses, but even an alert prosecutor could find no trace of conspiracy to commit robbery, murder or matrimony. After being placed on the witness stand, where the hangers-on could gaze on them individually and collectively, they were given a fatherly discourse by the judge and allowed to go.

Other Cases.

George Clark and Joe Grant, a barber and a printer, told pretty straight stories and were held for further investigation. They were caught after a long chase by Officer Linninger, who had been investigating reports of prowlers and who followed them half a mile and found them hiding behind a fence.

The drunks were Arthur Fay, who got a $5 fine; Herbert West, $1; Pete Doenges, who was held till the judge could better dispose of the case, and later let go, and Theodore Weichman, a vag, got a continuance.

LODGE NOTES

The following officers have been elected by chapter No. 433, American Insurance union: George Ecker, president; Floyd Golden, vice president; Aurelia Olinger, vice president; Mary Wolf, chaplain; Teddy Michael, treasurer; Grace Blake, marshal; Ford McLain, custodian; Laura Gildea, warder; Alma Albright, argus; F. D. C. Golden, editor; Fred Bailey, trustee for three years.

A class of twenty candidates will be initiated by Edwards camp, No. 3127, Modern Woodmen of America, at its regular meeting in the Odd Fellows' hall this evening. A social session will feature the meeting. Monday evening Fort Wayne camp, No. 4751, gave a strawberry social in Aldine hall.

Fort Wayne lodge, No. 200, Loyal Order of Moose, will give a dance and reception in the auditorium of the new home Thursday evening. Saturday evening a number of members of the lodge will go to the suburban home of Allen Martin, where the corner stone for the home will be laid.

KELLOGG LEADS FIELD.

Indications He Has Won Senatorial Nomination in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., June 20.—Indications early today are that F. B. Kellogg has received the nomination for United States senator in yesterday's primary election. Returns from 467 precincts out of 3,020 in the state give Kellogg 20,033; Eberhart, 13,082; Clap, 6,232, and Lindeberg, 4,551.

Go. John A. Burnquist is leading for the nomination for governor on the republican ticket. The vote from 406 precints give Burnquist 22,988 and Samuel G. Iverson 7,151.

On the democratic ticket Daniel W. Lawler is leading for United States senator and C. M. King is ahead in the race for governor by a small margin.

"COME AND GO ALONG" TO TEPPER'S TO-DAY

That Reminds Me---

Who has not Heard of the "Pies That Mother Made?"

There is, of course, a touch of sentiment in those pies.

But they owe their reputation to the good things that went into them!

Just so with this store. It intends to have sort of a "mother's pie" wholesomeness! Crisp! Fresh!—good to the very heart!

It believes in the simple virtues of courtesy and fair play—of a dollar's worth for a dollar—of sterling, splendid, new merchandise and a service prompt and willing.

And just like the hostess that has at some time asked the question: "Is the coffee to your taste?" or, "Did you sleep well last night?"

Please believe us that the purpose of this store is to please the customer as precisely as that of the careful hostess!

Guests are always welcome!

SENTINEL WANT ADS ALWAYS GET RESULTS

LETTERS FROM A CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL ACTOR BY A. H. GIEBLER

DEAR DAVE: Well, Dave, I am awful tired tonight because we had to act so hard today. Us leading actors have to do all the hard work and them other actors don't hardly have to do nothing. J. J. Murphy is making that serial I told you about. He took that scenario he had and the stuff about the boob detective and made one play out of it. It will be fifteen reels long, and when Dixon gets it down to the Dreamland you can see me acting there in the same play for more than three months. It will be just like reading a story in the papers that don't finish but keep on till it is done.

The serial will be called Tin Star Tom, like I told you, and it is all about a boob who thinks he's a detective. He gets into all sorts of trouble and gets throwed out of lots of places. It's awful rough stuff, and if I wasn't the leading actor in it and getting $50 per week I wouldn't do it.

I am the boob, but I guess I am not such a boob as I look, either, because I pulled off a pretty good stunt at being a detective day before yesterday, and if I ever lose my job as a movie actor and can't get another one I can be a detective and make a lot of money catching crooks like I did a crook named Butler.

Of course, if I did lose my job with this company all of them studios would be waiting to grab me up like they do all of us good actors when we lose our jobs, but if I should lose my job for a little while, I will be a detective while I am waiting for them to offer me a lot of money like Charles Chaplin did.

Movie acting is awful hard, and it is nice to know you have something good like being a detective to fall back on, ain't it, Dave?

Catching that crook ain't what made me so tired today, though; that was from riding a horse and falling into a box of stuff made out of chalk and water. J. J. had a set fixed up out in the lot that was a side of a house and he said:

"Now, Tom, you are supposed to be in a house and you run to this window from the inside and jump through the window, and we'll catch you with the camera as you come out."

I heard them carpenters talking about fixing up the scene, and one of them said: "Is that bed of white stuff in shape?" and the other one said: "Yes, it's right under the window," and I thought they was talking about a sure enough bed, one of feathers or something soft for me to fall on.

J. J. says: "Don't jump out of the window, just hang out by your hands and wave your legs around a minute and drop."

So I thought, well, J. J. was always saying I was afraid to do stunts, and I knowed he wanted good action in this picture, so I said, well, I'll give him some, and as they had a bed there for me to drop on I'd do something that would tickle him to death. So I took a run and shoot at that window and dived through it, and guess what kind of a bed they was talking about all the time, Dave? It was supposed to be a bed of lime and stuff to plaster a house with, only it wasn't lime, it was just water and some white stuff, and I landed right into the middle of it and almost smothered, and my hair got full of it and my clothes was spoiled.

When J. J. got through laughing he said: "Tom, old man, you done noble, and I'll buy you a new suit of clothes," and I said: "But why didn't you tell me it wasn't no feather bed," and he said: "I only wanted you to drop into it with your feet so the burglar you are after can track you by your white footprints wherever you go."

Will it have to be done over again?" I asked him, and he said: "No, it is the best thing you have ever done the way it is and you'll get a $10 bonus along with that suit of clothes," so that wasn't so bad after all, was it, Dave?

And Bennie Steinbush butted in and said: "When Tom gets to be a real big actor and the press agents get a hold of him, that bus-driving job will be all changed. You'll read a piece in the paper something like this: 'Thomas Boggs, the great comedian who has just signed a contract for a million dollars a year, was the proprietor of a string of summer hotels before he went into the movies.'"

Jinks says she knows one of the biggest actors out here, and she read a story about him that said he was a landscape gardener, when all of that kind of work he ever did was to cut the grass in other people's yards.

Mabel says: "That's all right, but it would take some word artist to dope out anything romantic like that about a laundry," and she says to me: "Tom, if you'll shut up about that washworks I'll forget about riding from the depot behind them plugs when you was driving the hack. Now remember that I never looked a cake of yellow soap in the face in my life."

I said all right, so, Dave, don't you tell any reporter if they come around asking about me that I ever drove them plugs.

Then somebody says: "Somebody sing." And Mabel says: "Tom's got a lovely voice," and I sung "The Spanish Cavalier," and another song about a dying cowboy, and then I told them that singing made me kind a tired, and Bonnie says:

"We are all kinda tired," and they went home, and here I am writing this letter, and I'd stop right now and hit the hay if I didn't want to tell you about me catching that crook the way I did.

This is the way I come to do it. I am that boob detective like I told you about in the play, and there was a scene where I have to rush into a house looking for a clew.

It is supposed to be a rich man's house. When we have scenes like that to make, of course, we can't build no rich man's house in the studio, so J. J. looks at the location book where they've got a lot of names of people who will let us use the front of their houses to make scenes of, and all these people out here will do that, Dave, because they are all crazy about the movies.

So we went to this rich man's house, whose name is Pershing, and J. J. told me how to act.

"You are supposed to be on the search of a clew, Tom, and you rush into this house with a gun in one hand and a dark lantern in the other, and a big tin star on your coat.

Me and Bennie Steinbush walked out there because Bennie said there would be a lot of girls there and we could have some fun talking to them.

J. J. was to come along with the camera man in the automobile, and it was just like Bennie said; there were six or seven girls there and we talked to them, but none of them wouldn't hardly talk to me, and I asked Bennie what was the matter with them; did they think I was going to bite them? and he said: "Hush, don't talk so loud; they have heard what a big actor you are, and they are kinda afraid to talk to you, that's all."

Then I found out that Bennie Steinbush had told them that the part I was playing was that of a crazy man who thought I was a detective, and that the Occidental Company had got a sure enough nut from a foolish house. That made me awful mad at him, but when he come out to the house tonight he brought a big box of candy and a doll for Lucy's crippled sister, and it is all right. Bennie is just a smart elleck and likes to play jokes.

After they found out I wasn't crazy they wanted me to act for them, and I says: "Well, I'll act out this scene for you," and I went down on the grass in front of the house and got out my gun and my dark lantern and come charging up them steps and rushed into the house.

There was a room at the end of the hall that was a dining room, and I run in there, and there was a man in the room who threw up his hands the minute he saw me. "I surrender, officer," he says. "You'll find everything under the floor in the garage."

I laughed at him for thinking I was a real detective, and he says: "You are one of them damn movie actors!"

I said yes. People can tell I am an actor as far as they can see me, Dave. Then he said: "Good-by!" and he jumped out of the window and beat it, and I went back on the porch and told them about that man, thinking I was a sure enough detective, and about what he said about some things under the floor, and one of the women that belonged to the house screamed and said:

"I knew that Butler took them spoons," and they all run in the house, but he was gone, and Bennie says:

"Tom, you big bonehead, why didn't you hold him when you had him?"

I said: "I didn't have him; he went out of the window," and we started out to get him, but a policeman had found him running down an alley and had arrested him, and he was a big crook, Dave, that had been stealing stuff all around in the neighborhood and hiding it under the floor of a house they keep their automobiles in, and there was a lot of spoons and a silver cup that belonged to a baby and a lot more things and some silver perfume bottles. And they put him in jail, and I was the reason of him being caught. Pretty slick, eh, Dave? I guess I could be a detective all right when that Mr. Butler throwed up his hands the minute he seen me.

Well, good-by, Dave, I am awful tired.

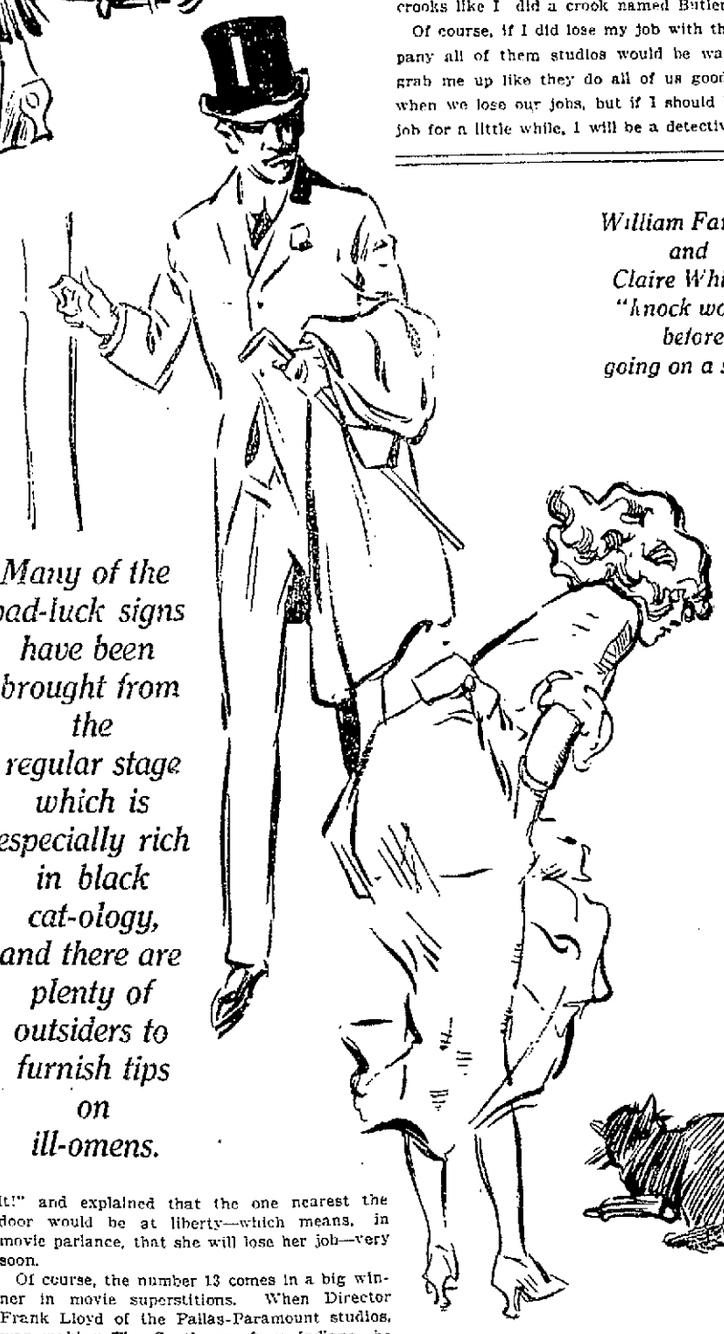
OLGA PETROVA

William Farnum and Claire Whitney "knock wood" before going on a scene.



Many of the bad-luck signs have been brought from the regular stage which is especially rich in black cat-ology, and there are plenty of outsiders to furnish tips on ill-omens.

IF you want to get in trouble, go into a movie actor's dressing room and whistle. Bad luck! Worse than that. The person standing nearest to the door is due to lose his job. If you can whistle and get away with it; that is, if no one happens to be in the dressing room who believes in that particular kind of bad luck sign, try this: Hang a towel on the door knob. If that doesn't work, invite the movie player to spend the night at your house and set the bed so that it will stand crossways of the boards on the floor, and see what happens.

The screen players are recruited largely from the regular stage, a calling peculiarly rich in black cat-ology, and when the signs and omens that the actors bring along with them when they move over to the movies is added to the list that the new art is rapidly developing, there are quite a number of things that a movie player must or must not do to keep good luck on their side, and misfortune at a safe distance.

For instance, Mme. Olga Petrova, the Russian player with the Metro Program, believes that peacocks bring bad luck. She was working in a play recently when she stopped suddenly and refused to finish the scene. When asked to explain she said that the most prominent painting used in the set—an artist's studio, was one showing a group of peacocks.

Vivian Martin, the youthful Fox star, thinks it is the worst kind of bad luck to give or throw away an old pair of shoes, and she keeps all of her worn-out footgear. Miss Martin is a very young yet, but short as has been her career she has accumulated three trunks full of old shoes, and her maid is in despair. If she keeps on believing in the old shoe sign and wearing out shoes at the rate she is going, she may have to hire a storage warehouse to keep them in, the maid said.

William Farnum, also a Fox player, says he doesn't know why he always touches wood before he goes on a scene, but he does, and Claire Whitney of the same studio doesn't know either. She just does, that's all.

Theda Bara, the beautiful vampire woman of the movies, is steeped in various kinds of good and bad luck beliefs. She is said to have a collection of charms, amulets and other things of that nature that would make a voodooist's outfit look like a discard, and she always runs the cards and walks in a nice creepy graveyard before undertaking a new part. Henry Hilliard says it is bad luck to look at the moon through glass, either wine or window.

Stuart Holmes, the celebrated screen villain, thinks you must not see the reflection of yourself in a glass from which you have been drinking. Of course, everybody knows it is bad luck to look at yourself in too many glasses, but as Mr. Holmes does not state the kind of glass, it is hoped that he means the kind of glasses that would not offend the temperance people.

Thomas Santschi of the Selig Polyscope Company, who will take the part of "Stephen Brice" in the production of The Crisis, from Winston Churchill's novel, believes in jinx periods of time, and is convinced that 1916 is an ill-omened year for him. He has already lost a valuable gold watch and diamond-studded fob given him for good work by his employer, and the year is young. You can't blame Tom much, can you?

Valeska Suratt scoffs at bad luck, and here is the reason. She has a rabbit's foot taken from the left-hind leg of a bunny killed in a graveyard at 12 o'clock at night by a blue-gum nigger, and an affidavit along with it that proves that it conforms to the latest rules.

Sometimes the best of movie superstition fails. Not long ago Marguerite Nichols, a Pathe star, who was visiting, went into Corenne Grant's dressing room in the Balboa studies, in Los Angeles, and puckered up her pretty lips and whistled. Some girls are so proud of an accomplishment of that kind that they just can't keep from showing off, you know, but she didn't whistle long. Miss Grant cried, "Stop it!" and explained that the one nearest the door would be at liberty—which means, in movie parlance, that she will lose her job—very soon.

Of course, the number 13 comes in a big winner in movie superstitions. When Director Frank Lloyd of the Pallas-Paramount studios, was making The Gentleman from Indiana, he condemned 50 feet of perfectly good film because a property man had carelessly left one of these day by day calendars showing the date of the 13th, hanging on the wall in a hotel scene. After the scene was ended Lloyd noticed the calendar.

Even when the performers themselves are not superstitious, there is always some one to hunt up signs for them. Helen Gibson, the Kalem girl who jumps off swiftly moving trains and drops from the tops of bridges just in time to stop the runaway engine and keep it from crashing into No. 16, or whatever number the train is that carries the president of the road, or her lover, or the important papers—got a letter from an admirer not long ago that called her attention to a lot of superstitions that would shake the firmest nonbeliever in signs. This is what the statistical writer had to say:

"Dear Miss Gibson: Your series of railroad pictures was one year old in November. Now, I am pretty good at figures, and I have done some figuring, and I am writing to you to be careful during the next picture. If you don't understand, I will tell you why. Every week for sixty-four weeks you have been in a thousand-foot picture, which makes 64,000 feet of film. Now, in April you will start on the 65,000, and you will see that, figuring 5000 feet in a mile, that it will make your thirteenth mile. So you see I am warning you not to take any more of them terrible risks because the number 13 is over you. I like you and would not like to see you hurt, so please be careful."

Miss Gibson, who firmly declares that she does not believe in 13 or any other sign, says she is going to do some extra daring work in the next picture.

Vivian Martin thinks it bad luck to dispose of old shoes.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 20.—Wet weather in the southwest threatening to interfere with harvest operations had a bullish effect today on the wheat market here. After opening ⅛c to ⅜c higher, with July at $1.02⅞ to $1.03¼ and September at $1.05¼ to $1.05½, the market scored more gains.

Complaints of excessive moisture lifted corn. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅜c to ⅝@⅞c higher, were followed by something of a reaction.

The close, however, was strong, 78c to 78⅛c net higher, with July at $1.03⅜ and September at $1.05⅞.

Prospects of increased demand for army purchases gave decided firmness to oats.

The close, nevertheless, was strong at 1⅜@1¼ to 1⅝@1⅛c net advance.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 20.—Speculative interest seemed to regard the Mexican situation with less alarm today, although early dealings denoted a further undercurrent of irregularity. Mexican Petroleum regained two points, with advances of one to two points in Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive. Beet Sugar and United Fruit rails also made decided improvement under lead of Reading. St. Paul, New York Central, Rock Island and Norfolk and Western and U. S. Steel lagged at the outset but soon rose a fraction with some of the coppers.

Short covering was a considerable factor in the further improvement made by the general list during the forenoon. Mexicans extended their initial advances substantially and specialties in general, including the motors, made up much of yesterday's decline. Shipping issues were active and strong on reports of an early announcement of the Mercantile Marine reorganization plan and rumors suggesting the acceptance of the Rock Island plan of capital readjustment were helpful to that issue. Bonds were lower in the main but Panama 3s, which weakened yesterday, recovered a point on call.

PURDUE BATTALION MAY BE CALLED NEXT

Members of the Batallion B, of Purdue university, are expecting to be called to Lafayette within the next twenty-four hours, where they will be held in readiness for duty along the Mexican border in the event of war with that country. No definite word had been received by Fort Wanye members of the battalion up to a late hour Tuesday. However, the call is expected at any time. Among Fort Wayne boys who belong to the Purdue battalion are Carl Rauch, Ralph Lose, R. T. Miller and Jay Havice. R. T. Miller is a sergeant in the battalion.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

Notice is hereby given by the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Fort Wayne, that on the 12th day of June, 1916, the said Board deeming it necessary to make certain boulevard improvements, adopted the following resolution:—

BOULEVARD IMPROVEMENT RESOLUTION NO. 19, 1916.
BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS, CITY OF FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Park Commissioners of the City of Fort Wayne, that under the powers conferred upon this Board by the General Assembly of the State of Indiana, by an Act approved February 27th, 1915, it has this day determined to improve Rudisill Boulevard from Piqua Avenue to Hanna Street, by constructing a six (6) foot cement sidewalk, including five (5) foot wings at all intersecting streets, and constructing combined concrete curb and gutter, all in accordance with the plans, profiles, details and specifications on file in the office of the Board of Park Commissioners of said city, which improvement as herein and therein set out is now ordered; that Monday, the 3rd day of July, 1916, at four (4:00) o'clock P. M., be the day when said Board will receive and hear remonstrances from persons interested in or affected by such improvement, and when final action confirming, modifying or rescinding this resolution shall be taken by said Board; that notice of the passage and purport of this resolution be published in the Fort Wayne Sentinel once each week for two (2) successive weeks.

The cost of said improvement will be assessed against the property abutting thereon.

The Board of Park Commissioners will on Monday, the 3rd day of July, 1916, at four (4:00) o'clock P. M., in the office of said Board, take final action confirming, modifying or rescinding said resolution, and at that time said Board will hear remonstrances of pertsons interested in or affected by said resolution.

Fort Wayne's Finest, Widest Bouvelard In LAFAYETTE PLACE

The principal thoroughfare of Lafayette Place is Lafayette Esplanade, the finest and widest street in all Fort Wayne.

It will be 216 feet wide—think of it, almost as wide as the ordinary city block. It includes two drives, each of which will be 47 feet wide, separated by a strip of parking 122 feet wide.

Homes built facing east or west upon the Esplanade must cost at least $3,500.00 and those at the ends facing north and south must cost at least $4,500.00.

Every lot in Lafayette Place is benefitted by this wonderful boulevard, which means a better environment for the whole addition.

Average Price Per Lot $475.00
Terms: $10 Down $10 Month

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY.

People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seem easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

Has Been in Charge Here for 48 Years

REV. SAMUEL WAGENHALS.

Rev. Samuel Wagenhals completed his forty-eighth year of service Sunday as pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church of this city. The event was celebrated in a very quiet manner Sunday, the church being beautifully decorated for the occasion.

BILLY SUNDAY WILL AID.

Going to Grand Rapids Before Election to Speak for "Dry" Cause.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 20.—Billy Sunday, the evangelist, is coming to Grand Rapids. He probably will make two visits, spending two or three days here prior to the fall election to assist the dry campaigners, and returning early next year to put on one of his famous revivals.

Sunday was met in Chicago Monday by a delegation of Grand Rapids professional, business and clergymen. After being invited and urged to come here for a revival he gave the delegation his assurance that he would be here probably in February, 1917, to open a campaign and give the sinners of Grand Rapids an opportunity to hit his much famed trail.

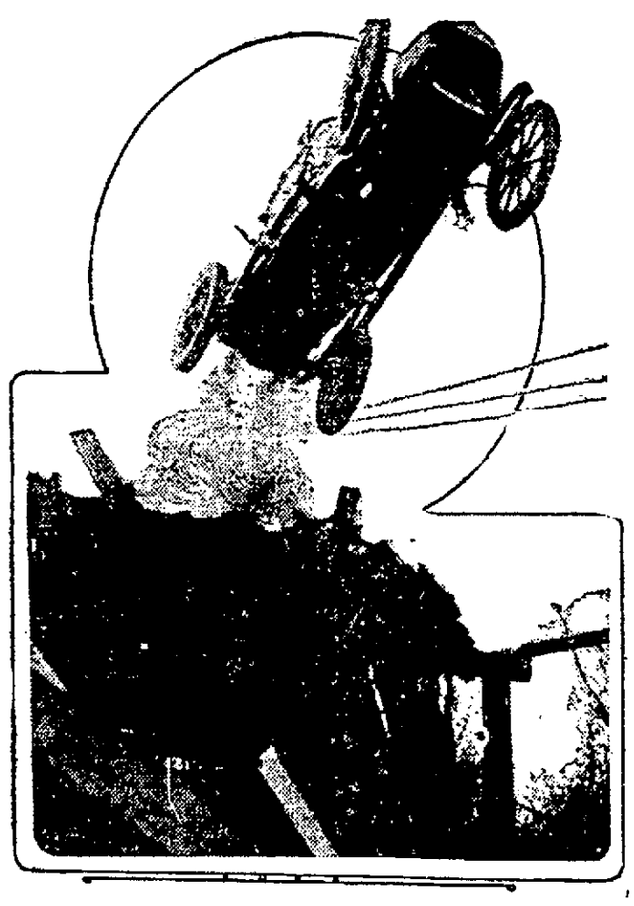
NO, ANITA WASN'T IN THE PLUNGING CAR.



ANITA KING'S automobile making a wild plunge off the end of a broken bridge for a movie thriller. The machine was raced down the road at 75 miles an hour. It sprang high into the air and cleared a space of 60 feet before it fell on a cushion of brush prepared in advance.

The picture was made near Los Angeles for a Lasky photoplay. The press agent was in error in regard to Miss King's presence in the car. Anita wasn't in it. She is too much of a star to risk her life foolishly. But, someway or other, you think there is someone in the car. It is a clever picture.

WOUNDED BOY IS OPERATED UPON

Whitley County Lad Meets Injury When Shotgun is Discharged.

Glen Christman, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Christman, residing near Columbia City, who was accidentally shot by a target rifle Sunday, the bullet lodging in the left lobe of the liver, has been brought to the Lutheran hospital, where an operation was performed by Dr. H. A. Duemling.

The young lad with two of his brothers, Howard and Arthur, and Wilber Pressler, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Pressler, who reside near the Christman home, spent Sunday morning at Crooked lake and had returned home for dinner. Shortly after noon they met again at the Christman home and went to the granary, where Wilber Pressler and Howard Christman proceeded to repair a bicycle. The other two boys took seats on the steps of the granary and the target rifle which they had with them during the forenoon was setting nearby.

Without the slightst warning the gun fel over and was dicharged. The bullet as it left the gun hit Glen Christman between the third and fourth rib in the left armpit, passed through the left lung into the stomach and finally lodged in the left lobe of the liver.

The boy stood the trip to Fort Wayne and the operation remarkably well and the attending physician has great hope for his recovery.

MOSQUITO PEST PREVENTABLE.

Mosquitoes breed in a spoonful of stagnant water and many empty tin cans, thrown outdoors to be filled with rain, form an excellent habitat for them, according to Dr. John H. Gilpin, of the board of public health. He declares they are an unnecessary annoyance in a city of the sanitary perfection of Fort Wayne.

The health authority advises that each old tin can be punctured when discarded thus preventing possibility of its further utility. A defective spout in a house is said to be another favorite breeding place of the mosquito. The spout often permits water to stand and of equal popularity are the rain barrel and open cistern in breeding the insects
